Plan seeks Lake County water line

by JOHN MAES

A water line through Lake County may be the most feasible way to provide Buffalo Grove with Lake Michigan water, Village Engineer Arnold Seaberg said Wednesday night.

The plan, sponsored by the Lake County public works department, calls for channeling lake water from Highland Park. The line also would serve Riverwoods, Lincolnshire, Long Grove and some unincorporated areas of Lake County.

Seaberg said that source probably would be the closest of the four plans being considered to provide Buffalo Grove with lake water in the next five years. His remarks came during a workshop session of the plan commission.

Seaberg said lake water will be needed in Buffalo Grove by 1980 to avoid costly improvements to the village's five well system. The improvements would be necessary to pump water from greater depths.

BUFFALO GROVE'S water table is dropping at a rate of between 15 to 20 feet a year making lake water necessary as a supplementary source, he said.

Among other plans being studied is the inclusion of Buffalo Grove in a Lake County Water District project to extend a main to Buffalo Grove and other communities from North Chicago.

Another proposal is participation with Wheeling and Northbrook to hook up to Northbrook's water system and treatment plant. Officials also are looking at joining DAMP, a group representing Des Plaines, which subsequently dropped out, Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, and Palatine for securing water on a regional basis.

Buffalo Grove officials have asked for a hearing on their request for a lake water allocation with the Illinois Division of Waterways.

Buffalo Grove is on a waiting list, however, which includes many other Chicago area communities petitioning the state for permission to draw lake water.

The state has placed limits on the amounts of water that can be diverted from the lake and has just begun the hearings on requests to tap into the lake.

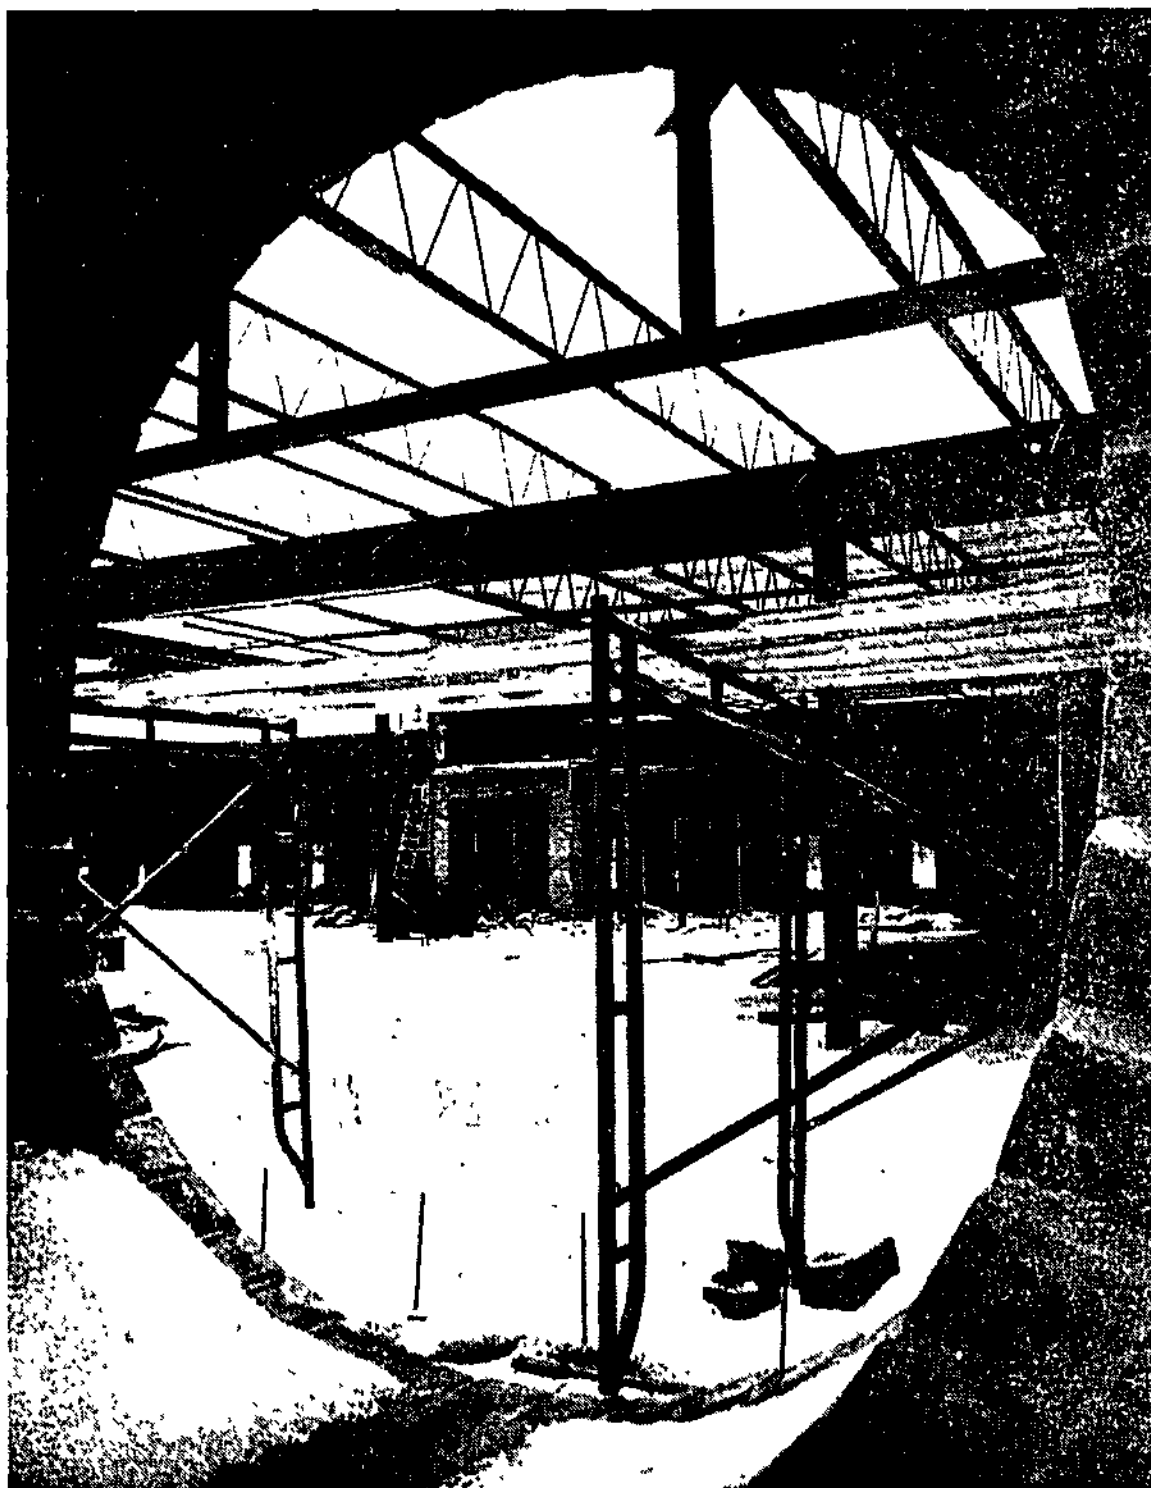

SEABERG SAID he foresees no problems in obtaining an allocation but said it may be a long time before Buffalo Grove's request comes before state officials.

He told the plan commission that joint projects are being looked at to secure lake water because the village could not afford to do it alone.

He called the undertaking a "super colossal project moneywise."

"We can't afford to do it alone, we have to tie in to somebody," he said.

During the session Comr. Rodney Jacobs asked if restricting village growth would stabilize decreasing water levels. Seaberg and public works director Charles McCoy said that move would be of little consequence, however, because other areas around the village will continue to grow while pumping from the same water tables.

ICC warns Bell to refund $15 million

Illinois Bell Telephone Co. was told Wednesday to show why it should not refund $15 million to customers. The company also was denied an automatic rate increase by the Illinois Commerce Commission.

The ICC said Illinois Bell has earned $15 million more than its 8.5 per cent allowed under a rate increase approved in December 1973.

Hugh A. Latimer, vice president and treasurer of Illinois Bell, said the company is "dismayed" at the order denying the automatic rate increase. "More puzzling is the commission's contention that our earnings are excessive," he added.

BELL OFFICIALS are to appear before the commission March 18 for a hearing in Chicago to determine why the "excessive revenues" should not be refunded to 3 million phone customers in Illinois.

Latimer said any ICC move requiring refunds is "incredible in the light of our skidding earnings, depressed demands for service and continuing inflation eating away at our financial health."

"Admittedly, for the first time in years, our 1974 earnings moved toward the level we need" to ensure quality service, he added, but, "one good year after a series of bleak ones does not spell prosperity."

Latimer said Bell faces a wage-and-benefit bill of more than $355 million during a three-year period, and that expenses rose at twice the rate of earnings last month when compared with January 1974.

ILLINOIS BELL does not need the automatic rate increase because it does not face the fuel tax and environmental safeguard expenses that are beyond the control of other utilities, the ICC said.

The commission also said telephone rates under current procedures are about what they would have been had Bell used its proposed automatic adjustments in recent years.

Circumstances of Wednesday's ICC ruling have prompted Bell to seek an immediate rate increase through the traditional route, Latimer said. "And we will ask for interim rate relief to tide us over until the formal case is concluded," he added.

The March 18 hearing also was scheduled because the ICC said the Illinois General Assembly intended the public be given an opportunity to be heard before a utility imposes a significant rate increase.

New Arlington, Schaumburg stations

Commuter-rail improvements proposed

THE ARLINGTON HEIGHTS commuter train station could be replaced in 1976 with a building similar to this relatively new station in Elmhurst under a $7 million commuter-station rehabilitation plan proposed by the Dept. of Transportation. Estimated at $200,000, the new building would be part of a $4.5 billion public works program proposed by Gov. Daniel Walker. All projects will be subject to legislative approval of the statewide program.

by STEVE FORSYTH

Now commuter-train stations in Arlington Heights and Schaumburg are part of a $6.8 million commuter rail station improvement and construction program proposed Wednesday by the Illinois Dept. of Transportation.

The Arlington Heights station would replace the present downtown building, but the Schaumburg station would be a completely new stop on the Milwaukee Road west line near a proposed extension of Springinguth Road.

A total of 114 stations in the Chicago area is slated for improvements as part of Walker's proposed accelerated building program, which is designed to create jobs. Walker has proposed selling $4.5 billion in bonds for highway, mass transit and public-service facilities to boost the state's economy.

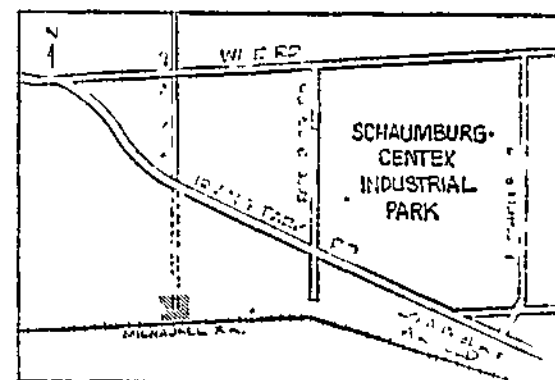

The projects would be funded completely with state money, which would eliminate long delays and federal red tape. Langhorne Bond, transportation secretary said Wednesday, "As soon as the legislature approves the program these projects can be under way in a matter of several weeks."

THE ARLINGTON HEIGHTS station would probably be a brick structure similar to stations built a few years ago in Elmhurst and Villa Park on the west line of Chicago and Northwestern Ry. If similar plans were used, the station would cost about $200,000, and could be completed by the summer of 1976. Bond said all the projects could be completed by that time.

The new building would have a larger waiting area, said H. A. Lenske, director of commuter services for North Western. He said it would also have more windows, tile floors and tile walls to deter vandals and reduce maintenance costs. The present building would have to be demolished before starting construction, leaving commuters with no station for a while.

The Milwaukee Road has no details on what its Schaumburg station would look like. Marc Green, director of information services, said. The Milwaukee Road would replace stations at Itasca, Hanover Park, Medinah and five other locations. Station improvements are planned for the Roselle stop.

Bond said money will be given to the railroads to build the stations and make improvements, and the railroads will contract for the work. North Western spokesmen said no architect's drawings have been made for the Arlington Heights station, but they said village officials would be consulted.

CONSTRUCTION OF the Schaumburg station with federal funds would have taken years, said Lois Geister, executive director of the Northwest Mass Transit District, which includes Schaumburg. The possible site at Springinguth Road could be part of a transportation center proposed by Schaumburg Mayor Robert Atcher.

Atcher hopes to combine air, highway, rail and bus transportation in the center.

Schaumburg officials believe the new station is necessary because of overcrowded parking facilities at the nearby Roselle station, which serves 1,800 to 2,000 passengers a day.

The program includes $3.1 million to replace stations on five railroads and $1.5 million to rehabilitate 55 stations. Plexiglas shelters are planned at 23 stations at a cost of $407,000, and $1.6 million is planned for resurfacing and extension of platforms. The platform improvement program includes the North Western's Cumberland station in Des Plaines.

Another $277,100 is earmarked for lighting and sign improvements at 49 stations, to make the stations safer for passengers in early morning and night hours, Bond said.

The improvement projects were selected from lists submitted to IDOT by each railroad. The North Western is to receive $2 million of the total for its three lines.

They walk to save his life

by BETTY LEE
 Todd Niven's friends are walking through the suburbs to save his life. Todd, an 11-year-old from Prospect Heights, is suffering from a rare crippling disease called dystonia musculorum deformans. Despite undergoing brain surgery, Todd cannot use his arms and legs proficiently. His friends from Cumberland Baptist Church in Mount Prospect are sponsoring a "March for Todd" Saturday to raise funds to help pay Todd's medical bills.

The parish of the Addison Street Congregational Church, Chicago, also is planning to march. Planners of "March for Todd" anticipate about 500 participants will walk a 20-mile route through Arlington Heights, Rolling Meadows and Mount Prospect.

Todd Niven

STARTING POINT will be at Southminster United Presbyterian Church near E. Central Road and S. Dryden Place, Arlington Heights. Marchers may start anytime between 8 a.m. and noon.

The route will be north on Dryden to Rockwell; west on Rockwell to Pine; north on Pine to Sigwalt; west on Sigwalt to Ridge; north on Ridge to Campbell and west on Campbell, crossing Wilke Road to Rolling Meadows.

The route will continue west on Campbell to Meadow; southwest on Meadow to Martin; east on Martin to Wren; north on Wren to Kingfisher; east on Kingfisher to Oriole; south on Oriole to Dove; east and south on Dove to Grouse; east on Grouse to Wilke; south on Wilke to Central; west on Central to Frontage, north on Frontage to Holly; east on Holly to Owl; north on Owl to Cardinal; northeast on Cardinal to Campbell; east on Campbell to School; north on School to Fremont; east on Fremont to Wren; south on Wren to St. John; east on St. John to Dove and south on Dove.

Marchers will cross Wilke Road and proceed to Arlington Heights by traveling northwest on Northwest Highway to Wilke; north on Wilke to Oakton; east on Oakton to Kennicott; north on Kennicott to Thomas; east on Thomas to Belmont; south on Belmont to Olive; east on Olive to Dryden; south on Dryden to Kensington and east on Kensington to Evanston. IN MOUNT PROSPECT marchers will go south on Evanston to Gregory; east on Gregory to Dale; south on Dale to Isabella; southeast on Isabella to Wilke; north on Wilke to Gregory; east on Gregory to Emerson; south on Emerson to Henry; east on Henry to Owen; north on Owen to Gregory; west on Gregory to Wilke; north on Wilke to Highland; west on Highland to Forest; north on Forest to Kensington and west on Kensington, ending at Prospect High School.

"The kids (at church) wanted to do something for Todd," said Sandra McCall, one of the organizers of the march. "The kids just wanted to show their love and care for Todd."

Todd is at Wesley Memorial Hospital, Chicago. He has had two successful operations. More operations are pending to enable Todd to use his limbs fully.

"He has such a wonderful outlook on life," Mrs. McCall said. "He believes in Christ and he believes he is going to be healed."

Todd was eight years old when his parents, the Thomas Nivens of 206 Chester, discovered he was sick. The family had lived in California but moved back to the area after hearing another child with the same disease was cured by surgery.

Persons who wish to volunteer in the march may call Mrs. McCall at 392-7879 or Starr Wendt at 392-6890.

Meadows police form FOP chapter

The Rolling Meadows Police Dept. has formed a chapter of the Fraternal Order of Police to provide improved benefits. Mayor Roland J. Meyer and Police Chief Lewis Case, who three years ago became involved in a heated controversy over patrolmen's efforts to join the Combined Counties Police Assn., said they have no objections to formation of the FOP chapter.

FOP, unlike the CCPA, is not a union and Rolling Meadows FOP leaders said they do not plan to use the FOP to seek salary negotiations with the city this year.

Game ticket holders turned away

Ticket holders to the Arlington-Prospect Mid-Suburban League championship basketball game Wednesday night were turned away at the door after the game was apparently oversold. As many as 100 adults with tickets and students with activity cards were refused admittance to the Prospect High School gym after Lt. Leser Wuolett of the Mount Prospect Fire Department ordered the doors closed. A Mount Prospect policeman, stationed at one of the doors said Wuolett ordered that no more people be admitted when the gym became "over capacitated." An Arlington Heights woman whose daughter is a Prospect Rhythmic said: "I cannot believe they would turn away somebody with a ticket . . . This is the biggest ripoff I've ever heard of."

Officials 'bugged' by moving

Des Plaines officials hope to leave one thing behind next month when they move into their new six-story city hall building — bugs. Exterminators have been working to rid the old offices of cockroaches to make sure the pests don't follow city officials in their move. Materials to be moved to the new offices also will be thoroughly checked before being packed.

Revenue aide pleads guilty

John J. Felice, a former Illinois Dept. of Revenue employee, pleaded innocent Wednesday to charges of bribery and official misconduct. Felice, 47, is accused of asking for bribes from six Chicago-area businesses between last Nov. 23 and Dec. 15.

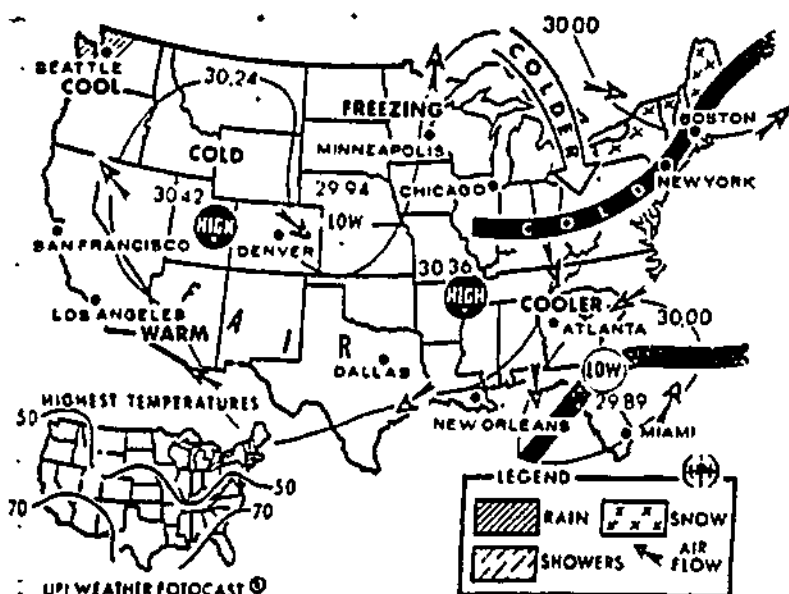

Employees locked up in robbery

Four employees of the Burger King Restaurant, 1540 E. Northwest Hwy., Palatine, were locked in a walk-in freezer late Tuesday by two robbers who escaped with $500. The employees were threatened with a shotgun and pistol by the two bandits, wearing ski masks. The employees were in the freezer about a half hour before being found.

ICC to rehear firm's rate request

The Illinois Commerce Commission agreed Wednesday to rehear a request from Ferndale Heights Utility Co. for a 16.6 per cent increase in water rates. The rehearing was requested by Ferndale Heights officials after the ICC ruling on Jan. 16 denying the water rate increase and approving the sewer increase with certain guidelines. Ferndale Heights officials contend the ICC made errors in calculations. Ferndale Heights, which serves 2,000 customers in Palatine Township, is proposing an increase in the minimum quarterly water bill from $16.20 to $18.85. It was granted an increase in the quarterly sewer bill from $12 to $14.

More signs of easing inflation...

Sugar, clothing prices going down

by United Press International

A major retailer Wednesday announced a sharp reduction in prices for men's clothing, and industry spokesmen predicted further rollbacks on all apparel.

In another sign of easing inflation, major refiners reduced wholesale sugar prices. It was the sixth cut in sugar prices in three months. Utah-Idaho Sugar Co. reduced its price for grocery sugar to 38.7 cents a pound.

An official for Amstar, the nation's largest sugar company, said raw sugar prices have been declining steadily for several weeks because of a significant drop in world demand. "The speed of the decline has stepped up in the last couple of days," he said.

J. C. Penney Co., the nation's second largest general merchandise chain behind Sears, rolled back retail prices on an extensive list of men's clothing by as much as 25 per cent.

"There has been some softening in raw materials prices at the wholesale level that we are passing on to our customers," a Penney spokesman said. "This is not a temporary thing."

Last month, Penney reduced prices on most of its home sewing fabrics.

An official of the National Association of Retail Merchants, representing 30,000 retailers, confirmed that there is a clear trend toward lower clothing prices.

"Things are easing," she said. "We have heard from the field that prices are coming down. It's in the air."

A spokesman for the American Textile Manufacturers Institute said wholesale textile prices have been dropping steadily since last August but are just beginning to be reflected in retail clothing prices.

The drop in price was in part a result of the economic slump and slack consumer demand.

"Another big factor," he said, "has been a downward trend in the price of raw cotton. Last year, it was at a historic high of 60 to 70 cents a pound. Now it is down to 38 or 40 cents a pound. That's starting to be reflected in wholesale prices now."

In other developments: President Ford said in Hollywood, Fla., the anti-recession tax cut he requested might not be enacted until June — and a newly revealed schism between House and Senate leaders seeking a unified Democratic program supported his prediction, Ford said in a news conference the tax cut he had hoped for by mid-March now looks unlikely before June, but he promised to "keep the pressure on."

Even as he spoke, Congressional energy experts split over the need for higher federal gasoline taxes, presenting positions that ranged from flat rejection of any increase to consideration of a hike pushing the tax as high as 50 cents a gallon by 1980.

The conflict threatened the success of efforts by a Democratic task force to draft an alternative to President Ford's national energy plan.

The Ford administration informed Congress Wednesday next year's estimated deficit has grown by $1.8 billion in 23 days. Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey said the White House was still deliberately understating the truth. Employment-boosting spending to combat recession pushed the new deficit estimate for the fiscal year beginning July 1 to $53.7 billion. On Feb. 3, when he submitted his budget to Congress, President Ford estimated the deficit at $51.9 billion.

Chairman George H. Mahon of the House Appropriations Committee said he expected to slash the $604.7 billion defense budget by at least $5 billion because of the "climate" in the country. Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger retorted, "I would advise the committee to look at a comparison of the Soviet and American defense spending before cutting a predetermined amount."

Daley, 'the Boss,' looks to four more years

Daley ready for sixth term as mayor

By United Press International
Richard J. Daley was ensconced more firmly than ever before in City Hall Wednesday, ready for his sixth term as mayor. There was nobody in sight to give him a serious test in the April 1 mayoralty election.

With awesome clout, the 72-year-old mayor overpowered three Democratic challengers in Tuesday's primary, proving with 58 per cent of the vote that the majority of the party's voters subscribed to his campaign motto that he is "good for Chicago."

He took the day off from his City Hall office Wednesday.

Daley, who has run Chicago for 20 years, beat his closest rival, reformist alderman William S. Singer, 34, by nearly 2 to 1. It was a particularly sweet win for Daley because Singer led the band of challengers who ousted the mayor's Chicago delegation from the 1972 Democratic National Convention.

State Sen. Richard H. Newhouse Jr., 50, the first black to make a viable bid to become mayor of the nation's second city, and Edward V. Hanrahan, 53, a "law and order" candidate and former Cook County state's attorney, trailed far behind.

Daley loyalists surged to victory in council races, winning 35 of the 50 seats, and are sure to garner more in runoff elections. Besides retaining seats in traditional machine areas, Daley Democrats made strong inroads into independent territory.

They forced Singer's chosen successor into a runoff and came within a few percentage points of defeating liberal Alderman Dick Simpson. Only one independent, black Alderman William Cousins, scored a clear victory over Daley forces.

Mrs. Elsie Johnson, 67, a 30-year resident of Chicago, said "I got out of a sick bed and voted. I did because he (Daley) is the man for Chicago. He's done a lot of good for Chicago. There are a lot of bad things going on in Chicago but there is in all big cities."

U.S. planes jet food to Phnom Penh

SAIGON (UPI) — The United States began a Berlin-style food airlift to besieged Phnom Penh shortly after dawn Thursday, sending three jet plane loads of rice to the Cambodian capital.

$21.3 billion tax cut bill set for House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A $21.3 billion tax cut bill was cleared Wednesday for a House vote that will include a decision on wiping out a tax break for oil producers.

The House Rules Committee responded to a mandate from the House's Democratic caucus in sending the tax measure to the floor under a procedure permitting only certain amendments, including one to end the oil depletion allowance.

The tax measure was expected to come to the floor Thursday.

Besides the oil depletion elimination, other amendments include one to retain the allowance for producers of 3,000 barrels a day or less; two other technical amendments affecting such producers, and one retaining the depletion allowance for 10 years for producers who work the undeveloped North Slope of Alaska.

Within two or three days, when the airlift is fully underway, about 500 tons of rice per day will fly from Saigon to Phnom Penh. The city consumes about 540 tons a day. Phnom Penh, totally cut off from the outside by road and water for the past four weeks, is dependent on the U.S. airlift to survive.

In Cambodia, two Communist rockets hit Phnom Penh's Pochentong international airport even as supplies were being unloaded from a DC-8 "stretched" commercial cargo plane. Military sources said there was no damage and no one was hurt in the shelling.

Rebel troops overran a key government position on the Mekong river, tightening their grip on the Cambodian capital on the eve of the American-sponsored airlift, military sources said.

The sources said Communist troops overran the outpost at Peam Reang Tuesday for the second time this year. It is located six miles south of Neak Luong, the last government port city on the river, 35 miles southeast of Phnom Penh.

Government navy and air force reinforcements were sent to relieve the beleaguered troops but were beaten back, the sources said. Communist troops sank one navy boat and hit several others. The fate of the defenders was not known.

In Washington, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he is "sick and tired" of seeing Cambodians "slaughtered" with American weapons and hopes Congress will not bow to pressure from President Ford for more military aid to that nation.

Mansfield told reporters that Tuesday's warnings from Ford and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger that Cambodia would fall within weeks without the additional $222 million in aid was "an old story, repeated many times."

Ford, meanwhile, said at a Hollywood, Fla., news conference that the Cambodian situation is "very critical."

Move to force ascending presidential vote opposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration strongly opposed Wednesday a proposed constitutional amendment that would prevent future presidents from ascending to the White House without being elected by the people, as did Gerald R. Ford.

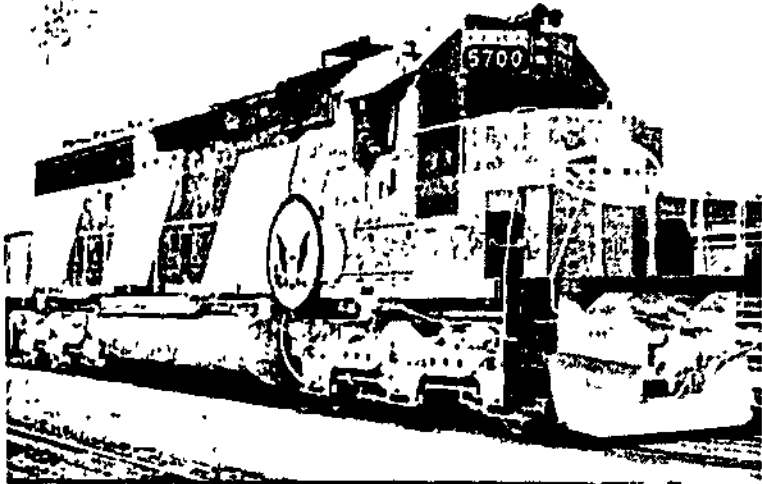

Assistant Attorney General Antonin Scalia, who said he was speaking for President Ford, told a Senate judiciary subcommittee that the proposal would place the government "in the hands of a powerless caretaker."

The subcommittee is holding hearings on a proposal by Sen. John Pastore, D-R.I., to amend the Constitution to require that Congress call a special presidential election when any appointed vice president becomes president, as did Ford on the resignation of President Richard

M. Nixon. The constitutional amendments subcommittee also heard from historian Arthur Schlesinger Jr., who suggested abolishing the vice presidency and filling any presidential vacancies by a special election. Cabinet officials, according to ranking, would serve as acting president in the interim.

He said that the amendment would provide an inadequate amount of time to hold a "normal" nominating and campaign process and "create a transition period in which the executive branch and the government are enfeebled."

A 391,000-POUND rolling salute to the nation's bicentennial headed west from Chicago Wednesday as Santa Fe Railway's specially painted locomotive towed the world's fastest freight train. The 3,600-horsepower locomotive is red, white and blue with the great seal of the United States adorning its starred and striped sides. The locomotive operates between Chicago and Los Angeles.

Rocky rebuked during filibuster action

Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller was bitterly rebuked by conservatives Wednesday when he sought to "speed up" action in the Senate's filibuster battle. Rockefeller apologized. In an ugly confrontation, Rockefeller was denounced by southern Democrats and GOP conservatives for ordering a vote when Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala., was shouting for recognition. The rebukes came as Senate reformers stepped up their drive to bring up for consideration their proposed change in the filibuster rule.

CIA probe awaits inquiry results

Sen. Frank Church said Wednesday the Senate's investigation of the U.S. intelligence community will get under way only after receiving results of the presidential inquiry into the CIA and all other pertinent documents. Moving with deliberate caution, Church announced after the Senate committee's third organizational meeting: "We want to gather all information available before we start work."

U.S. prepared for oil 'floor price'

The United States is prepared to adopt along with all other oil consuming countries either a common floor price for oil or a common tariff, the Ford administration announced Wednesday. A statement issued jointly by Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, Treasury Secretary William Simon and Federal Energy Administrator Frank Zarb said "all consuming countries have an interest in protecting prices of their domestic energy."

Ford demonstrates 'drive'

President Gerald Ford teed off at the Jackie Gleason Golf Classic Wednesday with a 190-yard drive and actually outdistanced Jack Nicklaus but, ahem, Nicklaus teed off 25-yards behind the President. The President's drive brought cheers from the crowd around the 463-yard No. 1 hole. Ford, however, took a double-bogey six on the par four hole. . . . Ford played with Gleason, Nicklaus, Bob Hope and New Yorker Elliot Kahn who donated $10,000 to charity to play with the celebrities. Ford shot 100, 28 over par, for 18 holes.

The first man to break the sound barrier, Brig. Gen. Charles Yeager, said goodbye to the sky at 860 miles an hour this week. Yeager, 52, retiring from the Air Force after 32 years, took a final military jet flight in an F4 fighter. Yeager shot down 13 enemy aircraft during World War II and began a test pilot career in 1945.

Henry Ford II was fined $375 and received a suspended 35-day jail term and two years probation Wednesday in Santa Barbara, Calif. when his attorney pleaded no contest to a drunken driving charge. Ford was stopped by police last Saturday night while driving through suburban Goleta, accompanied by a beautiful model, Mrs. Kathleen Duros from Detroit. Mrs. Duros, friends said, is a widow.

Parliament voted overwhelmingly

Wednesday night to give Queen Elizabeth a $900,000 annual pay raise, but only after the royal family came in for sharp criticism by anti-monarchists. Following a three-hour special debate the House of Commons rejected by a margin of 427-90 a motion to scrap the proposed wage increase. Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Labor party opposed the raise at a time when Britain is facing severe economic difficulties.

Civic groups to be asked to give blood

Buffalo Grove Blood Commission officials will ask local civic groups to donate blood and may schedule a mini-drive to obtain the 150 pints needed to fill the village blood quota.

Sylvia Bogart, cochairman, said commission members are concerned that the village total of 760 pints may not be met with the one remaining drawing May 1, even though some 125 pints were drawn last week.

Two recent drawings at Kingwood United Methodist and St. Mary's churches bolstered the village total after what was termed a disappointing turnout at the commission's regular drawing earlier this month.

"We still need close to 150 pints," she said Wednesday, "which is quite a large number to expect when we've never hit that at a blood drive."

IN AN EFFORT to boost donations, she said the commission will contact various village organizations and local businesses to ask that they sign up at least 20 per cent of their employees and membership to contribute.

Earlier this year, she said the group sent letters to some 30 Buffalo Grove organizations asking for participation and that the requests will be resubmitted before May 1.

"We may be able to reach some people we're not reaching now," Mrs. Bogart said.

In addition, the commission will reach a decision soon on conducting a mini-drive sometime in July to help meet the village quota.

BUFFALO GROVE must reach its quota by late July to be eligible for free blood replacement under a North Suburban Blood Center program.

About 4 per cent of the village's 18,000 residents must contribute each year for all Buffalo Grove residents to qualify for unlimited free blood replacement. If the drive falls short, replacement would be extended to those who have donated and their families rather than the entire village.

Mrs. Bogart also said persons in Buffalo Grove who are unable to make the drawing dates still can contribute to the total by donating at area hospitals or at the North Suburban Blood Center, 1500 Shermer Rd., Northbrook.

Driver found hiding after truck crash

A Schaumburg man, 42, tried to flee the scene of a one-car accident Tuesday near Golf and Wolf roads, police said, but was arrested after he was found hiding under the bridge at Weller Creek.

Police said witnesses saw a truck driven by John Haedike, 300 Higgins Rd., Schaumburg, strike a traffic light on the southwest corner of Golf and Wolf roads and continue through the intersection and strike a utility pole about 30 feet east of Wolf on the south side of Seegers Road.

4 file for two elementary school board vacancies

Four candidates have filed for two school board positions open in the Wheeling-Elk Grove Dist. 21 April election. Incumbent Susan Rose was the first to submit petitions Wednesday, the opening day of filing. Mrs. Rose, 174 Timber Hill Rd., Buffalo Grove, was appointed to the board in August to fill the vacancy created by Mary Jo Reid's resignation. She also was endorsed by the Dist. 21 caucus.

Lillian Stiller, 603 S. Wayne Pl., Wheeling, is running for her fourth term on the board and was endorsed by the caucus.

ALLAN BLATTNER, 802 W. Burr Oak Dr., Arlington Heights, and James DeNoma, 544 White Pine Rd., Buffalo Grove also filed Wednesday. Blattner was the third candidate endorsed by the Dist. 21 caucus. DeNoma is a guidance counselor at Rolling Meadows High School.

Two three-year terms are open in Dist. 96 board election but no one filed for the vacancies Wednesday. Board member Gary Ikens has announced he will not run for reelection because he is running for the Buffalo Grove Village board. Board member Derwood Janssen has announced he will not run for reelection to the Dist. 96 board but plans to file for the High School Dist. 125 school board election.

DIST. 125 HAS two 3-year terms open on the school board. One of the positions must go to a candidate from an unincorporated area. Carole Boltz, 7 Plymouth Ct., Lincolnshire, and Gloria N. Helke, 294 Farner Ct., filed Wednesday for the board election. Mrs. Helke is from an area near unincorporated Deerfield.

Incumbent Eugene Artemenko, 431 Millers Rd., Des Plaines, was the only candidate to file in high school Dist. 214 where two seats are up for election. Artemenko was appointed to the board in 1971 and was elected to a three-year term in 1972.

Two other possible candidates have nominating petitions out but did not file. They are incumbent Arthur Aronson, 2818 N. Schoenbeck Rd., Arlington Heights, and Albert Domanico, 7 Grange Pl., Elk Grove Village.

Schlaflly to debate Hayter on ERA

Parents question proposed school boundary changes

by BOB GALLAS

A second meeting to discuss possible boundary changes for three schools in Wheeling-Elk Grove Dist. 21 Wednesday night drew about 40 parents who questioned the changes.

The meeting at Field School, 51 St. Armand Ln., Wheeling, was made up primarily of parents whose children attend Field, which is overcrowded and would be alleviated by a boundary change.

Unlike 60 parents who attended a similar meeting Tuesday at Sandburg School, 3316 N. Schoenbeck Rd., Wheeling, those at Wednesday's meeting did not object to the proposed changes, but did express concern that additional changes might be needed, requiring another switch in schools.

PAT VAZQUEZ, 1215 Union Ct., Wheeling, voiced concern that her children might be transferred in subsequent years to different schools. "Then it's getting ridiculous," Mrs. Vazquez said.

John Barger, associate superintendent, said the changes, when made, would probably stay in effect for a minimum of three years. "I can't promise that where you are sent will be the last move," Barger said.

Alice Wiechert, 140 Coral Ln., Wheeling, questioned whether any students now within walking distance to school would be shifted so that they would have to be bused.

"The only way that would happen would be if there was a school with a capacity of 600 and 1,200 kids lived within walking distance of it," Barger answered.

PARENTS APPEARED confused about the purpose of the meeting. Some asked for details about what changes would be made.

The meeting was called by a citizens' committee studying boundary changes to gain residents' suggestions before making recommendations to the Dist. 21 Board of Education.

Tuesday's meeting at Sandburg and Wednesday's meeting at Field were for residents of the London Junior High School area. A third and final subcommittee meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m.

today at Alcott School, 530 Brnard Dr., Buffalo Grove, for those living in the Cooper Junior High School area.

The entire committee, made up of representatives from each school in the district, will meet March 5 to come up with a recommendation to the board by mid-March.

Changes in attendance areas might be needed at Field, Alcott and Tarkington School, 310 Scott St., Wheeling. All three are faced with possible overcrowding problems.

Alcott is in a stable area of Buffalo Grove. However the school does not have adequate library facilities or extra space for art, music, bilingual or learning disability rooms programs, Barger said.

FIELD IS OVER capacity with 646 students anticipated next year and increased enrollment expected over the next three years. The school also needs additional space as does Alcott.

Tarkington will not need extra space next year but also is in a growing area and faces the possibility of overcrowding in the future, Barger said.

Could save money

Buffalo Grove, Wheeling may share equipment

Buffalo Grove and Wheeling officials are preparing an agreement that will allow for cooperative use of public works equipment in an effort to save both villages money, said Village Mgr. Daniel Larson of Buffalo Grove.

Under the arrangement, Buffalo Grove will use Wheeling's streetsweeper while a lift truck Buffalo Grove hopes to purchase soon will be used in Wheeling to trim trees and change streetlights.

Buffalo Grove's streetsweeper is out of service and would cost several thousand dollars to repair, Larson said.

Larson said he did not know how much money would be saved by the exchange but said renting a streetsweeper would cost Buffalo Grove about $25 per hour.

The proposed swap stems from a letter Larson recently sent to Wheeling officials suggesting the idea. Larson said he and Wheeling Village Mgr. George Passol discussed the matter Wednesday.

"We both feel it can be worked out and that there will be a lot of advantages to both villages by doing it," Larson said. "Instead of both villages duplicating equipment, we will not have to buy the same piece."

Larson also said the savings would allow Buffalo Grove to purchase other necessary vehicles and equipment.

Two lock employees in freezer, take $500

Two robbers escaped with $500 Tuesday night from the Burger King restaurant, 1540 E. Northwest Hwy., Palatine, leaving four employees locked in a walk-in freezer.

Joel J. Fabrikant, restaurant manager, told police that two men wearing ski masks came into the restaurant at closing time. The robbers threatened the employees with a shotgun and a pistol, ordering them into the back room. The gunmen cut the telephone wires, locked the doors and shut off the lights before fleeing.

The employees were in the freezer for about a half hour before they were discovered.

Harper building back in use

The music building at Harper College was in use Wednesday as officials of the college and representatives of the contractor worked on plans to have the structure's roof repaired.

Pieces of roofing material from the building, the newest on the Harper campus, were blown off Tuesday in high winds. Harper officials said payment for repairs will be handled by the contractor and the state Capital Development Board, the agency which supervises construction for state colleges.

College officials said they have been assured that the damaged roof still is waterproof. Repair crews were at work Wednesday.

Correction

The Forest View High School Jazz Band recently won its fifth first-place trophy this year after competing in the Midwest Division of the All-American Jazz Band Festival in Crown Point, Ind.

An item in Wednesday's Schools column incorrectly stated it was the first trophy for the band. The band has competed in five competitions this year and won first place in each.

August G. Guritz

August G. Guritz, 79, a resident of the Lutheran Home and Service for the Aged, Arlington Heights, for 17½ years, died Wednesday afternoon in the home. A retired postal clerk for the United States government, he was born in Evanston, Feb. 7, 1896.

Visitation is today from 4 to 9 p.m. in the chapel of the Lutheran Home and Service for the Aged, 800 W. Oakton St., Arlington Heights, and where a funeral service will be at 10 a.m. Friday. Officiating will be the Rev. Gerhard Barthel. Burial will be in St. Lucas Cemetery, Chicago.

Preceded in death by his wife, Marie, nee Bootcher, surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Ruth (Howard) Schluching of Forest Park; two grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren.

Family requests memorial donations to the Lutheran Home and Service for the Aged, Arlington Heights, would be appreciated.

Haile Funeral Home, Northwest Highway and Vali Avenue, Arlington Heights, is in charge of the funeral arrangements.

Dennis P. Feehan

A funeral Mass of the Resurrection for Dennis Patrick Feehan, who died suddenly Wednesday, will be offered at 10 a.m. Friday in Queen of the Rosary Catholic Church, 750 E. Elk Grove Blvd., Elk Grove Village. Burial will be in All Saints Cemetery, Des Plaines.

He is survived by his parents, William and Mary Ellen, nee Gallagher, Feehan; a brother, Michael J. and sister-in-law, Anne Feehan. He was the nephew and godchild of Daniel and Catherine O'Connor.

Family requests in lieu of flowers, contributions may be made to the Kidney Foundation or the American Indian Center, 1630 W. Wilson Ave., Chicago.

Lauterburg and Gehler Funeral Home, 2000 E. Northwest Hwy., Arlington Heights, is in charge of the funeral arrangements. There will be no visitation.

Forum views future of solar energy as clean-air fuel

by LEA TONKIN

Solar energy is a promising, nonpolluting resource that should gain an increasing share of public interest in the years to come, solar-fuel enthusiasts forecast at a public forum held Tuesday in Palatine. John Martin, associate director of the Solar Project at Argonne National Laboratory, outlined a "low-profile life-style using solar energy."

Consumers, traditionally a "wild bunch" in the waste of resources, will turn to solar energy and recycling of waste materials in a move toward self-sufficient living, Martin said. He and Robert Backner of Solar Systems Inc., Skokie, cited the relatively high costs and other problems that prevent immediate widespread use of solar power.

"Solar energy definitely has reached the point of respectability," said Richard Robbins, deputy director of the Lake Michigan Federation. Citing the "grave potential danger" of nuclear-power plants and the depletion of oil resources, Robbins said solar energy will become a more attractive resource as the cost is curtailed through research. Incentives are needed to encourage the use of solar energy, as a reduced property tax and enabling zoning law, Robbins said. Approximately 300 persons attended the meeting, sponsored by Pollution and Environmental Problems and 16 additional groups.

Soil group hosts meeting

Northwest suburban residents and government leaders are invited to participate in a Feb. 28 program sponsored by the North Cook County Soil and Water Conservation District. Jacob Dumelle, chairman of the Illinois Pollution Control Board, will be the guest speaker at the Schaumburg meeting. Dumelle will discuss pollution control standards and how they affect local government. The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. in the Great Hall of Schaumburg, 231 Civic Dr. A short business meeting and election of officers is slated for the session.

Southwest topic of lecture

"The Southwest — Another Delicate Balance" will be discussed by William Hess of Morton Arboretum at a free public lecture slated for 7 p.m. Thursday at the Chicago Academy of Sciences, 2001 N. Clark St., Chicago. Hess will present a film, "The Desert," illustrating the interaction of animals and plants in a desert ecosystem.

State may upgrade parks

The stepped-up building program outlined Tuesday by Gov. Daniel Walker will enable the Illinois Dept. of Conservation to develop and upgrade several park facilities, pending approval by the General Assembly. Among the projects listed by department director Anthony Dean are a $3 million interpretive center at Cahokia Mounds; development of more than 150 miles of trails and related improvements along the Illinois and Michigan Canal and the Hennepin Canal; marinas at Rockford and Lake Kincaid; and park facilities at Illinois Beach, Castle Rock, Horseshoe Lake, Shabbona and Lake DePue parks.

Higher emissions weighed

The push to allow increased use of Illinois coal gains momentum: Illinois Pollution Control Board chairman Jacob Dumelle said Tuesday that the agency will consider relaxed sulphur dioxide emission regulations in downstate areas. Dumelle said it is time to reconsider the air pollution-control rules, citing the energy shortages and recent technological advances. The Illinois Institute for Environmental Quality seeks $1.9 million for research activities including high-sulphur coal research, part of Gov. Daniel Walker's recent budget proposals. The proposals follow Commonwealth Edison Co.'s Feb. 20 announcement that it is dropping the pilot coal-gasification plant at Powerton Station, Pekin, due to cost increases.

3 file for Harper board candidacies

Three candidates, including a former candidate for the Palatine-Rolling Meadows Dist. 15 Board of Education and the father of a present board member, filed petitions to become candidates for the Harper College board of trustees Wednesday.

The three, who will compete for two three-year terms on the board, are Warren Franczyk, 1039 Old Mill Dr., Palatine; Robert Moats, 406 S. WaPella Ave., Mount Prospect, and James J. McKenna, 3901 Wilke Rd., Rolling Meadows.

Franczyk, 35, is principal of Summer Elementary School, Chicago. He ran for the Dist. 15 board last year. He said he decided to run for Harper because "I'm interested in adult education and vocational education and I know my children and my neighbor's children will get there eventually." He added, "I feel I could at least lend a little professionalism to the board and I might also be able to open that board up a little — I've been concerned about some of the controversies on open meetings."

Warren Franczyk

MOATS, 54, is the father of Harper board member Lawrence Moats. He is an electronics engineer for Warnecke Electron Tubes in Des Plaines. He announced his candidacy two weeks ago and said he had decided to run for the board because of his interest in vocational programs. His son will leave the board at the end of his term in April.

McKenna, 55, is manager of properties and facilities for Continental Airlines at O'Hare Airport. He said he, his wife and daughter all have taken classes at the college and "I'm sold on the place." He said he has been pleased with the attitude of teachers and other staff members at the college and with the quality of "graduates who have gone to work at O'Hare."

The Harper board election will be April 12. Filing for the board will continue at the college through March 21. Candidates for the board must be 21 years old and residents of the college district.

To allow 'flexibility in reorganization'

Educational co-op director Gloria Kinney to resign

Gloria Kinney, executive director of the Northwest Educational Cooperative, has resigned her post to "give the NEC board more freedom in reorganizing its administration."

Mrs. Kinney's resignation will be presented to the board and is expected to be acted upon at its March 15 meeting. Edith Freund, president of the NEC board, said Wednesday.

"Mrs. Kinney resigned out of courtesy to the board so we would have flexibility in the planning and reorganization of NEC. "It's similar situation to Cabinet members resigning when a new President takes office," Mrs. Freund said. The resignation, if accepted, would take effect June 30.

AT ITS FEBRUARY meeting, the NEC board received a final report from the consultant firm of Peter Warner Associates, giving recommendations on the reorganization of the cooperative.

The report recommends that NEC hire a special education director, who would devote his full time to coordinating the special education programs in the school districts. It also recommends a planning study be undertaken to research the administrative structure of NEC as well and suggests other cooperative ventures in which NEC should be involved.

"If the planning study does not identify a larger role for NEC and achieve adequate funding for it, continuation of a director's position would be unnecessary," the report states.

The NEC board voted at the February meeting to hire a director of special education and will again review the report in March.

MRS. FREUND SAID NEC "is in a position now where we must be flexible. Gloria (Kinney) was more sensitive to that fact than we were."

Mrs. Kinney was unavailable for comment Wednesday.

Member districts in NEC include 15, 21, 23, 25, 26, 57, 59, 211 and 214.

Herald opinion

Malpractice: we need a plan

The complex national problem of medical malpractice, which affects patients and physicians alike, deserves a full-fledged study, and action, from a special Illinois commission.

A recent series of articles by Herald staff writer Karen Blecha outlined the growing problem that is beginning to affect the quality and cost of medical care throughout the United States.

More and more individuals are filing suits against doctors for what they regard as malpractice. The subsequent rising cost of malpractice insurance, in turn, is driving up the cost of medical care, for doctors are aware that a successful major lawsuit, coupled with inadequate insurance protection, can be ruinous. "Defensive medicine" — expensive tests, more X-rays, unneeded drugs — is often the physician's answer to the increasing threat of such suits.

A commission, composed of state legislators, doctors, lawyers and ordinary citizens, would be the best way to review the variety of proposed cures for this new medical dilemma.

On the one hand, it has been argued that the low quality of medical care contributes to the increase in the number of malpractice suits. One suggested answer is tougher state licensing procedures to police the medical profession.

On the other hand, there are a variety of legal proposals to trim the growing number of lawsuits, some of which are "nuisance" suits. Binding arbitration could be instituted to handle all but the most substantial cases. Eliminating contingency fees for lawyers would reduce the financial windfall sought by some lawyers. No-fault medical insurance, based on an injury damage schedule, would avoid trials and large attorney fees.

All of these plans, however, have drawbacks. Tougher licensing won't dim the public's awareness of the potential lucrativeness of malpractice suits; binding arbitration could inflict injustices on persons with legitimate claims; contingency fees may be justified if lawyers must do exhaustive research on a case; and no-fault's drawback is that it needs a definition of a compensable injury.

There's no readily available single answer to the increasing number of malpractice suits, but there must be some kind of solution developed to cope with this growing menace. A state commission, which can propose remedial state legislation, must begin to search out such an answer for the sake of the public of Illinois.

ERA shift: desirable

Leaders in the Illinois General Assembly have an excellent procedural opportunity to speed this state's ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment. They should move immediately to seize that opportunity.

Recently, a three-judge U.S. District Court panel ruled that the legislature may approve whatever majority it wishes to ratify the ERA. In past legislative debates on ERA, the legislature's interpretation had been that a three-fifths majority was necessary for ratification.

It makes good sense to us to approve a simple majority vote for ERA approval, for there's no particular logic to dictate a three-fifths majority. A simple majority would bring the action in line with other legislative decisions in Illinois; there's no good reason to maintain the "obstacle" of the three-fifths margin.

Even if legislators adopt this rule change in Illinois, there's no assurance that the ERA will be ratified by the necessary number of states, for there seems to be increasing opposition to this simple but necessary reaffirmation of the rights of both men and women.

But Illinois, by this legally-sanctioned change in the rules, can hopefully move into the "yes" column on this Constitutional amendment. House Speaker William Redmond, D-Bensenville, and Senate President Cecil Partee, D-Chicago, should push for this rule change when the legislature reconvenes. Anything less will further peril Illinois' ratification of ERA.

Tomorrow...

EDITORIAL: The Republicans on the Cook County Board have yet to achieve the power of numbers to which they're entitled under the law. Monday's budget session was a good example of that power gap.

Someone's following me!

Blasts Wheeling coverage

For many months now I have toyed with the thought of writing you; many Wheeling residents have been very annoyed with the way The Wheeling Herald covers the events that take place in our community. We are proud of our town, and would like other areas, and even the people in Wheeling, to know of the good things that happen here, along with the bad.

We know that the housecleaning in Wheeling was important to the residents and applaud the coverage you gave it; many people are unaware of what is happening in their village and should be informed. They should, however, know about the good things that are going on in their community as well; if these items appear at all they always seem to be buried on about page 1,000.

I happen to be a very staunch supporter of the youth of Wheeling and feel that all of the good things they do rate some coverage in our local paper. The spirit and enthusiasm of our kids are great and their support of school activities is outstanding. They don't always come in on top, but people must realize that when you split a building two, as was done with Wheeling High School, it takes time to rebuild teams and school programs. The winners always receive rave notices, but we in Wheeling are interested in our kids even though they don't always come

letters to the editor

In first. Why is it that even though our debate and individual speech events teams are very good, our choral groups are tops, and our band excels, we never get to read about the things these kids are doing? When something does appear in The Herald, it's buried in a place where it goes unnoticed. Why? This is the Wheeling Herald and we want to read about all the things that happen in Wheeling, not just the scandal. Over Spring vacation the Wheeling Band and Madrigal singers have been invited to Mexico City for an international competition — this is great experience for these kids but not one word of the publicity we sent in appears in the paper. To get these youngsters to Mexico City takes money, yet when the publicity goes in for a fund raiser it never appears. We have read the many, many articles on the Hersey Band's efforts to raise funds for their trip to the Rose Bowl — and that's fine. But what about Wheeling's trip to Mexico? Last Monday at the Wheeling Village Board meeting, the board made a $1,500 contribution to the fund and that only rated a very small paragraph on Page Five. The paper is always ready to criticize the board when they do something wrong, as they should, but where are you when they do something right?

In these days when nearly all national and state news seems to be pessimistic, can't we read of the positive things that the students in our community do in our local paper?

Mrs. Alberta Klock

'Concerned' for U.S.

I am writing to you because of my concern for our country and what's happening to it. I am 11 years old and alone kids my age can do very little. But if we combine our power and ability we can help our country solve some of our problems. We Americans should care enough about our country to stop and really see what's happening to it. For time is running out.

We should think of ourselves as one big family. What does one big family do? Cuts down on some luxuries and keeps necessities. But we can't go on living like this. Something has to be done and we're the ones who have to do it. Well, I plan to still be driving in 30 years, but if this country doesn't slow down, I'm afraid I won't be able to. It's not that hard to go 55 miles per hour. If we slow down we can save precious energy.

I think President Ford is doing what he thinks is best for us. After all, it's not easy to be head of 200 million people. If we use our time wisely and cooperate, we can solve our country's problems.

Water savings missed

Your article of Feb. 20 concerning Buffalo Grove water rates does not emphasize one element discussed at the Feb. 18 meeting, which is water conservation.

To accomplish this, a flat rate between the $1.50 and $1.20 per 1,000 gals. should be charged without including a minimum quantity. I suggest $1.30. In this manner, those who use or waste water (15,000 or more gals. per month) would be penalized rather than those who conserve are, as the present rate structure does.

I was informed that the largest users of water in our community are the schools. If the village board does not want to overcharge this taxing body, they could provide for a credit to the park district and schools.

Incidentally, before the new water bill was passed, the board did not make it completely clear that the 5,000 gals. minimum was per month rather than per billing.

Gas station attendant lauded for 'rescue'

I would like to publicly thank the service station attendant at the Shell on Algonquin Road for seeing to it that my son, Jeffrey, 5, "found" his babysitter's house after school Monday.

This man, John, was going off-duty and noticed my son lost and crying. After driving around and walking with him located the sitter's house who was very worried by then.

I cannot put into words my deep appreciation and sincere thanks to this man who cared enough to become involved.

Henry Kissinger

the Shah's economic advisers advise him that unless he comes up with another bundle of cash the airline will go under and he will lose his previous investment.

"Oh pshaw!" the Shah fumes. "What's wrong with that outfit anyway? Why do they keep going in the hole like that?"

"We hate to tell you this, your Shahship," the advisers reply, "but your oil price policies are to blame. There is no way Pan Am can operate at a profit as long as fuel costs remain at present levels."

"You mean I am costing myself money by keeping my oil prices high?"

"That's about the size of it, your Shahship. Unless you can talk yourself into lowering your oil prices, you will go on taking a bath on the Pan Am deal."

The Shah scratches his head perplexedly, then his face lights up with a cogitational breakthrough.

"Get me Henry Kissinger on the phone," he says.

Two days later the U.S. Secretary of State arrives in Tehran to help the Shah negotiate with himself.

"Look at it this way," he says. "If Pan Am goes under, people will lose confidence in your leadership. They will say, 'Hey, that Shah really got suckered into something when he bought that airline stock.'"

"But if Pan Am suddenly starts making a big profit, your popularity rating will hit new heights. People will say, 'Hey, that Shah is some kind of financial wizard. He really knows when to latch onto a good thing.'"

"In the long run, your reputation could mean more than the extra oil income."

Under the agreement negotiated by Kissinger, the Oil Shah permits a substantial price decrease in return for the Airline Shah's promise not to make any more ironic investments.

Percy supported

Your editorial, "Percy Has Aided Mideast Peace" (Feb. 5), is to be commended for its positive response to Senator Percy's recently expressed views.

The key to long-range problem-solving in the Middle East is a word you used in the editorial — "equitable." The situation since 1947 has been anything but equitable for the Palestinians. What voice have they had at any time in their future? No wonder that their leaders chose "terrorism" because what peaceful avenue has been open until now?

It is to be hoped that the United States will finally change its partisan stance and truly support an equitable solution to the Middle East conflict. That The Herald is unafraid to take the lead in encouraging a more rational approach to United States policy is to your credit as a responsible newspaper.

The almanac

Today is Thursday, Feb. 27, the 58th day of 1975 with 317 to follow.

The moon is approaching its last quarter.

The morning stars are Mercury and Mars.

The evening stars are Venus, Jupiter and Saturn.

Those born on this day are under the sign of Pisces.

American poet Henry Wadsworth Longfellow was born on Feb. 27, 1807.

On this day in history:

• In 1939, so-called "sit-down" strikes were outlawed by the United States Supreme Court.

• In 1942, opening salvos were fired in the battle of the Java Sea, a Pacific naval engagement in the early days of World War II, in which the Japanese sank 13 American warships while losing only two.

• In 1963, Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees signed a contract for $100,000, highest in baseball at that time.

• In 1972, President Nixon ended his historic visit to Communist China, issuing a joint statement with Premier Chou En-lai.

A thought for the day: American poet Henry Wadsworth Longfellow said, "Music is the universal language of mankind... poetry the universal pastime and delight."

School board races draw one breed—brave souls

Democracy seems to be alive and well in local elections this year, both for village officials and for school boards.

In village and city governments, campaigns already are in full swing, with rival candidates regularly exchanging barbs. In many communities, the elections look as though they will be pretty lively.

Campaigns for school boards usually are slower and more sedate than village and city elections, but since Wednesday was the first day of filing for the April 12 board elections, it is at least possible to make some guesses about what kind of a political year it will be for school boards.

ONE CLEAR TREND is that many of the elections are going to be contested. In Arlington Heights Dist. 25, a candidate has chosen to run against the school board caucus, an organization that never has lost an election. In several other districts, enough candidates filed in the first few hours to ensure contested races.

It will take awhile to determine what all these contested elections are going to mean. School board candidates, after all, sometimes run the least inspiring noncampaigns in all of suburban politics. There always will be a few who run only out of a vaguely defined feeling of "civic duty" or who have no idea of the job of a school board member.

However, it always is possible that there will be several excellent candidates, hopefully enough to provide voters with genuine choices.

IT IS DIFFICULT to determine the most important traits for a good school board candidate (or good board member). The list that immediately comes to mind sounds a little like the description of an Eagle scout—a board member should be intelligent, perceptive, patient, self-confident, thrifty and (hopefully) clean and neat.

But that description isn't enough. When school districts must face militant teachers, complex court decisions, irate parents, problems of drug abuse among students and occasional confusion among school administrators, the fact is that school board members need to be more than virtuous—they have to be tough.

Toughness in a school board member does not mean high-handedness—although there are some board members who don't seem to realize that. But a tough board member does have to be able to take a set of contradictory facts and reach a decision after hearing the evidence.

I'VE SAID BEFORE that school boards are becoming the focus of controversies and that the "good old days" when school boards were nice, quiet places for civic-minded people are gone.

As of Wednesday, just about 40 persons in the Northwest suburbs had decided to take on the problems facing schools today by becoming school board candidates—and that indicates there are some brave people in the Northwest suburbs.

Training courses offered parents of handicapped

Parent Effectiveness Training courses, adapted to the special needs of parents of handicapped children, are being offered for the first time in suburban areas by Chicago Goodwill.

The courses will be conducted by Organizational Training Division of Effectiveness Training Associates and will be directed to increasing parents' effectiveness in communicating with their children. The courses will also give parents an opportunity to discuss problems in raising handicapped children.

Northwest suburban parents interested in this program may contact Mary Lutynski, 738-3860. Courses will be held at locations and times convenient to parents who respond.

Oakland official on radio

Dr. Floyd R. Due, a psychiatrist who does screening work for the Oakland, Calif., police department, will discuss his work in a speech Sunday at Forest Hospital, Des Plaines.

Due can be heard at 8 a.m. Sunday on WJJD-FM (104.3) in the station's public-service radio series, "The Search for Mental Health," which is produced by the Forest Hospital Foundation.

Title fight atmosphere...Quade magnificent in victory

"That was a college game," exclaimed an impressed fan.

The drama and excitement that two magnificent teams brought about, coupled with a tremendous and enthusiastic overflow crowd made it seem like a collegiate contest.

But this dynamite basketball game Wednesday night was played by school-boys. Still, their performances were so great that the huge turnout was turned on totally. It seemed too good to be just a prep game.

It was billed the Mid-Suburban League championship game — the best in the South Division versus the best from the North. It was more than that, however.

The game — better yet — TIE GAME had the electric atmosphere of a heavy-weight title fight.

First out of the dressing room danced the visitors — the Arlington Cardinals. It was known throughout the Northwest suburbs that this cat-quick quintet had the speed and record of a Muhammad Ali.

About a minute later — almost appearing delayed as psyche move — came the home team. More famous for their methodical, machine-like play as well as being big and powerful, the Prospect Knights took the floor.

The classic fight for the conference crown was on. What followed was just about the best basketball show this side of the Champaign state finals.

After what seemed to be just as many fantastic moments as there were seconds (1,920) in this matchup, the verdict was finally in.

The decision was Prospect's, 78-73. But anyone who witnessed this high school extravaganza would be quick to tell you that the outcome wasn't known until just 19 seconds remained.

A behind-the-back pass by Mike Quade to Al Black on the fastbreak for the layup led the issue.

It was a team effort, to be sure. There was Dave Mann and his big final period, hitting seven of his 15 points. And who could forget the clutch rebounding of 6-foot-9 Paul Withey and 6-8 Doug Bonthron. There was also the 18-point performance of Al Black.

But the main man — the guy who makes this Prospect team tick — was in his glory this night... Mr. Quade.

Mike was magnificent on a floor that held many outstanding athletes. He had cut down one of the nets in the victory celebration and — possibly not knowing it — still held the pocket knife he used 15 minutes later in the locker room.

Paul Logan
Associate Sports Editor

"Way to go, Isaac," said one of his well-wishing teammates, referring to his bald head — ala Isaac Hayes.

Quade, who led all scorers with 20 points, stretched an already good-sized grin into an opening that could handle a big Mac. You see, "Isaac" is his nickname. And just like the superstar black entertainer, Mike had put on a show.

He bombed in shots from outside as well as led the fastbreak, tossing in some steals, assists and superb overall floor leadership. Mike was the main man.

But many unknowing people think this versatile athlete (football quarterback and baseball shortstop) is a hotdog because he's always the only hairless player on a floor full of shaggy heads.

"I'm glad you asked about it," said Mike, who has for quite some time been criticized by those who thought this 5-11, 163-pound speed merchant was a show-off. "A lot of people think I shave it."

"When I was three years old, I had a disease. Week by week I would keep losing my hair."

After years of trying many cures and about 20 doctors, Mike decided to quit trying to stop it and live with it. "It keeps my cool on the court," he joked.

His coach, Bill Slayton, noticed Mike's superb act. Although saying that his Knights' showing was teamwork personified, Slayton admitted "a little guy out there with no hair played a helluva game. What a competitor."

Besides Quade's play, Slayton pointed to the first half as being something of a turning point. After using a fairly loose zone to take a 24-21 first-quarter lead, "we tightened it up" in the second period.

Slayton planned to make some other changes to his 2-3 zone at halftime before seeing that Arlington had been held to just eight points in the second period. "My gawd," recalled Bill after seeing the statistics, "how can we change that."

The Knights stuck with the defense that got 'em there and it paid off in the end.

Slayton disappeared from his team's dressing room during the exuberant aftermath. "I wanted to shake hands with all the kids," he explained as he walked away from the subdued Arlington locker.

In analyzing the game, Prospect's head coach had this to say:

"I think that's just about all you could expect. They all just did great. "I'll bet they'll always say it's the greatest thing they ever took away from this school."

"When we came into the gym at 6:30 and the sophomore game had just started and the place was already half full, it's just super," said Quade, referring to one of the reasons why he and his teammates were so fired up. "We played just super."

One young man who had planned to play but was forced to watch because of a concussion was Arlington starting guard Mike Fogel. "To tell you the truth," added Quade, "I feel sorry for the kid." That statement demonstrates the kind of gentlemen who played this night for both sides.

Now the state tournament awaits both these exceptional teams. But this game will be hard to match in its impact both on the players, their followers and the area.

It was more than a high school game. It truly was something on a higher plane. Maybe the choice of referees told the story — they also handle the Big Ten Conference!

Drama at Prospect! Knights capture crown

Capacity crowd watches South champ hold off Arlington in 78-73 thriller

by JIM COOK

In one of the most memorable ball games to unfold before the eyes of Northwest suburbanites, Prospect tipped Arlington, 78-73, for the Mid-Suburban League basketball championship before a turnaway crowd of head-shaking witnesses in Prospect's 3,200-seat field-house.

The vibrant electricity created by the cheering throng Wednesday night helped set a lightning-quick tempo for the game that showcased two of the area's premier and unbeaten (13-0) league squads.

Mike Quade, the Knights' playmaking, ballhawking leader, was magnificent at both ends of the floor and especially down the torrid, heartstopping stretch.

It was his feed to 6-foot-9 teammate Paul Withey that snapped a 71-71 stalemate and pushed Prospect into a lead it never relinquished.

The Knights' sleeping giant, after initially putting Prospect on the board in the first quarter went scoreless until midway through the final period.

His arm-length tip-in of a missed free throw boosted Prospect into a 63-61 advantage, an eight-footer along the baseline created a 71-69 Knight edge and his last of three crucial buckets finally snapped the last deadlock of the game and gave the host Knights some bargaining power for a stall down the final 70 seconds.

Prospect's Dave Mann sealed the deci-son with 46 seconds left when his layup snaked over the rim and resulted in a deflating three-point play for the frantic Cardinals, who failed to tally during a crucial 1:41 of the stretch drive.

In a game billed as a contrasting matchup of the Tortoise (Prospect's slow but physically powerful five) against the Hare (Arlington's exceptional quickness) the Tortoise never showed.

Both teams raced back and forth in a human tennis match that was spiced by Arlington's demanding full-court zone press and Prospect's ability to feed Quade on a blistering fastbreak offense.

The Knights, however, bent only three times in the face of the Cardinals' pressure tactics while Arlington was equally successful in splitting the seams on Prospect's picket fence 2-3 zone defense.

With the defenses readily soluble, the emphasis shifted to the offenses. Neither team left anything wanting. The biggest advantage either club could muster was six points. The lead changed hands on seven times while the score was tied on an unbelievable 16 different occasions.

Quade came out accelerating for Prospect, hitting 10 first quarter points, but the individual effort wasn't enough to contain the balanced attack by Arlington's Terry Donahue, Denny Gaare, Jim Grandt, John Yearzel and Jerry DeSimone who punched the Cardinals into a 21-21 advantage.

But Quade, runningmate Al Black and forward Dave Mann came out smoking off the second period tip and outscored Arlington 9-1 to boost Prospect on top, 33-27.

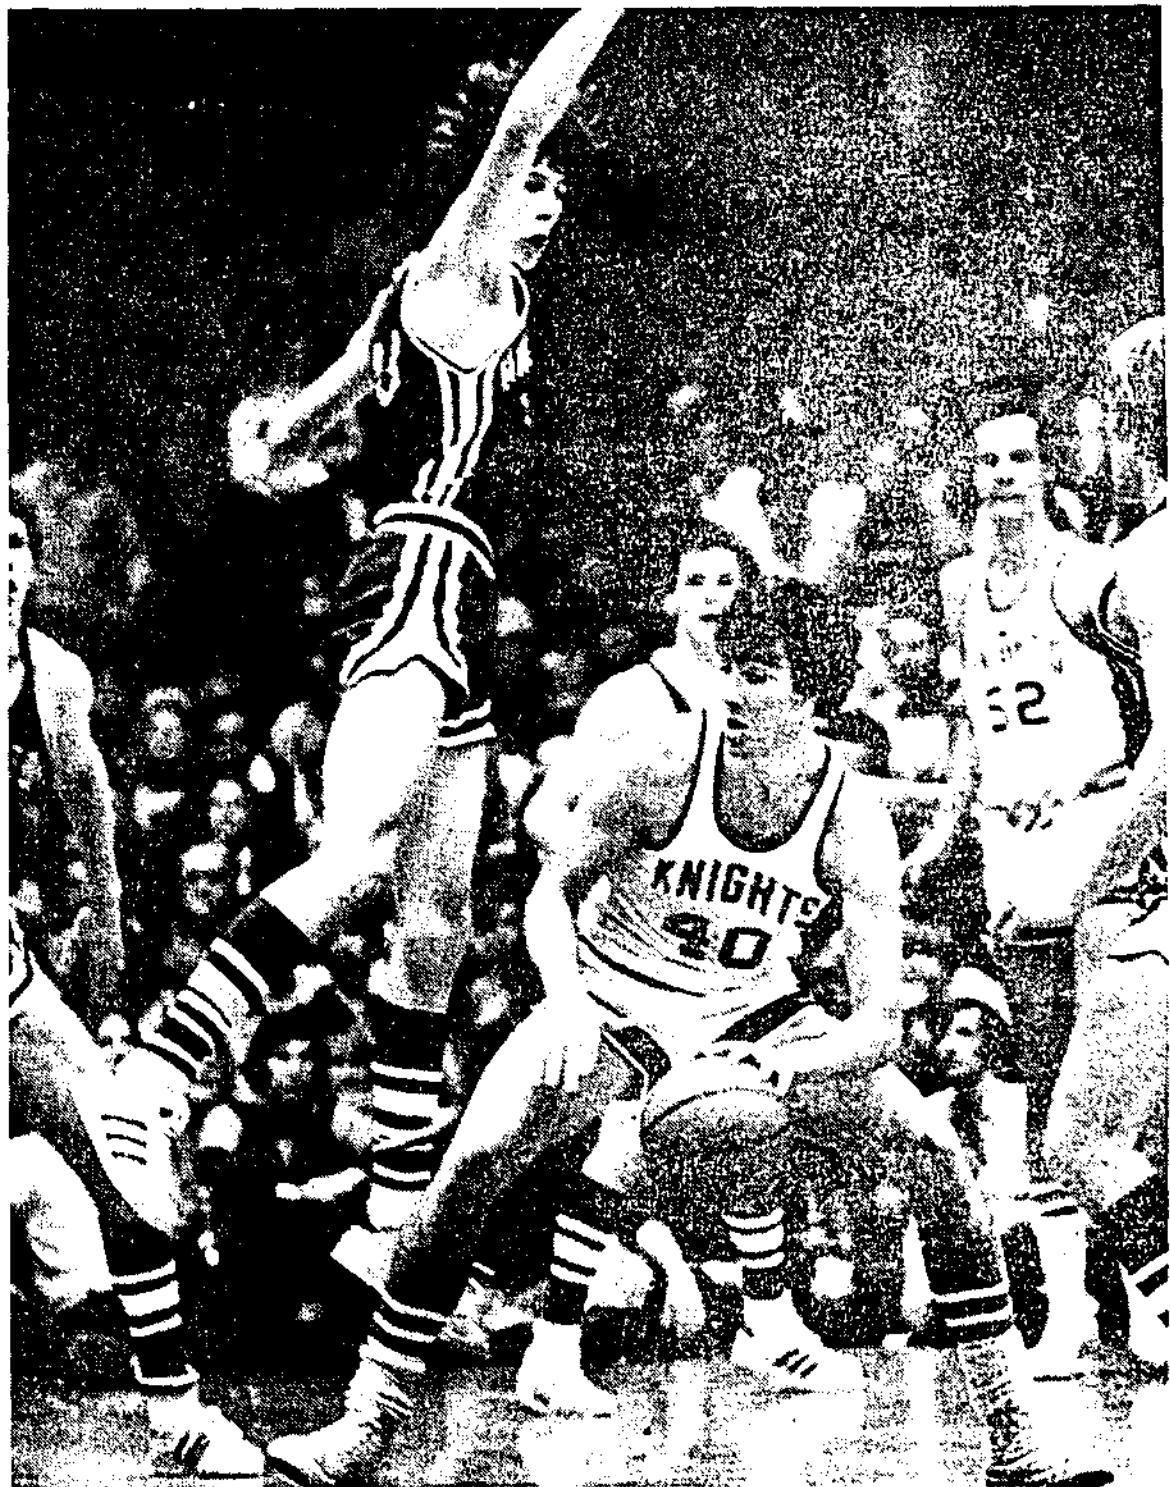

The Knights maintained the slight edge to protect a 36-32 margin at the intermission, but the seasaw started teetering during the final, thrilling 16 minutes.

Each club accounted for 19 points in the third session with DeSimone coming alive for Arlington with six points while Black (six points) and Doug Bonthron (four) keeping Prospect in step.

The awesome offensive struggle was magnified by the fact that nine of the 10 starters on the floor finished in double figures. Quade led all scorers with 20 while Donahue paced Arlington with 18.

And, like everything else except the final score, the rebounding department was a 30-30 standoff with Withey hauling down a dozen boards and Donahue 10.

Zigman praises Prospect's ability to beat the press

by KEITH REINHARD

It was an exceptionally well-played ballgame. Those kind are always great to win... and they're always just as tough to lose."

The comment was by Arlington coach George Zigman Wednesday night and it came from down deep inside: his squad had just lost a 78-73 heartbreaker to Prospect in the Mid-Suburban League championship contest.

The fact that it ruined a previously unblemished conference slate and that it was the third straight time the Redbirds had succumbed in the title contest perhaps made the setback even a little harder to accept but Zigman could find no fault with his own charges.

"Our kids played exceptionally well... as well as I could ask. I thought Prospect did a fine job of beating our press. It wasn't as effective as I felt it would be."

A simple example of how well Prospect did against Arlington's press was the 78 points they put up on the board. The Cards came into the match boasting a conference defensive yield in the 55-point range.

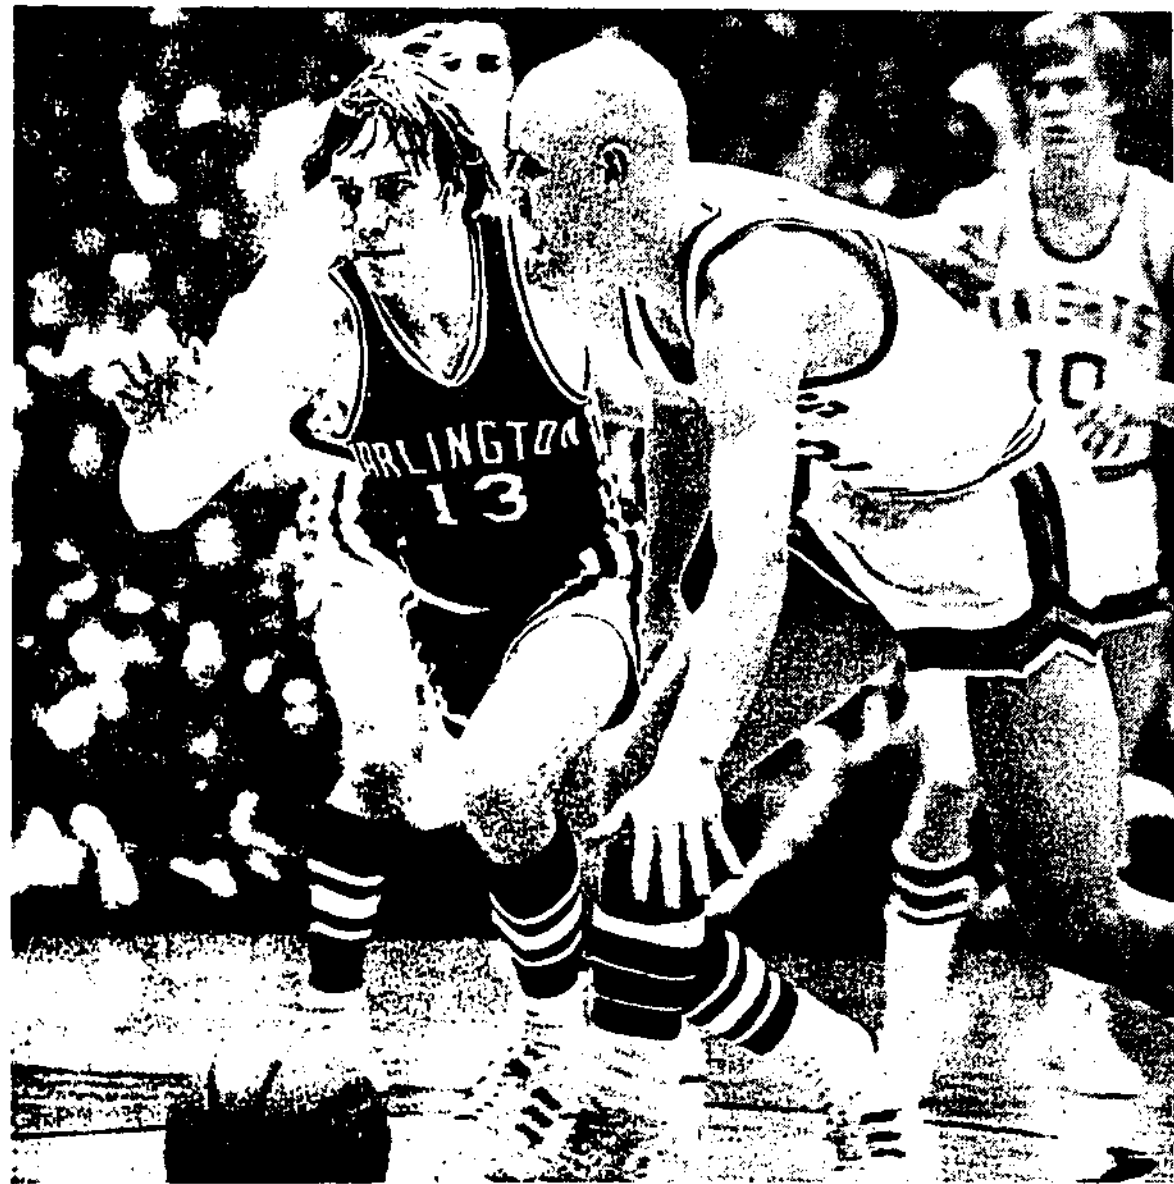

The Knights struck for more than any team in Arlington's 20 previous games all season.

The Redbird pilot had no trouble singling out a chief nemesis either:

"Mike Quade played one whale of a game for them. We knew he was a fine athlete and we expected him to turn in a solid performance against us, but he hurt us everywhere on the court including a couple of areas we weren't quite prepared for."

"No, I don't want to take anything away from them," Zigman summarized of the one team in the history of the MSL which has won more loop games than Arlington.

"They shot the eyes out of the bucket, did the job on the boards and made their pitches. We played a fine game tonight but they just played a little bit better..."

Gymnasts in round two of tourney

by CHARLIE DICKINSON
Gymnastics Editor

Hersey, Arlington and Buffalo Grove high schools will compare district championship quality gymnastics teams as round two of the state tournament gets under way at Buffalo Grove tonight.

The Buffalo Grove Sectional will draw gymnasts, representing 20 schools including 10 from the Mid-Suburban League, for two sessions to determine qualifiers for the state finals to be held at Prospect High School March 7-8.

Thursday and Friday night sessions will both begin at 7:00.

Arlington's Cardinals were the first of the district winners as they copped the Rolling Meadows title last Thursday. The Redbirds jumped on the competition with both feet and piled up 146.5 team points to knock off the host Mustangs.

Drew Farlee and Don Marquis finished first and third respectively in the district and they'll be leading the Arlington effort at Buffalo Grove.

Arlington will send three specialists onto the side horse. John Griffin, Gordon Schmidt and Ken Hogrefe all scored in the middle sevens during the season. Hogrefe snatched the district title from teammate Schmidt with an 8.6 routine. Schmidt scored 8.35 at Meadows.

Arlington and Rolling Meadows have the most individuals entered in the meet with 14.

Of the points on the board for Arlington in the district, Marquis and Mark Dillorenzo marked 8.50 to tie for the free ex title at Meadows.

Don Tatro will be the only specialist on the high bar for Arlington while a trio of gymnasts will be working the trampoline. Tatro took a third place medal on the bar in the district with a 7.55 score while Chris Smith took a second place medal on the tramp.

Jonah Smith will be Brad Wigren and Jon Harwell.

Jeff Schack's 7.15 routine on the P-Bars earned a fourth place medal while Larry Smith picked up some points with a seventh place finish. They'll be back at work for Arlington in the sectional as will Jim Nolte and Kyle Chambliss on the still rings.

Nolte placed third in the district with an 8.05 but got upped by Chambliss, who won the championship with an 8.20 effort.

The Bison of Buffalo Grove will return home with the newly acquired Mundelein district trophy and 13 gymnasts qualified for the sectional meet.

Wayne Dulla, Dewey Deal and Phil Laler will work all-around for the Bison.

Buffalo Grove topped Mundelein by nearly 10 points to win the district and picked up three district event championships in the process.

Dennis Breit's 7.55 won the free ex title in the district and will work there again with specialist Mike Rine, who tied Laler for fourth in the district with a 7.3.

Paul Schultz also pulled down an event title, scissoring through a 7.1 routine to win the side horse. He'll be the only specialist working that piece of apparatus for the Bison in the sectional.

Buffalo Grove placed two gymnasts in the top five at Mundelein on the high bar with specialist Leo Bataglin taking a third with 7.55. He'll be joined by Fred Bista, who qualified for the sectional in an at-large capacity.

The trampoline also proved profitable for the Bison as they put three individuals in district medal territory. Rine picked up his second district medal with a 6.35 routine that fell in as third best. Jay Truelsen bounced to a fourth (6.3) and Evan Jones a fifth (6.25).

The third event championship was won by Brian Fackel, who scored an 8.0 to win the still rings. Fackel will have support from Mark Farrington in the sectionals.

Hersey has an even dozen gymnasts entered in the sectional and only one, trampolinist Ray Peters, didn't win a medal in the Wheeling District, a competition that the Huskies won by the laughable margin of 116 points.

In the process of scoring 178 team points Hersey gymnasts won six of the seven event championships including a one-two finish by the Muenz brothers, Kevin and Danny, in the all-around.

Kevin Muenz won the all-around with a 7.97 average, the P-Bars with an 8.4 mark and captured second place awards in free ex (7.9), side horse (8.05) and high bar (7.85).

Danny Muenz edged his brother on the high bar with an 8.15 score and averaged 7.64 for the all-around.

The Huskies are rich in specialists and none is more a master of his craft than Keith Oehlisen in free ex. Oehlisen won the Wheeling district title with an 8.75 and only Arlington's Marquis and Dillorenzo figure to give him any trouble on the way to the sectional championship.

Redheaded Bob Barnt, who picked up a third place medal in the district with a 7.75 marking, will be the other specialist working the free ex mats with Oehlisen.

The side horse was the only event Hersey didn't win in the district and it took an 8.10 performance by Wheeling's Jeff Kee to keep Kevin Muenz from picking up the crown. Jeff Salcedo will specialize on the high bar for the Huskies, hoping to improve on his 7.85 district score.

With a little improvement on an 8.05 district score by Gregg Manning, Hersey could come out of Buffalo Grove with a one-two finish on the trampoline. Mike Kropp won the district championship with an 8.65.

A real threat to Kropp's sectional title possibilities is Conant's Tom Hall, who won the Meadows District with a score identical to the Hersey ace.

Vince Corrado and Blaine Voss will carry the Hersey colors on the still rings. Corrado served notice he is the sectional favorite when he won the Wheeling district with an 8.45 score. Voss finished third at 7.70.

The Rolling Meadows Mustangs placed second in their own district and sent 14 gymnasts on to the sectionals. Guy Owsiany and Mike Illingworth will work all-around for the Mustangs.

Chris Hirth took a fourth place medal in the district on free ex, Dave Gurka's 8.40 on the horse earned him a third place, Keith Liszewski won the district high bar title, Alex Cimbut took a third and Jim Losito a fifth on the trampoline. Jim Williams a fifth on P-Bars and Dave Bycroft placed second and Dave Gauger fifth on the rings.

Wheeling advanced seven gymnasts to the sectionals, all of them specialists. Besides Kee's event championship on side horse, Dale Brumgraber fared the best of the rest of the Wildcats when his 8.00 marking on the rings placed him second behind Corrado.

Bill McGeshick, fresh from a fifth place finish in the district, will handle free ex for Wheeling.

Conant placed third in the team fight at the Meadows district and sent nine gymnasts to the sectional. Al Olsen and Jeff Worst will be Conant's all-arounders. Hall, on trampoline, has the best shot at a sectional title for the Cougars.

Hoffman Estates and Palatine will have 11 competitors entered between them. Dave Stronz will be Hoffman's all-arounder while Bob Garland will handle those chores for Palatine. Garland placed fourth in the district with a 4.54 average.

The only other Buc medal winner at Wheeling was Jim Kohlhaas, whose 6.35 marking on the high bar put him in fourth place.

Three Schaumburg Saxons survived to perform another day and, remarkably, one of them won a district title. Steve Ninow raised a lot of eyebrows when he came out of the pack at Meadows to win the P-Bars championship with a 7.85 judging.

Fremd's lone representative in the sectional will be all-arounder Doug Smidl.

ROLLING MEADOWS' trampolinist Jim Losito checks out his landing spot while doing his stuff in the Meadows District. Losito did his stuff well enough to earn a 7.65 score and a fifth place medal.

Hawk hockey team tops Conant

Hoffman Estates Hockey Club out-scored Conant High School 6-3 in an Inter-Divisional "Rubber" match. In two previous meetings the teams had played to 2-2 and 3-3 ties in very closely contested games. Currently, the teams are both fighting for a fourth place finish and a berth in the playoffs.

The game opened with a furious first period with the Hawks on top 3-0. Two goals by Earl Hausl at 18:57 and 19:03, assisted by Joe Ciccia and Bob Payson and finally Bob Payson again, put the Cougars down 2-0. With 5:37 left in the period Dan Weiss scored assisted by Todd Vuglar for the 3-0 first period advantage.

Second period play, again stimulated by the intense rivalry, led to a score late in the period. Conant's Terry Jones scored at 5:23 assisted by Brooks. The Hawk team countered with an unassisted goal by Dan Weiss with just 45 seconds remaining.

The third period play of the Cougars seemed to have the Hawks in a defensive shell and two Conant goals put the score at 4-3. Goals by Tompkins at 18:07 assisted by Dinaudi and Karras at 6:15 assisted by Watron left the Hawks on the brink of another tie. With 2:16 left on the clock, Al Rawson carried the puck into the Conant zone on a one on one, scored, and assured the Hoffman Estates High School team of the win. With just 25 seconds left in the game, the Hawk's Tim Harkness scored an unassisted goal to clinch the victory. Hawk Goalie Serge Faldstein again had a brilliant night in the nets.

The Hoffman Hawk Hockey Club will play their next game Sunday, March 2, against York High School at Twin Ice.

Knight girls heat up race in basketball

Thanks to Prospect, there's quite a heated race again in the South Division of the Mid-Suburban Conference.

Playing at Hoffman Estates, the Prospect Knights used the fine 1-2 punch of Mara Rautenberg and Sue Tolzien to hand the Hawks their first loss Tuesday night, 37-41.

The Knights are now deadlocked with Hoffman and Rolling Meadows in the loss column at one each.

Rautenberg scored 27 points and pulled down 15 rebounds. Tolzien had 25 rebounds.

Hoffman was led by Clare Dowling's 28 points and 11 rebounds.

Prospect's 'B' team won 33-21.

Academy's gymnasts capture invite

GYMNASTS and coaches from the American Academy of Gymnastics pose with the first place trophy they won at the Junior Midwest Open recently. The Academy will host the state tournament March 8-9 with each day's session scheduled to be-

Harper girls first at Concordia

The Harper women's gymnastics team warmed up for the state meet this weekend with an 83.10 score to win a four team meet at Concordia College. Oakton finished second to the Hawks with 83.50, the host team took third at 83.05 and Mayfair brought up the rear with a score of 47.60.

Carol Higley led the Hawks' effort with a 30.85 championship for the all-around. She contributed first place marks of 8.8 on the uneven P-Bars, 6.55 on vaulting and second place scores of 8.10 in free ex and 7.60 on the balance beam.

Sherry Nowkirk picked up the only other Harper event title as her 8.15 was the best score recorded in free exercise.

Harper's final gymnast to place in the top three was Kim Fojtik, who took a third on the balance beam with a score of 7.45.

Harper will compete in the state championship tournament at Northern Illinois University in DeKalb Saturday beginning at 9:15 a.m.

The American Academy of Gymnastics, Inc., triumphed again as they captured the first place team trophy with 164 points at the Madison Turners Invitational Meet, held this past weekend in Madison, Wis. Ten teams competed in optional routines.

On the balance beam, Linda Renehan captured the gold medal (9.0) while Mary Califf found herself tied for second (8.85).

Sue Cassidy of Arlington Heights brought home silver medals on the uneven bars (8.50) and on floor exercise (8.95). Sue tied for third place in the all-around competition with 33.60.

Helping their team to earn the first place trophy was Donna Silber of Mount Prospect, Cindy Devero of Arlington Heights and Gayle Fleischman of Deerfield.

On Sunday the Academy sparked again as three of their girls competed in the USGF Illinois State Qualification Meet for USGF Advanced compulsory and optional routines. They did not compete for a team trophy.

The senior division, age 15 and over, found Mary Charpentier of Mount Prospect capturing the top all-around honors. Mary sparkled as she received the gold medals on vaulting and floor exercise. She also notched medals on the uneven bars and the balance beam.

Competing in the Junior Division, age 12 to 14 was Donna Wasielewski of Arlington Heights taking the silver medal in the all-around competition. Donna brought home silver medals in vaulting and balance beam while settling for a fifth on floor exercise. Doing a fine job until she sustained an injury was Gayle Holtman of Mount Prospect.

The American Academy has now qualified 16 girls for the Illinois State Championships for USGF Advanced Compulsory and optional routines to be held at the Academy March 8-9 at 1:00.

The Novice girls team from the Academy captured the second place trophy at the USGF Beginners Compulsory Meet.

The 10-and-under division found Kim McCabe of Arlington Heights taking third place on vaulting and floor exercise, while placing seventh on the uneven bars. Kelly McNamee of Wilmette settled for a sixth place ribbon on the uneven bars.

Over in the 11 to 14 all-around competition Nancy Quattrochi captured the first place trophy, while Jackie Paldi took home the third place trophy and Sue Koch of Des Plaines settled for the fourth place trophy.

On the uneven bars, Nancy grabbed the gold medal, Sue earned the silver and Jackie notched a sixth. Jackie soared to take the silver medal on vaulting, while Sue landed in fifth.

When the balance beam was completed, Nancy received the silver medal and Jackie took another sixth place ribbon. Nancy also won the sixth place ribbon on floor exercise.

Gym teacher's orders notwithstanding, exercise shouldn't be made a punishment

As a punishment my son's gym teacher makes the class do 60 situps and 60 pushups. The next day his stomach muscles are very sore and painful.

I know this is good exercise, but usually you work up to this amount gradually. Could this sort of thing be harmful in any way? My son is 12 years old.

Excessive exercise beyond what the body is trained to do will cause minor injury to the muscles. That may be one reason for the muscle soreness we all experience after such episodes. Such exercise bouts actually slow down the rate of body development and the development of exercise capacity. The rule is: Train, don't strain.

The excessive exercise in this form is not likely to do major harm to the health on the short-term basis.

Why do I say short-term basis? Because the gym teacher who uses exercise as a form of punishment is really defeating his or her own purpose. For children exercise should never be used as punishment. The idea is to make exercise pleasant and something children will want to do. This will help motivate them to want to exercise for the rest of their lives.

When children or older individuals are forced to do a physical task as punishment, the task is considered degrading, even if it is extra laps around the track. The exercise becomes equated in the person's mind with punishment, not something pleasurable. No wonder, then, that these individuals develop a pattern of shunning exercise. I wish every physical education teacher would take this to heart. If they want to motivate their students to want to exercise, stop that archaic practice of using exercise as punishment.

Please tell me something about leg aches. I just came home without finishing my shopping because the pain in my left leg was so bad. After I have been walking for a couple of hours, the pain starts in the toe next to my little toe. If I don't get off it immediately, the pain continues on up to the knee and is excruciating.

I have been to the doctor three times with no improvement. He has checked my circulation, which is fine. I have had tests for uric acid, rheumatoid arthritis and the like, and all are okay.

I'm 58, weigh 135 pounds and have been very active. This problem is beginning to affect my activity. I have been having it for about four months now.

Aches in the feet and legs come from many causes. Circulation is one cause and I'm glad your doctor doesn't think that it is your problem.

Osteoarthritis can also be a problem. So can a variety of disorders of the feet. You will need X-rays of the hip joints, the knee and a careful examination of the feet.

I would suggest that you ask your doctor to refer you to an orthopedic clinic or specialist for a more detailed examination of the mechanical factors that might be causing your problem.

Win at bridge

by Oswald and James Jacoby

Knights of the Square Table

Sir Lancelot, the best knight of the round table and the best player at the bridge table, took his ace of diamonds and led a trump to dummy's jack. East discarded a spade. What had appeared to be a hand that even Sir Dinadan, the worst bridge player, would have no problem with, had become a real problem.

Lancelot was sure that the right line of play would still bring home the slam, but just what was the right line? Finally the peerless one arrived at a solution based on East holding exactly five spades and not six.

He cashed dummy's ace of spades and played dummy's ace and jack of clubs. East could do nothing better than take his king and play a diamond for Lancelot to ruff.

Now Lancelot started to play his last three clubs. Any time West ruffed, Lancelot would overruff and spread his hand. If West didn't ruff Lancelot would be able to shed all dummy's spades, including the good king, and ruff his last spade.

Looks easy, doesn't it? But just for fun try to make the hand without cashing exactly one high spade before playing clubs.

Now's time to seek home-loan bargains

Interest rates may keep dropping as S&Ls put cash influx to work

by LEA TONKIN

Bargain hunters should take advantage of an improved mortgage market to scout for competitive loan rates, area financing experts say.

The big question is whether interest rates will continue to drop as savings and loan associations put increased savings receipts to work. For home buyers who are willing to gamble that money will be available at cheaper rates later, three trends are worth watching:

- Current savings inflows reported by S&Ls.
- State usury ceiling legislation.
- Prospects of stepped-up federal money-market activity.

As explained by James Holmes of Mount Prospect, executive director of the Chicago Area Council of Savings Associations, increased savings inflows point to increased lending activity at stable or declining rates. "We projected a $95 million net inflow in Cook County during January," Holmes said.

The survey of 42 S&Ls compares to a $11 million figure for January 1974. "It's a good sign, because it's the third month we've showed plus figures," Holmes said. He noted that some interest rates for 80 per cent loans (20 per cent down payment) have moved down to the 8.75 per cent rate, plus service charges.

Despite the turnaround from massive savings withdrawals during 1974, the savings inflows do not match figures of $107 million in January 1973, $119 million in 1972 and $135 million in 1971. Holmes and other industry experts view the usury ceiling and potential money-market offerings by the federal government as keys to the savings picture.

THE STATE USURY ceiling is the statutory limit on the interest rate that can be paid for mortgage loans. The 9.5 per cent limit in Illinois is due to expire June 30. If the Illinois General Assembly does not extend the ceiling, the rate will revert to 8 per cent.

An 8 per cent usury ceiling "will be a severe hardship on the people who want to purchase a home, on the home building industry and certainly on the S&L industry," said Leo P. Dignan, senior vice president of St. Paul Federal Savings & Loan Assn., Chicago. Dignan, whose firm maintains a Rolling Meadows branch, said funds for home financing will start to dry up by April 1 if the state usury ceiling is not extended at 9.5 per cent or eliminated.

The Illinois S&L industry would have to consider lowering certificate of deposit interest rates below the 7.75 per cent maximum rate, or consider lending outside Illinois, he said. The individual home buyer would feel the pinch as S&Ls refuse to give mortgages, and home builders will experience a "critical" financing problem as they seek forward commitments for summer construction projects.

A FLEXIBLE, floating state usury limit would provide a realistic limit on mortgage interest rates, said Herschel Farr, executive vice president of the Home Builders Assn. of Greater Chicago. Farr said two bills have been introduced in the Illinois Senate to extend the 9.5 per cent usury ceiling for a two-year period and an indefinite period, respectively.

"We're trying to take preventive measures because many S&Ls are becoming hesitant in making commitments," Farr said of legislative efforts. "We're seeking approval no later than April 15." The association's campaign to rally support for an extension of the 9.5 per cent ceiling has not overcome labor-union opposition, however.

Increased money-market activity by the federal government — the third indicator — could lead to massive withdrawals of S&L funds during 1975, said Anthony DiBenedetto, executive vice president and managing officer of Palatine Savings and Loan Assn.

When the federal government raises money to finance activities, it can offer interest rates that top S&L rates, he said, "so every time there is a crunch, mortgages and construction get it first." The heavy savings outflows of 1974 "taught us a lesson," he said of cautious lending activity.

AS EXPLAINED by Kenneth Ruud, president of Kenneth A. Ruud Inc. real estate firm in Arlington Heights, waiting in the wings for lower mortgage rates may net the borrower a savings if the heavy government borrowing does not gobble up available funds. "In another couple of months, if the federal government gets back into the market, there could be no funds available," Ruud said.

Buyers should check the difference in home financing costs at different interest rates, then weigh the difference against possible financing uncertainty, Ruud said.

The buyer who can obtain a $35,000 mortgage at 8.75 per cent on a 30-year basis, for example, would pay $275.35 in monthly principal and interest charges. If the rate dropped to 8.5 per cent, the monthly payment would be cut to $269.12 a month. "Most people really don't flinch at that," Ruud said of the difference.

8% increase in area building

Construction activity in the six-county Chicago metropolitan area increased by 8 per cent in January compared to the same month in 1974, according to the Bell Federal Savings and Loan Assn. survey of building.

All housing, including single-family and apartments, increased to 1,539 units from the 1,424 reported in January, 1974.

A significant increase in multi-family housing starts was reported. New permits for multi-family housing rose from 871 to 1,151 permits, a 32 per cent increase. Single family home permits dropped from 533 to 388 during the month.

A POTENTIAL offering in the mortgage market that's aimed at relief from the "boom-or-bust" cycles in home financing is the variable-rate mortgage. The Federal Home Loan Board recently proposed that mortgage rates could rise by as much as 2.5 per cent above the initial loan rate, or decline, based on an index set by the board. Although similar proposals have been turned down by Congress, board chairman Thomas Bamar proposed Feb. 13 that lenders could offer a variable-rate mortgage for a maximum 35-year term.

Charles Keating, executive assistant in the Illinois Savings and Loan League, said the variable-rate mortgage could enable the S&L to offer increased home financing when savings rates are high. The index could be tied to rates paid on deposits, for example. A mandatory decrease and voluntary increase in rates would be specified as the index fluctuated. Keating said there are Illinois S&Ls making variable-rate mortgage commitments but the rate is controlled by the association's board of directors rather than a standardized index.

The variable-rate mortgage has been successfully offered at Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Assn. to commercial borrowers, said Anthony Lagod, assistant vice president. He said the extension of this offering to individual home buyers could eliminate uncertainty caused by rapidly fluctuating interest rates, giving the home buyer the ability to compete for available financing.

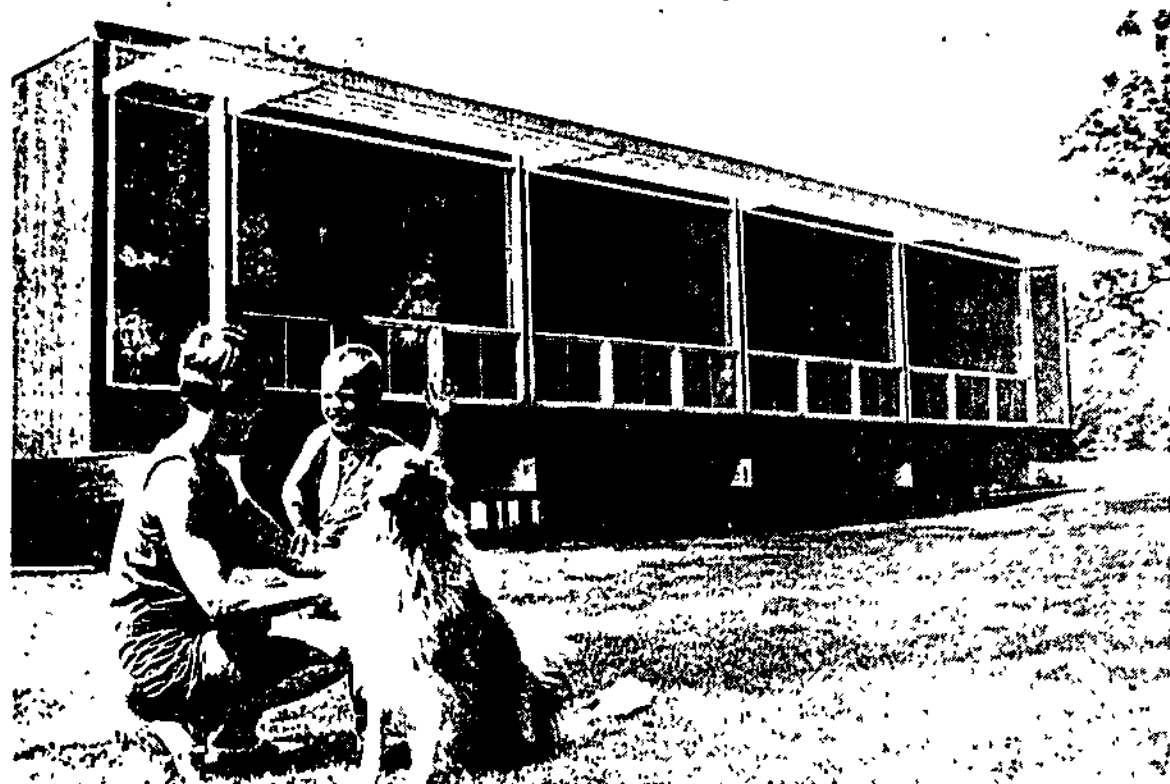

The Federal Home Loan Board will accept comment on the proposed variable-rate mortgage until May 15. If Congressional disapproval is expressed on behalf of the consumer, the proposal may be modified or scrapped. Otherwise the system may be implemented during 1975.

Coming up...

• Feb. 27: The Tool and Die Institute will meet at Arlington Park Hilton Hotel, Arlington Heights. A reception and dinner will start at 5 p.m.

• March 1-2: The Illinois Pharmaceutical Assn. will meet at the Arlington Park Hilton.

• March 6: Installation of new officers is planned by the Businessmen's Breakfast Club of Northwest Suburban Chicago. The group will meet at The Camelot restaurant of The Royal Inn, Des Plaines, at 7:30 a.m.

Remodeling may be smart — but it's best to be sure

Prices for new homes are high, and climbing. It still is difficult, and expensive, to obtain a mortgage. For the family that already has a home but wants something bigger or better, it can make more sense to improve rather than move.

Any house has drawbacks; you know the shortcomings of the one you live in and what it would take to upgrade it.

But often, remodeling can cost more than it would cost to buy another home with the wanted features. The remodeling may be worth it to your family for reasons other than cost, but you should be fully aware.

A CHECKLIST of situations where home improvement generally won't pay off except in personal comfort or convenience is offered by Robert G. Walters, vice president of the residential division of Baird & Warner Inc.:

• When the improvement makes your house worth substantially more than neighboring homes. Adding bedrooms and bath, for instance, that give you a $60,000 home in a neighborhood of $40,000 homes. This will make it too expensive for the neighborhood and the investment will be difficult if not impossible to recover.

However, Walters notes, this works in reverse if your neighbor decides to remodel because your home then may increase in value. The point is, buyers tend to establish an average price for all neighboring homes. If your home is above the average, it will drop in value; if below, its value will increase.

• When the neighborhood itself is on the downgrade. If the neighborhood is slipping and you decide to remodel, your home will continue to decrease in value despite the added investment. If, however, there is a general move toward improvement by all homeowners, the story could be different.

• When the improvement is not a generally popular one.

For instance, Walters said, if you build a basement recreation room, experts figure you'll be lucky to recover 15 per cent of the cost, compared with an add-on family room, where the recovery would be 50 to 60 per cent. Investment in an attic bedroom will recover about 30 per cent, compared with 75 to 100 per cent for a bedroom addition, he said.

• When the improvement is strictly for your own pleasure — a photographic darkroom, ceramic or pottery room or greenhouse. Unless you are lucky enough to find a buyer with similar hobbies, you may not recover anything.

• When the improvement has only seasonal value, such as a fireplace or swimming pool, you may lose 50 per cent or more.

• When the improvement is out of scale with the house. If you add a fifth or sixth bedroom, or a fourth or fifth bath, you're probably adding more than the average buyer can use and may not be able to recover more than half what you spend. Add a $30,000 deluxe family room to a $55,000 house and it's doubtful you'd recover more than half the cost.

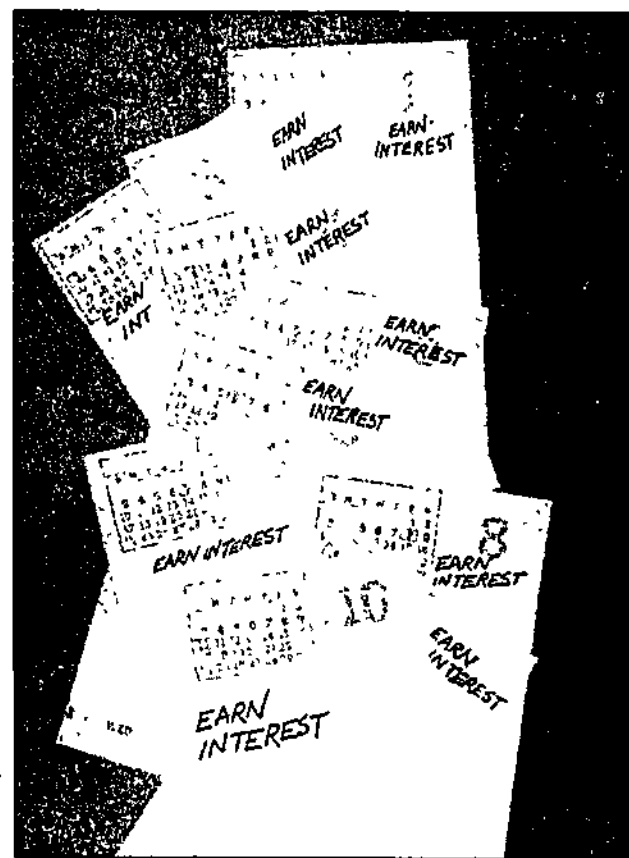

• When the improvement is something the house should have anyway, like a garage.

• When the improvement is really maintenance — a new roof, plumbing, heating, insulation — you can't expect to recover the cost. Buyers expect these things to be in good condition. You probably won't be able to recover the cost of exterior siding or more landscaping.

What will pay? Walters said a half-bath or powder room on the first floor of a house with only one bath; central air conditioning; a ground-floor family room; porch enclosure for all-year use; third or fourth bedroom; new kitchen — all are good bets to return 50 per cent or more of the investment.

Home owners can save three ways

There are as many as three important ways people can save on federal income tax this year or in future years if they own their own home. But homeowners must keep careful records in order to do so, advises Continental Real Estate, Inc.

The first way to save — deducting mortgage interest and real estate taxes from the federal tax return — is familiar to most homeowners, says Realtor Bob Love, vice-president of Continental Real Estate - Northwest, Inc., 150 W. Higgins, Hoffman Estates.

"Every year your mortgage is in force, you can deduct interest and taxes from your taxable income," he said. For example, the first year of a 25 year, $30,000 mortgage could yield $2,400 in income tax deductions — a $600 tax saving for someone in the 25 per cent income tax bracket.

"The thing to keep in mind if you are contemplating purchasing a home is to deduct that $600 tax saving from your housing cost. For example, if your annual principal, interest and taxes total $3,600 your monthly cost comes to $300. But when you deduct the $600 tax saving, your total is reduced to $3,000, or $250 a month.

"The advantages go even deeper," Love noted, "because this calculation doesn't take into account that portion of your cost which is equity. This too should be reduced from the total when you are trying to decide between owning or renting. You'd be surprised what the net costs really are."

Other ways to save are not so obvious, Love points out. They come into play when a home is sold. Say, for example, that you bought a home in 1964 for $30,000 and sold it in 1974 for $40,000. If you're not careful, you may be subject to tax on the $10,000 "profit" you made.

You can save, however, if you buy another home within a year for $40,000 or more. If you buy a home for less, you pay a tax on the difference.

Upgrading or moving into a more expensive home, doesn't hurt your eventual tax position. If you buy a new home at $45,000, you subtract the $10,000 gain on the home you sold from that total to establish a new tax basis. In other words, you subtract the $10,000 from the $45,000 and your new tax basis becomes $35,000 (not your original investment of $30,000).

If you eventually sell the new home for $50,000 you would have to pay a tax on $15,000, not $20,000.

Bob Love

"Home," incidentally, means any kind of residential property that is your principal residence — house, condominium, townhouse, mobile home, even a houseboat.

The third way to save is to keep careful records of all costs involved in buying the home, improving it and selling it.

"Let's say you bought a home in 1964 for $28,000 and sold it in 1974 for $42,000," the Continental executive said. If you didn't keep records, you might wind up paying a capital gains tax on $14,000, the difference between the buying and selling price.

But you were smart and kept records. When you bought the home you paid $200 to your attorney to handle the deal, and another $200 for title search and insurance, recording survey and appraisal fee. This added $400 to the purchase price.

Two years later you finished the basement at a cost of $2,000, put on a new roof for $1,000, and installed a swimming pool for $3,000. Other improvement costs you can add include new plumbing, heating or air conditioning units, storm windows, landscaping or fencing and room additions. In this case, improvements add up to $6,000.

When you sold the house, you also paid selling expenses including the broker's commission, attorney's fees, mortgage satisfaction fee, state tax stamp and title fee. And you also gave the house a coat of paint before selling it. Total selling expenses: $3,800.

Here is how it adds up:

Selling price of home	$42,000
Selling expenses	- 3,800
Improvement costs during ownership	- 6,000
Purchase price	- 28,000
Purchase expenses	- 400
DIFFERENCE	$ 3,800

This $3,800 is what you pay a capital gains tax on — if you don't buy another house within a year.

There may be even a fourth bonus. If you're over 65 when you sell your home the executive said, capital gains taxes can be sharply reduced or possibly eliminated.

Best bet is to keep careful records and consult your attorney and accountant when you buy or sell, the Continental expert advises.

Fun is still in season

Snow tubing A unique kind of winter fun you can try this weekend near Country Knoll... a unique kind of rental community. Bring your kids and your ice skates along in the apartment hunt, they both have a place at Country Knoll.

There are plenty of ski enthusiasts here at Country Knoll. In fact we're forming a ski club for both downhill and cross-country skiing. Of course, our lighted tennis courts are always ready in case of a sudden warm spell.

You'll find more fun indoors at the clubhouse, where you can play Ping-Pong or billiards in the game rooms. We also have a continuing program of social activities that includes organized card games. There's even a lounge that you can reserve for private entertaining.

In your apartment you enjoy spacious rooms, individually-controlled heating and a deluxe, fully-equipped kitchen. You experience the quiet afforded by sound-proof ceilings and outer walls of concrete 8 inches thick. And you get the added protection of security guards who patrol all night.

Come out and see our furnished models today. Sorry but no dogs, please.

'Businesses have gone to pot'

Realty tax shelters less alluring

by LEROY POPE

NEW YORK (UPI) — Many of the tax shelters in real estate — investment participations — cattle ranching, citrus farming, motion picture deals — that seemed so alluring a few years ago are in financial shambles today.

So are some oil and gas drilling syndicates, but for different reasons.

Most who invested in well planned oil and gas drilling projects are doing fine, it was reported in a seminar sponsored recently by ENI Corp., a major organizer of such funds. Nevertheless, experts told the seminar, less money will be raised for such syndicates this year than last year.

THE REASONS: the growing toughness of regulatory authorities, problems in the brokerage business and the fact oil drillers are finding it easier to raise money from other sources because of the high price of oil.

Oil and gas drilling syndicates that were not soundly conceived have had some big losses too, and Burke Wilsey, assistant to the Internal Revenue Commissioner, said people who put money in unsoundly organized oil and gas syndicates as tax shelters are finding out they're going to have to pay taxes after all on those $3,000 deductions they took for "intangible drilling costs."

But the mess in the real estate, cattle breeding, citrus farming and other tax shelter schemes now is of such proportions the New York Law Journal is sponsoring seminars next month in New York and Los Angeles to try to discover what recourse, if any, is open to investors who have been badly burned.

"TAX SHELTERS are encountering a series of woes scarcely dreamed of a few years ago," said Steve Glasser of the Law Journal. "The complaints range from claims the promoters didn't make adequate disclosure at the time of offering the participations for sale to plain disaster because the business in which the tax-shelter syndication engaged has gone completely to pot."

More than a dozen lawyers, government officials and accountants will discuss the morass and try to give some help to harassed investors on how to climb out of the quicksand. However, it's plain from the program the lawyers will be talking as much about the problems the failing shelters have created for them as about the losses their clients have suffered. The questions for discussion include "What is the obligation of lawyers and accountants in tax shelter cases?"

The kind of real estate tax shelter syndicates the experts will be talking about do not include the real estate investment trusts. Shareholders in the REITs have lost another $4 billion to $5 billion. These real estate syndication ventures include shopping center promotions, condominiums and public housing in which rich people invested money in a supposedly tax sheltered venture to help provide homes for the poor.

GLASSER SAID the disaster is not simply that the ventures aren't earning any profits to be sheltered. "In a number of cases," he said, "the IRS now is demanding payment of several years of back taxes on the investments in these shelters that already have been eroded."

Wilsey of the IRS confirmed this but he said it was not a result of the business shambles. He said the IRS has been making a closer study of tax shelters for the past two years. He said, "The trouble is that many of the promoters simply relied entirely on the opinions of their lawyers as to whether the ventures were entitled to a lawful tax shelter and now they find they weren't."

When that happens, the IRS gets a list of all who invested in the venture and duns everybody for back taxes.

Truly fine living in a home designed and built for you.

Conserve heat

The best way to conserve heating fuel, notes the National Better Heating-Cooling Council, is make your house as tight as possible. Caulk all windows and doors, and replace all loose shingles. Storm doors and windows, plus increased insulation will lower the heat loss considerably. At today's fuel prices, they will pay for themselves in a few years.

Husband, wife team join Kunkel Real Estate staff

Selling real estate is a family affair for the husband and wife team of Hugh and Sally Kelley, who recently joined Wm L.

Hugh Kelley

Kunkel Co., Realtors in Des Plaines according to Ralph H. Martin, president.

Both Hugh and Sally Kelley joined Kunkel's Residential Sales Division as Sales Associates.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelley had both worked with a local realty firm before coming to Kunkel Kelly was also an agent and supervisor for Trans World Air Lines at O'Hare International Airport and an agent for Chicago Helicopter at Midway Airport in Chicago before embarking on his real estate career.

A member of the Associate Committee of the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors since 1972, Kelley has also been active in the South Side Little League Baseball program in Des Plaines for the Room additions becoming popular

Add a pearl to a child's bracelet — add a room to an adult's home.

"Both bring instant pleasure," says Jackson W. Goss, president and chief executive officer of Investors Mortgage Insurance Company.

"The desire to purchase a roomy home complete with up-to-date amenities has for now been set aside as potential home buyers look for dwelling with less extras — adding their own special features as inclination and budget permits," Goss observes.

"And the nation's construction industry is presently discovering that the no-amenity, quick-to-build house may be an answer to the strong demand for housing."

"Further, the streamlined version is less expensive to construct. The result: a savings of both time and money to house shoppers who want to quickly settle in their house."

Goss predicts that "the luxury home offering every conceivable appurtenance may have to take a back seat to the trimmed down dwelling, as the building sector tries to supply sufficient housing to meet a demand backlog."

The no-amenity home can be just as comfortable as the deluxe model — It is simply devoid of fancy trappings. These can certainly be added later at the discretion of the buyer.

The "super-package" home, however — the one that comes complete with wall-to-wall carpeting, fully equipped laundry and utility rooms, custom-build cabinets and kitchens — will never leave the housing scene, Goss adds.

"But housing needs must be met — and cutting back somewhat on size and extras may be one important solution to providing adequate dwellings for Mr. and Mrs. America who want to buy a home of their own."

"Adding on a room — or embellishing the interior of a home — can truly be a rewarding experience for a family. Home improvement projects offer a chance to work together as a familial unit and the home itself automatically takes on a more personal air."

"The add-a-room concept may well be the housing industry's new pearl," Goss concludes.

Whisler named leasing agent

for the new Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors building under construction on South Arlington Heights Road in Arlington Heights. The announcement was made by N.W. Suburban Board President Virgil Grand. The new building will be the headquarters of the N.W. Suburban Board of Realtors and will include over 4,000 square feet of custom office space available for lease. Whisler is a director of the N.W. Suburban Board of Realtors. He is a CPM Certified Property Manager, GRI Graduate Realtors Institute, Illinois Assoc. of Realtors and a CCIM Certified Commercial and Investment Broker.

Larry Ryan gains honor

Larry Ryan, a realtor-associate in the Arlington Heights office of Rich Port, Realtor, was named Salesman of the Month for December, 1974.

This was the sixth month in 1974 that Ryan attained the honor. In addition, he participated in sales of more than $1 million during the year.

O'Hare Group elects officers

The O'Hare Group, Realtors for Business and Industry, elected their officers and board of directors for 1975 at a recent meeting held at the Camelot Restaurant in Elk Grove Village. The new officers for 1975 are: President Jack Whisler of Brian Properties, Inc.; Vice President Jim Abbey of McLennan Company; Treasurer John Kehe of Smith Pipenhagen.

The board of directors for 1975 are: William Warr, Sauter & Associates; Jim Gribble, Rich Port Realtors; Don Hager, O'Hare Real Estate Exchange; Mike Brundage, Continental Real Estate; Frank Kohnau, Wm. L. Kunkel & Co.; Gene Davis, Koenig & Strey Investment Properties.

The O'Hare Group was established in 1970 as an Association of Suburban Realtors specializing in the marketing of commercial, investment and industrial real estate. The Group's purpose is to provide a forum for the presentation of information concerning properties that club members are marketing and to exchange information concerning methods club members may use to better serve their clients' needs.

Once a month you'll love us all over again.

Writing your rent check is just one of the pleasures waiting for you at Moon Lake Village.

Another one is living in your apartment. And relishing the space, the comfort, the lush, wall to wall shag carpeting, the kitchen appliances.

Another is going outside. To your fresh, country atmosphere. To your private clubhouse. To your Olympic sized pool. To your tennis courts. To your playgrounds. To your well-stocked lake.

Another is knowing Woodfield Mall is just minutes away.

Moon Lake Village. You'd love it if it cost more. Because it doesn't, you'll be wild about it.

February exits with flurry of engagements

Lynn Ruth Koenig

Former Arlington Heights residents Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Koenig, now of Clearwater, Fla., are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Lynn Ruth, to Dennis Lauter, son of the Edward Lauters of Skokie. The wedding will be April 5.

Jan Dieter

A couple who graduated in 1973 from Wheeling High School are engaged and planning a Sept. 20 wedding. The bride-to-be is Jan Dieter, daughter of the Lawrence Dietlers of Buffalo Grove, and her fiancé is Joseph Bucalo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bucalo of Wheeling.

Jan works for Ekco Products, Wheeling, and also for J. C. Penney at Woodfield. Joe is with Standard Conveyor Co., Des Plaines.

Cynthia Taege

An April 5 wedding will unite Cynthia Elizabeth Taege of Arlington Heights and Douglas J. Bruce, son of the Bertrand B. Bruces of Glendale, Calif. Cynthia's parents, the Ralph O. Taeges, Arlington Heights, are announcing her engagement and approaching marriage.

A graduate of Arlington High School, Cynthia is with Honeywell, Inc., Arlington Heights. Her fiancé, who studied at Glendale College, is with American Airlines, O'Hare Field.

Linda Craig

Mr. and Mrs. James Craig of Palatine have announced the engagement of their daughter, Linda Ann, to Thomas D'Alton Thunder, son of the Ivan Thunders of Park Ridge. The wedding is set for Aug. 23.

Linda, a graduate of Palatine, will earn a degree from Northern Illinois University where her fiancé earned a degree in communicative disorders. In December he will receive a master's in audiology.

Donna Fournelle

A May 24 wedding is planned by Donna Fournelle and Mark Mannion, both of Arlington Heights. The Robert G. Fournelles are announcing their daughter's engagement and approaching marriage to the son of Mrs. Mary Mannion.

A '71 graduate of Arlington High, Donna is employed by Edie Adams Cut and Curl, Rolling Meadows, and Mark, a '71 graduate of St. Viator High, will graduate this spring from the Illinois Institute of Technology with a degree in physics.

Holly Smith

The Marvin Smiths, Hoffman Estates, announce the engagement of their daughter, Holly Barbara, to Rodney Alan Manos, son of the Harris P. Manoses, Elmhurst, N. Y. The wedding will be July 27, and the couple will live in Italy, where Rodney is stationed with the Navy.

A Conant High School graduate, Holly works in the credit department of Sears. Her fiancé attended Adams State College, Alamosa, Colo.

Baby foods

by MONICA WILCH PERIN

Homemade baby food is some mothers' answer to tight finances and the growing criticism of commercial baby foods.

The availability of home blenders makes it easy and practical for mothers to prepare portions of the family's regular fare for baby at a fraction of the cost of the commercial varieties and probably with nutritional pluses — if she knows her nutrition.

According to Beverly Schmidt, director of dietetics at Children's Memorial Hospital in Chicago, sugar and salt need never be added to baby food, despite their presence in the commercial varieties.

Mrs. Schmidt's staff prepares all the infant food served at the hospital, using a blender and fresh and canned fruits and vegetables.

While sugar and salt may be necessary nutrients, Mrs. Schmidt pointed out that both substances occur naturally and abundantly in food. Fresh fruits are rich in natural sweetness, while many vegetables — notably spinach — contain significant amounts of sodium, she said. Moreover, if one uses canned fruits or vegetables in preparing baby foods, sugar and salt have been added in the canning process.

Likewise, meat should not be salted, and other seasonings are out of the question, according to Mrs. Schmidt. Baby food is intended for the delicate palate of a baby — not for mother, or for some gourmet chef, she noted.

MRS. SCHMIDT RECOMMENDS that mothers simply puree or mash (depending on fineness of consistency desired) canned fruits and vegetables without adding anything. In the case of fresh fruits and vegetables, if they are not naturally soft (like bananas), they should be cooked in the smallest amount of water possible, drained, and pureed — again, without adding anything.

Strained meat is a little more difficult to prepare at home, but an older infant can eat meat that has been ground up with some broth, Mrs. Schmidt said.

She especially frowns on the commercial mixed foods because "you don't know exactly how much of each food the baby is getting." (The mixtures also are the worst offenders for containing water and seasonings.) But mothers may wish to create their own mixtures of fruit, vegetables and meat, or meat and fruit.

As for the commercial baby food desserts, Mrs. Schmidt and many other nutritionists consider them simply empty calories and therefore worthless. Sugar is a form of starch, or carbohydrate, and that nutrient is abundantly present in better forms in many other foods.

Mrs. Schmidt serves mostly fruit for dessert at the hospital, and, for toddlers and older children, she sometimes adds cookies, ice cream or gelatin to the menu.

BUT MRS. SCHMIDT cautioned against using sweets — even fruits — as a bribe to get infants or children to eat vegetables and meat. Those eating habits should be changed, instead, she said. In fact, she said, some doctors now reject the practice of starting infants on fruits and cereals as their first solid foods because it may create a dependence on sweets and an unwillingness to eat vegetables and meats later on.

There are some foods that Mrs. Schmidt does not recommend using in preparing baby food: celery is too stringy; cauliflower, cabbage, onions and corn are difficult to puree and tend to produce gas. While corn is produced commercially, and mothers could puree canned cream-style corn, Mrs. Schmidt said "it's starchy — high in calories." But, she added, mothers should ask their pediatricians what foods to use, when, and in what amounts.

If commercial baby food manufacturers offer a wide variety of foods, the supermarket offers the same items fresh, canned or frozen year-round at far less cost per ounce. And, if you have a blender and freezer, you can easily make up batches of baby food that truly contain "whole-some, nutritious ingredients," and nothing else.

LITTLE ROBBY FROST of Elk Grove Village will eat just about anything. But high prices and ingredients like water and sugar make commercial baby food a questionable value. A blender is all you need to make your own. Fresh, canned or frozen supermarket foods are easy to puree.

Commercial varieties unnecessary?

by MONICA WILCH PERIN

Commercial baby foods were recently criticized as unnecessary, too expensive, and a possible cause of bad eating habits.

The report was prepared by the Center for Science in the Public Interest, a Washington-based group, in cooperation with the Citizen's Committee on Infant Nutrition. It was accompanied by a petition signed by 58 Congressmen urging the Food and Drug Administration to require ingredients to be listed by percentage on the labels of baby food.

The charges echoed findings by a Johns Hopkins research study last year citing early use of baby food as a cause of obesity, due to excessive nutrients. A professor of pediatrics at George Washington University Medical School said at that time that baby foods contain too many carbohydrates.

THE MOST RECENT report termed sugar, starch, salt, spices and preservatives unnecessary ingredients in baby food. It especially criticized the use of sugar in many baby foods, allegedly to take advantage of infants' preference for sweets.

Gerber Products of Fremont, Mich., a leading manufacturer of baby foods, said the study "does not merit a formal response."

In a promotional brochure Gerber discusses ingredients: "All ingredients . . . fall into two general groups. First, the foods themselves; vegetables, meats, milk, fruits and grains . . . The second group might be looked upon as the 'supporting' ingredients. These include nutritional supplements, functional ingredients and seasonings . . . starch . . . sugar . . . salt . . ."

BUT A HERALD survey of baby foods on a local supermarket shelf disclosed that 60 per cent of the Gerber junior food varieties displayed listed water first, and 50 per cent strained foods listed water first. Nearly 60 per cent of Heinz strained foods listed water first. Nearly all of the baby foods listed either sugar or salt or both, often high on the list.

According to a spokeswoman for the public interest group, ingredients are listed in order of predominance. But she said the group wants percentages listed as well because they found that when food ingredients are listed first, the amount might be only a fraction greater than the next non-food ingredient. And additives listed at the end might be only slightly less in quantity than food ingredients.

HERE ARE SOME examples of commercial baby food labels:

Gerber corn — water, corn, starch, modified milk solids, sugar, salt.

Gerber mixed vegetables — water, carrots, tomato puree, wheat flour, oat flour, potato solids, salt, onion powder, celery extract.

Heinz vegetables, dumplings, and beef — water, tomato, beef, starch, wheat flour, carrots, sugar, split peas, eggs, dehydrated potato, salt, onion flavoring, yeast, vegetable protein, extract of celery, pepper, bay leaves, paprika, garlic flavoring, turmeric.

Heinz custard pudding — water, sugar, cream, milk solids, rice flour, egg yolks, starch, salt, vanilla.

Government asked to help childless

by PATRICIA MCCORMACK

Many childless couples hoping to make a date with the stork need help.

They add up to a big problem. But the scope of their problem — infertility — isn't very visible. Husbands and wives in this fix don't talk about it.

There are an estimated 12 million infertile persons in America. It works out to a ratio of one in every seven married couples. Many want at least one child.

The points were made in an interview with Dr. Albert Decker.

"There should be no involuntary childless couples in America," he said.

Dr. Decker is director of the New York Fertility Research Foundation, said to be the only out-of-hospital, nonprofit facility in the country where infertility is researched and treated exclusively.

HE IS HEAD of a movement through the foundation to have infertility services established in major cities so millions of couples needing help will find it readily available.

"Many men and women involved have feelings of guilt and inadequacy over their barrenness," Dr. Decker said. "Couples do not speak out, ask for attention or sympathy and generally do not advertise what they feel are their shortcomings."

"Only when couples come for examination and possible treatment are the problems brought out into the open."

Such couples are coming in ever-increasing numbers and, according to Dr. Decker, taxing facilities and staff of the foundation.

"Twice as many new patient couples are seeking aid for infertility problems as in previous years and they come from all over the United States — and many foreign countries."

COMPOUNDING THE problem for childless couples is the scarcity of babies to be adopted. This is due to wide use of the pill and other birth control methods, legalized abortion, the fact that unwed mothers often keep their babies these days. There is less social stigma to being a single parent these days.

At the foundation, couples with two children are not accepted unless the present partner has not borne or fathered one of the children. Couples are denied treatment if they can't support children.

The same for couples who want to use parenthood to hold their marriage together.

Research contributes to the foundation's program of comprehensive help for the childless. Varied specialties are combined to explore complexities of infertility. These include: genetics research, immunology studies, experiments in sex differentiation, advances in sperm pooling and freezing techniques for men with low sperm counts. There also are findings from staff gynecologists and urologists.

A BILL BEFORE Congress to elicit support for the childless was introduced in January by Rep. Edward L. Koch of New York and Rep. Tim Lee Carter of Kentucky. In remarks the two told Congress they believe "the right to have a baby" in the United States has been largely overlooked.

The proposed federal legislation aims to provide fellowships and establish research programs in fertility, sterility and the reproductive process. It seeks also funds to set up specialized treatment centers for infertility diagnosis and treatment.

What about the population "bomb"?

Dr. Decker noted that the National Center for Health Statistics reports birth and fertility rates have reached a new low. The "replacement level" of 2.1 children dropped to 1.9 per family last year.

"There is slight danger of overpopulation in America if infertile couples are helped," Dr. Decker said.

DR. CHARLES WESTHOFF, professor of demographic studies at Princeton University and former head of the U.S. Commission on Population, has made points in accord with Dr. Decker's about overpopulation.

He has noted the trend in the U.S. for fewer children and a greater use of birth control methods and abortion by those in childbearing years.

"In demographic terms," Dr. Westhoff has said, "the elimination of unwanted fertility toward which we are moving would actually drive the rate of population growth down even further so that efforts toward eliminating problems of infertility would certainly not have any enormous undesirable demographic consequences."

Illinois Senate expected to vote on ERA Tuesday

The Equal Rights Amendment is expected to be voted on for the second time in the Illinois Senate.

It would be the first legislative action on the resolution since a federal court ruled that an Illinois Constitutional provision requiring a three-fifths majority vote on amendments to the U. S. Constitution is invalid.

The court refused to rule ERA already ratified on the basis of simple majority votes in favor of it during the 78th General Assembly.

But proponents are hopeful that the new leadership in this session of the General Assembly will rule a simple majority adequate to pass the amendment this time around.

ACCORDING TO Eugenia Chapman, D-Arlington Heights, "Many of the legislators who voted for the extraordinary majority rule in the last session believed that the Illinois Constitution required it."

But the rule was only a temporary one and thus will be reconsidered by this General Assembly. Mrs. Chapman and other ERA supporters believe a majority of legislators will vote against the three-fifths requirement now that the court has said it is not binding.

All of that will be hashed out during the next two or three weeks in the House Rules Committee and then voted on by the full House, Mrs. Chapman said.

She said a House vote on ERA would not come until at least the end of March, and added that "we can hold the resolution on the calendar until we're ready to vote. It will be important to us to have rules that don't give greater weight to the votes of legislators opposing the amendment."

BOTH THE HOUSE and Senate in the last session had Republican presiding officers; both houses now are presided over by Democrats, a factor ERA supporters count in their favor. They also point to the votes last year — 95 in favor of ERA in the House and 30 in the Senate. A simple majority is 59 in the House and 30 in the Senate.

Moreover, in the last election a number of ERA opponents did not run or were defeated, while many new legislators expressed support for ERA in their campaigns, say proponents.

But other observers caution that the amendment could still have rough going, due to a lull in momentum and changes of heart by some legislators.

Four other states have rejected ERA in close succession in recent weeks. Four states are still needed to ratify the measure.

Court rules out 'home office' claim

From Herald wire services
A recent court ruling may have ended a tax break enjoyed by some professionals — the practice of charging off "home office" expenses on income tax returns.

The case involved a lawyer for the Internal Revenue Service who deducted $100 of his $2,100 yearly apartment rent because, he said, he worked there occasionally in his off-time.

An appeals court said the cost of incidental business carried on somewhere other than a person's main place of business is not deductible so far as rent goes.

The court also ruled that the lawyer's regular office always was available to him at the times he worked at home and that reading and otherwise working at home was simply a part of his job.

The lawyer involved has decided not to appeal, so the precedent may be established.

A tax research group said persons claiming a home office expense deduction should be able to prove the work at home is required — not just a preference — and that their regular office is not available to them in the evening or on weekends.

COSMETIC ingredients will be listed like food ingredients, starting March 1976.

A new law required manufacturers to

by Monica Wilch Perin

provide the information on product labels or, if the package is too small, on an attached card or tag. Ingredients will be listed, as they are on many food products, prominently and conspicuously and in decreased order of predominance.

All will be listed by standardized names, except for flavors and fragrances.

THE FOOD AND DRUG Administration has issued a proposal to require nutrition labeling for fresh fruits and vegetables whenever nutrition claims are made at the point of sale.

For example, if packaged fruits or vegetables claim nutritional value on their labels, the label would have to conform to FDA requirements for any other food label. If produce is sold unpackaged and a sign claims nutritional value, then the sign must give full nutritional information.

The proposal was prompted on the grounds that the nutritional value of fresh produce depends on the particular growing area, as well as shipment and handling, according to FDA Commissioner Alexander Schmidt.

The FDA will be accepting comments on the proposal from any interested parties for the next two months, after which the agency will begin the decision-making process.

THE FOOD AND DRUG Administration will soon propose that pregnant women be warned of possible risks from drugs routinely prescribed before and during childbirth.

J. Richard Crout, head of the FDA's Bureau of Drugs, said there has been a "great societal neglect" of obstetrical practices, and the nation's infant death rate, low by world standards but one of the highest of the Western nations, "may well arise from that neglect."

Crout said the agency would soon propose stronger warnings on information provided with obstetrical drugs, so doctors and patients will better realize the risks.

The drugs now in question include anesthetics and muscle relaxers, most of them in common use for years.

Coffee in Palatine

Palatine Newcomers club will hold its second coffee of the new year to acquaint newcomers in the area with the club's activities.

A morning coffee next Wednesday at 10 o'clock will be hosted by Mrs. William Nelson, 914 E. Sayles, and an evening one at 8 takes place at Mrs. Robert Shearer's home, 888 E. Shilra Dr.

All new women residents are invited. Mrs. William Nelson 991-2557 is taking reservations.

Bake and boutique

Arlington Heights Branch of the Summit School Auxiliary will hold a bake and boutique sale Saturday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. in Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan.

Proceeds will aid the new Summit School in Arlington Heights which serves children with learning problems.

"Footwear Made for Last"

Starting seeds in soil out-of-date

If "Groundhog Spring" nudges your green thumb into such activities as starting seeds, you must go to it. When I get that feeling to do a little gardening work, I lie down and wait until the feeling passes.

However, warm (at least over 45 degrees!) sunny mornings seem to be the chief instigator of such folly, and sooner or later we all get out the seed catalogs and start thinking in terms of spring — can you believe Easter is just four weeks away?

People who start seeds indoors are gluttons for trouble, to my way of thinking. We lay ourselves open to mildew, damp-off, mess, clutter, surly spouses who nag about all the dirt on the living room rug when the pots topple over, and worst of all, depression. Depression is the result of something not germinating and the ensuing pangs of failure and frustration.

But does that stop us? Not so long as there is a punch-and-grow handy for a second go at it!

IF YOU'RE STARTING seeds this year, allow me to mention that germinating in soil is passe — out-of-date by about five years, at least. No professionals start seed in soil anymore, and few good home gardeners do either.

People today use "sowing mix," either commercial products like "Pro-Mix" available at nurseries or garden centers, or they make their own by combining equal parts of vermiculite, perlite and dust-free sphagnum moss, or use any of the three singly, without combining them.

"Jiffy-Sevens" and "One-Steps" are compressed peat pellets, encased in a hairnet-like covering, that expand when water is added. These peat pellet products have revolutionized the plant industry. They are a terrific innovation because they allow the gardener to plant a seed right in them, and when the seedling is ready for transplanting outdoors, there is no danger of transplant shock. Peat pellets also eliminate the mess, bother and expense of pots, potting mix, drainage material, etc.

PEAT PELLETS AND sowing mix have an advantage over just plain soil for starting seeds, in that the former is free of worms, weeds, insect eggs, harmful fungi. They're sterile, odorless and establish root quickly and firmly. The threat of that fungal "bugaboo," damp-off — which causes seedlings to wilt and die — is virtually eliminated.

(Incidentally, the attack of damp-off is at soil level, and crowding, excessive moisture, poor ventilation and too much shade help the disease spread. My best results in fighting damp-off when I used soil was misting with milk instead of water.)

Cover newly-sown seeds with plastic to hold in the humidity until the seeds germinate, but don't let the plastic rest on the surface of the soil (sowing mix). Prop up the plastic. Seeds are best sown between March 1 and March 15, so they will be ready to set outdoors when danger of frost is past.

Next week: More tips to help your germinating efforts succeed!

Clean condenser aids refriger

Dear Dorothy: I keep hearing that it's smart to keep the condenser of a refrigerator clean — that the motor operates better and the box lasts longer. But where is it in a refrigerator? — Christy Maartens

There is no standard place and so it depends on the make you have. Your instruction book should tell you. Hope it's in front, like ours. I use a stiff brush on it. But there are some makes where it's no way, unless you have an engineer in the family. While you're at this, look to see where the drain is. Drains get clogged easily and it's simple to take care of if only you know where it is. The clogging can cause extra trouble. Water can seep on the floor and loosen tiles. Keeping house is a never-ending battle,

The homeline

by Dorothy Ritz

that's for sure.

Dear Dorothy: Someone asked you about the use of potato starch. It called to mind a time aboard the USS Gull in World War II on which I was supply officer. We ran short of yeast. It presented quite a problem as we had to bake bread for a ship's company of more than 2,000. Told the chief commissary steward that my grandmother had made yeast out of potatoes. I don't know what he did, but he got busy with potatoes and we were never without bread. Maybe you can supply the know-how on making yeast out of potatoes. — Wm. H. Parsons, Capt. SC, USNR, Ret.

As I said, I haven't the faintest idea. But I'm sure we have countless descendants of the pioneers, plus some people with innovative minds. All suggestions on this one warmly welcomed.

Dear Dorothy: If you sprinkle borax along the floor baseboard, you will not have roaches. — Mrs. Kenneth Spaulding

You're right, but it isn't a good idea if there are children and pets around. It's supposed to be highly effective and not dangerous if put away under stoves or refrigerators.

(Mrs. Ritz welcomes questions and hints. If a personal reply is required, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Write to her in care of Suburban Living, Paddock Publications, Box 280, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60006.)

Stocks reverse downward trend; Dow gains 8.92

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market scored its first gain in three days Wednesday on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which had lost 30.59 points in the previous two sessions, gained 8.92 to 728.10. It had been off more than a point at the outset.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index rose .84 to 80.37. The average price of a NYSE common share increased by 25 cents. Advances overtook declines, 854 to 554, among the 1,784 issues crossing the tape.

Volume totaled 18,790,000 shares, compared with 20,910,000 traded Tuesday.

SPECULATION continued to circulate on Wall Street that the Federal Reserve Board, under pressure to pump more money into the nation's system to overcome the recession, might lower its discount rate again.

Meanwhile, the Ford administration continued to push for its energy and tax-cut programs, while the Treasury Dept. was reporting a $3.91 billion January deficit.

Glamors and blue chips generally led the recovery, joined by some individual stocks that benefited from corporate news developments.

Ryder System led the Big Board actives, up 5/8 to 4 7/8 on 445,800 shares, including a block of 256,000 shares at 4 3/8. The stock had a block of 1,184,900 shares traded Tuesday.

Aetna Life was second on the active list, off 5/8 to 21 on 292,300 shares. International Telephone & Telegraph followed, off 1/8 to 17 1/4 on 239,800 shares. ITT lost out on a government contract for an aircraft-landing guidance system.

PRICES CLOSED higher in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange. The average price of an Amex share gained 8 cents. Volume totaled 2,215,000 shares, compared with 1,550,000 traded Tuesday.

On the Chicago Board Options Exchange, 39,352 contracts were traded, compared with 42,162 Tuesday. IBM April 220s led the actives, up 1 1/8 to 9 1/4. Polaroid April 20s followed, up 1/4 to 3 1/4. Xerox April 80s were third, unchanged at 3 1/4.

Hoffman Estates undertaking blamed

Wille Hardware files for reorganization

Wille Hardware stores, with locations in Mount Prospect and Hoffman Estates, Friday filed for reorganization of assets under Chapter 11 of the U.S. Bankruptcy Statute.

Chapter 11 provisions allow a business to defer or reduce debt through a court-supervised agreement worked out with creditors.

Gerald Munitz, attorney representing Wille, said the firm's assets are estimated at $2.3 million and that liabilities exceed assets by about $100,000. "It's quite close," he added.

Munitz said the company's financial troubles are attributable to the Hoffman Estates store opened April 1974 in the Hoffman Plaza shopping center. The store was opened in the worst economic times since the 1930s, he said.

Munitz said chances are "excellent" that an agreement for reorganization will be worked out with a committee of creditors because Wille is a long-time family business with a good reputation.

The main issue to be decided is whether to close the Hoffman Estates store, he said, adding that the first meeting with creditors should take place in about one month and an arrangement should be completed in four or five months.

Wille stores are operated by four brothers — Bill, Roy, Ralph and Robert — who expanded their operation from the Mount Prospect location at 100 W. Northwest Hwy. Hardware, lumber, sporting goods and housewares are handled at the locations.

More train service asked to serve cities in Midwest

Illinois briefs

Passenger service from Chicago to several major cities throughout the Midwest and East Coast may be expanded if the federal government adopts a plan suggested Wednesday by the U.S. Railway Assn.

In its report, the association recommended expansion of service from Chicago to Milwaukee, St. Louis, Detroit and Cincinnati and the possibility of auto-train service from Chicago to Harrisburg, Pa.

The Conrail Plan, designed to save railroads and identify areas of potential federal support, said the Chicago runs to Milwaukee, St. Louis and Detroit should be expanded to four round trips per day and to two round trips to Cincinnati. The plan recommended that if the auto-train system was successful, a second auto-train service should be started between Chicago and Albany.

Another priority, according to the plan, is the rehabilitation of the main line from St. Louis to Indianapolis by way of Effingham. Another main line to receive assistance under the plan is the route from Chicago to Toledo.

The two-volume, 820-page report included recommendations that intermodal facilities be expanded substantially at the 47th Street Yard in Chicago as well as the yard in East St. Louis.

Several lines operated by the Penn Central R.R. in Illinois were recommended for inclusion in the Conrail plan. Most of these lines are in southern and central Illinois.

Aid for private schools?

A massive increase in state aid for private colleges and universities to keep them from closing and driving public school costs up was recommended Wednesday by a legislative panel.

The state should earmark $24.8 million next year for the nonpublic colleges, according to a subcommittee of the House Higher Education Committee. The $18.8 million increase from the $6 million the private schools have been receiving from the state since 1972 would help them fight inflation, the panel said.

The subcommittee said private schools are caught up in a "vicious cycle." Increased costs necessitate increased tuition fees, which in turn result in decreased enrollments. The burden, according to the subcommittee, is felt by the public schools, which take in the new students.

Illinois now has 88 private colleges with more than 100,000 students. Since 1970, seven private schools enrolling nearly 1,300 students have closed their doors.

The subcommittee also urged that private colleges get a fixed percentage of the higher education dollar each year and that the Illinois State Scholarship Commission increase its maximum tuition payment.

Teen seized in rape

Vernard McGill, 19, an X-ray clerk at Rush-Presbyterian-St. Luke's Medical Center in Chicago, has been charged with raping a 22-year woman in a hospital waiting room.

Chicago police said McGill was identified by the woman and a 15-year-old girl who was with her at the time of the rape. The two were spending the night in the waiting room and were alone when the incident took place.

McGill was arrested Tuesday night. He also was charged with taking indecent liberties with the girl.

SIU in oil business?

Southern Illinois at Carbondale may lease 900 acres it owns southwest of school to a Texas firm for oil exploration.

A campus advisory group said the university should begin negotiations with APCO, which approached the university last fall for oil leases on the land. The university said the firm offered to lease the property for $5 an acre the first year and $1 an acre thereafter and offered royalties of three-sixteenths of well-head production.

SMACKING GOOD SNACKS

no need to sacrifice vitamins and minerals to satisfy kids' taste

Where do those children get all that energy?

Children at play never cease to amaze grown-ups. The constant activity, so typical in young people is fueled by foods they eat — at mealtime or as snacks.

Whether after school, Saturday's game or while awaiting the next meal, snacks are a must for most youngsters and other members of the family too. Snacking has become so popular with many people that 3-square meals are often replaced by four or five mini-meals. The growing prevalence of this lifestyle means that more emphasis must be placed on choosing nutritious snacks.

You can enjoy a treat once in a while, but not at the expense of getting your daily requirements of needed nutrients. Snacks should carry their weight in food value.

Children like foods that are easy to eat with a spoon or in-hand, are served in small size portions, are mildly seasoned and are colorful. Most moms prefer snacks that are quick to prepare on a moment's notice or are simple enough for the children to make themselves. In today's world, they also must be economical. The following snack recipes have low cost in mind. They omit expensive ingredients yet are nutritious foods that are fun to eat.

BAKED WHOLE WHEAT CINNAMON DOUGHNUTS

Doughnuts

- | | |
|--|-------------------------------|
| 3 1/2 cups flour | 3 eggs, beaten |
| 1/2 cup granulated sugar | 1/4 cup milk |
| 3 teaspoons baking powder | 2 teaspoons vanilla |
| 1 teaspoon salt | |
| 1/4 cup (packed) light brown sugar | |
| 1/2 cup instant hot whole wheat cereal, uncooked | Cinnamon Sugar Coating |
| 1/2 cup shortening, melted and cooled | 1/2 cup granulated sugar |
| | 1/2 to 3/4 teaspoon cinnamon |
| | 1/3 cup margarine, melted |

Prepare doughnuts. Sift together flour, granulated sugar, baking powder and salt in mixing bowl. Stir in brown sugar and cereal. Add shortening, eggs, milk and vanilla; stir until moistened. Press down into a ball and roll out on lightly floured board to 1/2 inch thickness. Cut with floured doughnut cutter. Place on greased baking sheet 1 inch apart. Bake in 400 degree oven until lightly browned, 12 to 15 minutes. Meanwhile, combine sugar and cinnamon. Brush warm doughnuts with margarine and roll in cinnamon sugar. If desired, unbaked doughnuts may be covered and chilled in refrigerator 1 1/2 hours or overnight and then baked. Or unsugared baked doughnuts may be frozen. To heat, brush with melted butter or margarine and arrange in heavy skillet and cover. Place over very low heat to warm, 12 to 15 minutes. Then brush with melted margarine and roll in cinnamon sugar. Yield: 20 to 22 doughnuts.

MOLASSES OAT BREAD

|-------------------------------------|---|
| 1/2 cup margarine | 1/2 cup warm water |
| 1/4 cup (packed) light brown sugar | (105-115 degrees) |
| 1/4 cup light molasses | 2 eggs, beaten |
| 2 teaspoons salt | 5 to 5 1/2 cups flour |
| 1 cup milk, scalded | 2 cups uncooked rolled oats, regular or quick |
| 2 1/4-oz. packages active dry yeast | Water |
| | Additional rolled oats |

Combine margarine, brown sugar, molasses and salt in large mixing bowl. Add milk; stir until margarine is melted. Cool to lukewarm. Soften yeast in warm water. Add to milk mixture. Stir in eggs, 2 cups flour and rolled oats. Add flour as needed to make soft dough. Turn out onto lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic. Place in greased bowl; turn once to grease top. Cover and let rise in draft-free place until double in size. Punch down, let rest 10 minutes. Divide into two equal portions. Shape each into a loaf 9 inches long. Brush each loaf with water and roll in additional rolled oats. Place in greased 9x5x3-inch loaf pan. Let rise in warm area until double in size. Bake in 350 degree oven about 50 minutes. Yield: 2 loaves.

FRUIT GELATIN and CEREAL SNACK

| 4 cups high protein cereal |
| 2 cups chilled fruit flavored gelatin cubes |

Combine 1 cup cereal with 1/2 cup gelatin cubes in each serving dish, spooning a small amount of cereal and gelatin into dish at a time. Serve with spiced milk.

Yield: 4 servings.

- | | |
|-------------------|--------------------------------|
| 3 cups milk | 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon |
| 1/4 cup sugar | 1/2 teaspoon vanilla, optional |
| 1 teaspoon nutmeg | |

Combine ingredients, beat with rotary beater or whiz in the blender until well mixed. Stir just before pouring over cereal. Yield: About 3 cups, enough for 4 to 6 cereal servings.

OAT PEANUT COOKIES

- | | |
|------------------------------------|---|
| 1 cup flour | 1 egg |
| 1/2 teaspoon baking soda | 2 tablespoons milk |
| 1/2 teaspoon salt | 1 teaspoon vanilla |
| 1/2 cup shortening | 1 1/2 cups uncooked rolled oats, quick or regular |
| 1/2 cup (packed) light brown sugar | 1 cup chopped salted peanuts |
| 1/2 cup granulated sugar | |

Sift together flour, soda and salt into mixer bowl. Add shortening, sugars, egg, milk and vanilla. Beat with mixer at low speed until smooth, about 2 minutes. Stir in oats and peanuts. Drop by level tablespoonfuls onto greased baking sheet. Bake in 375 degree oven until lightly browned, about 10 minutes. Yield: About 4 dozen.

BRAN FLAKE MINCEMEAT COOKIES

- | | |
|---------------------------------|--|
| 2 cups flour | 2 eggs |
| 1/2 teaspoon baking soda | 1 package (9 ounce) condensed mincemeat, finely crumbled |
| 1/2 teaspoon salt | 1/4 cup milk |
| 1/2 cup shortening or margarine | 2 cups 40% bran flakes |
| 1 cup sugar | |

Sift together flour, soda and salt. Cream shortening, sugar and eggs until light and fluffy. Beat in mincemeat. Add dry ingredients and milk alternately, mixing well. Stir in flakes. Drop by tablespoonfuls onto lightly greased baking sheets. Bake in 350 degree oven until lightly browned, about 12 minutes. Yield: About 5 dozen cookies.

CEREAL BALLS

|--|
| 1 cup creamy or chunky style peanut butter |
| 3/4 cup honey |
| 2 cups non-fat dry milk |
| 1 to 1 1/4 cups 40% bran flakes |

Combine peanut butter and honey, mix well. Add dry milk gradually and mix well. Shape mixture, 1 tablespoonful at a time, into a ball and roll in bran flakes. Repeat process until all peanut butter mixture is used. Arrange on tray, cover and refrigerate. Yield: About 3 dozen.

Nothin' says lovin' like

by LOIS SEILER

Almost every Saturday, Harriet Schune of Hoffman Estates can be found in her kitchen preparing homemade goodies. Before starting to work full-time a year ago, Harriet baked frequently during the week, making all of the family's bread. Now she utilizes a part of every weekend for this purpose, frequently baking her specialty—yeast rolls.

A favorite for the past 10 years, the dough is easy to make and requires a mere minute of kneading. Harriet always doubles the recipe, making half dinner rolls and half cinnamon rolls. After the dough is rolled out, her daughters Mary, 9, and Peg, 7, often help form it into rolls.

She has never had a failure with this recipe, as the rolls are always light in texture and appealing to taste. The crescents are delicious with any type of dinner, while the cinnamon rolls complement baked ham or turkey. The family loves them for Sunday breakfast with scrambled eggs. Both types freeze beautifully and taste freshly baked when reheated.

IF THE FREEZER supply is depleted, Harriet relies on a quickie recipe for buttermilk muffins. "This is ideal for working mothers. You can have hot, homemade rolls on the table in no time at all," she said.

The dry ingredients are sifted into a bowl, the liquid ingredients added all at once, and the batter stirred briefly with a fork. The muffins require only a short baking time. Buttermilk gives them a light, moist texture, and they are delicious with soups or stews.

Harriet credits her enjoyment of cooking and baking to her husband, Ron, who appreciates all her efforts and is willing to try anything. One of her desserts that pleases him most is an elegant Banana Upside-Down Cake.

THIS UNIQUE CAKE is made in a tube pan. A brown sugar-butter mixture covers the bottom, along with sliced bananas and a few maraschino cherries for color. The banana-flavored buttermilk batter is poured over this, and the cake baked for 50 minutes. Unmolded upside-down, the cake has a pretty caramelized effect on top with the bananas and cherries adding interest. Moist and rich with a distinct banana flavor, it may be served with a dollop of whipped cream, if desired. Men especially find this cake appealing, and it may be served as a dinner dessert or for late evening refreshments.

Complementing Harriet's interest in cooking is her hobby of gardening. She cans and freezes much of her home-grown produce. She also enjoys knitting, sewing and playing the piano.

Coupons get buyers' OK

Increasing food prices are making coupon clippers out of an increasing number of American shoppers.

The use of coupons has increased by one-third this past year. Pull-off box tops, mall, magazines, store circulars and newspaper advertisements are favorite sources of cents-off coupons.

Others save cash refund coupons from newspapers, mail or pads attached to store grocery store shelves and send both the coupon and proof of purchase for the refund.

Couponing is also becoming a more popular form of promotion. A. C. Nielson Co. reports that couponing has increased 67 per cent in the past five years. Paperbacks are now available to give the consumer information on companies offering special coupons.

TO MAKE COUPON clipping payoff, the consumer must be a wise shopper. Companies many times offer coupons as a sales promotion for a new product, with the new product, even with the coupon discount, more costly than a more familiar brand. Your savings will dissolve if coupons are used to buy unnecessary items.

At the current rate of manufacturer's promotions, coupon clippers may save several dollars every week. Saving and redeeming coupons can help cut your food grocery bill only if they are used to buy items you would ordinarily buy and if you have the time and are willing to make the effort.

Tips on freezing

The whipped cream purchased for special guests and not used can be sweetened, whipped and frozen in dollops on wax paper. Store frozen dollops in freezer container for use within six to eight weeks.

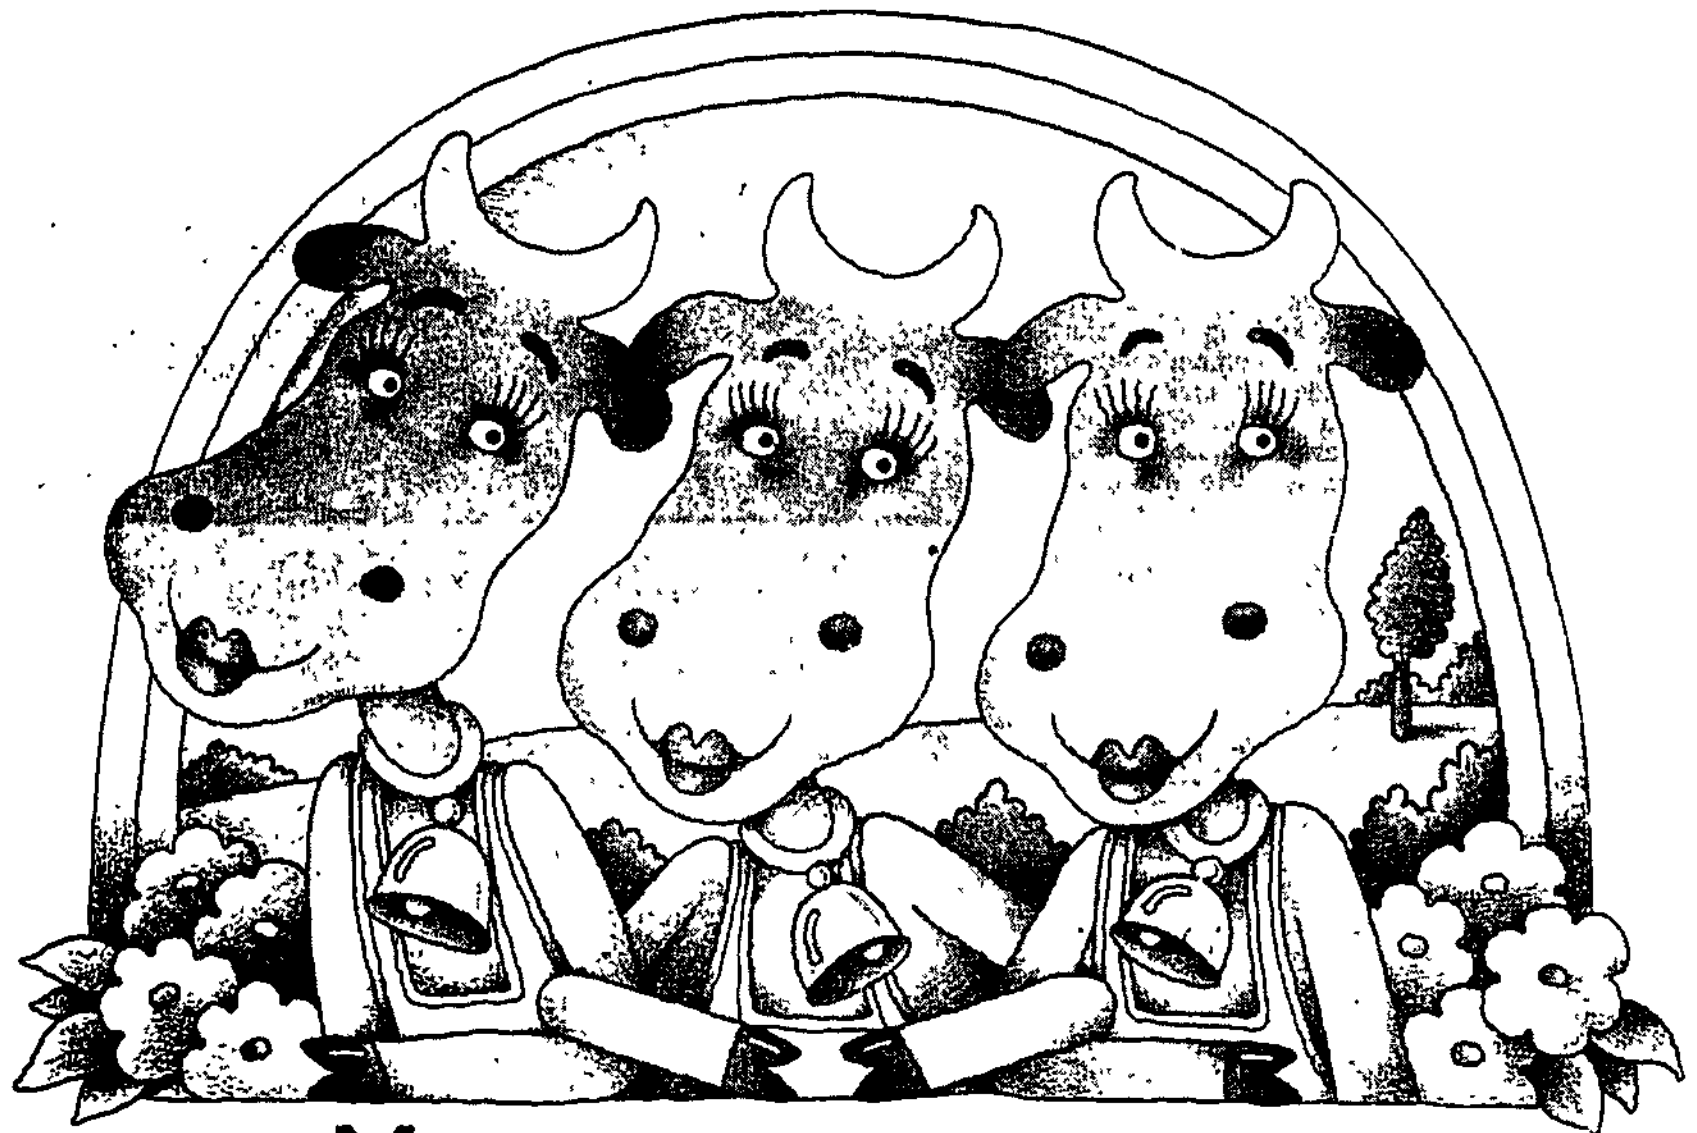

Chopped onion, green pepper or parsley can be wrapped in recipe portions of two or three tablespoons then stored in freezer container for use in casseroles, skillet meals, etc. within six to eight weeks.

Keep track of garlic

Stick a toothpick in a clove of garlic meant for cooking with a dish of food. Once the cooking is over you'll be able to find the clove easily for removal.

Don't be fooled by bread

A large loaf of bread does not always weigh more or contain more food value than a small loaf. Compare prices of equal weights of bread to find the better buy. A good rule of thumb is to check the one-pound loaf as shown on the wrapper with a comparable brand name bread.

May we present our Mun-chee herd... the ladies who bring you something livelier than American cheese. And 15¢ to try it.

There's only one place you can find our Mun-chee herd, and that's in Wisconsin. These are proud animals, and justifiably so, for Mun-chee is special indeed.

It has an uncommonly good flavor: a little milder than Muenster, a little wilder than American.

Make creamy smooth Mun-chee your secret ingredient for sandwiches, snacks and special cheese toppings.

As available in the dairy case and the delicatessen section.

Those Mun-chee ladies do nice work.

ter, sugar and salt, stirring until butter is melted. Add beaten eggs. Dissolve yeast in warm water and stir into above mixture. Add 4½ cups flour all at once and stir in. Add enough remaining flour until dough is just stiff enough to work with. The dough will be soft and a bit sticky. Turn onto floured board and knead lightly, about one minute until dough is a nice, smooth ball. Place in a greased bowl and lightly grease top of dough. Cover with tea towel and let rise two hours, until double in bulk.

To make dinner rolls, divide dough into thirds. Roll each third out on a lightly-floured surface to a 9-inch circle. Cut each circle into 12 pie-shaped wedges. Roll each triangle, starting with the wide end to the point. Tuck end under and place on greased baking sheet. Brush lightly with melted butter. Cover and let rise until light, one to 1½ hours. Bake at 375 degrees for 12 to 15 minutes until golden brown. Yield: 3 dozen rolls.

When cool, the rolls may be wrapped in foil and frozen. To serve, heat frozen rolls in foil wrapper until warm.

To make cinnamon rolls, proceed as above. After dough has risen, divide in half and roll each half into an 8 by 12-inch rectangle, about three-eighths inch thick. Brush with melted butter. Combine the following:

½ cup chopped walnuts
¾ cup brown sugar
1½ teaspoons cinnamon
Sprinkle half of the cinnamon-sugar mixture over each half of the dough. Roll each rectangle up jelly-roll fashion. Pinch edges together. With a sharp knife, cut them in three-quarter to 1-inch slices. Place on greased pie plates so that rolls are about 1½-inch apart. Cover and let rise about 1½ hours. Bake at 375 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes. Prepare the following frosting:

1 cup confectioners' sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
Water

Combine sugar, vanilla and enough water to make frosting of spreading consistency. Spread on rolls with a pastry brush. Yield: 3 dozen cinnamon rolls.

The rolls will spread and meld together while baking. The whole circle of rolls can be removed from the pan and frozen together, if desired. freeze in foil; reheat in foil package until warm.

BUTTERMILK MUFFINS

2 cups sifted flour
½ cup granulated sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup buttermilk

1/3 cup salad oil or melted shortening
1 slightly-beaten egg
Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Grease 14 muffin cups about 2½-inches in diameter.

Sift dry ingredients together into a large bowl. Put buttermilk into a two-cup measure or bowl. Add oil and egg and beat with a fork to mix well.

Make a well in the flour mixture and add oil-buttermilk mixture all at once. Stir with a fork just until flour disappears; batter will be lumpy.

Fill muffin cups just slightly more than half full. Bake at 400 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes until golden brown. Test with toothpick.

BANANA UPSIDE-DOWN CAKE

Topping:
1/3 cup butter, softened
1 cup brown sugar
1 banana, sliced
4 to 5 maraschino cherries
Mix butter and brown sugar together with a fork. Spread in the bottom of a 9-inch tube pan. Arrange banana slices over this and decorate with maraschino cherries.

Batter:
1½ cups flour
¼ teaspoon baking powder
¾ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup mashed bananas
½ cup buttermilk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/3 cup vegetable shortening
1½ cups granulated sugar
2 beaten eggs

Sift together flour, baking powder, soda and salt. Set aside.

Combine mashed bananas with buttermilk and vanilla. Set aside. Cream together shortening and sugar. Beat in eggs. Add banana-buttermilk mixture alternately with sifted dry ingredients, starting and ending with flour. Pour over brown sugar mixture in pan. Bake at 385 degrees for 50 minutes. Remove from oven and let set for five minutes. Run spatula around edge and unmold upside-down onto serving dish. Serves 12. May be served with a dollop of whipped cream.

Pep up economical fish steaks with tangy sauce

Looking for an economical main dish? Try fish steaks which are available fresh in most supermarkets each week and all the time if you purchase frozen filets.

Many varieties such as cod, halibut and Greenland turbot (which is really halibut, too) are priced to help with the ever-increasing food budget. As a rule, you'll need a half pound of fish steaks per person, so for this recipe purchase 2 pounds. Wash and pat dry and put on a rack or piece of foil in a heatproof baking dish or use a broiler pan.

Combine ¼ cup mayonnaise with the juice of 1½ lemons, salt and pepper, and a generous sprinkling of parsley flakes. Spread this mixture over fish steaks and allow to set for 30 minutes (or longer in the refrigerator). Preheat oven to 350-degrees and bake 20 minutes. Brown under broiler, if you desire. Serves four.

If you like to make your own mayonnaise, here's an easy blender recipe which was given to me by Mrs. Kent Ogata, 2018 Boudreau Dr., Urbana, Ill.

PUT IN THE blender 1 egg, ½ teaspoon dry mustard, ½ teaspoon salt, and 2 tablespoons vinegar. Turn on blender for just a second. Add about ¼ cup salad oil, turn blender on medium speed, then drizzle in the remainder of 1 cup oil as

Mostly for men

by Charles Flynn

the mixture blends. Makes 1 cup mayonnaise.

For a quick dessert try this old-fashioned recipe for a date pudding. Chop 1 cup pitted dates and 1 cup pecan meats. Sift together 1 tablespoon flour and 1 teaspoon baking powder and sprinkle over dates and nuts. Mix well.

In a mixing bowl beat 3 egg yolks and gradually add 1 cup sugar. Add the flour dates and nuts. Beat 3 egg whites well and fold them in gently with the rest of the mixture. Put in a lightly buttered cake pan and bake 40 minutes at 300-degrees.

This definitely is a pudding and should be served with whipped or ice cream after it has cooled some, but still remains warm. If cooled completely, cut into sections and lift gently with a spatula.

There's nothing like juicy pot roast

There is nothing like a hot, flavor-packed pot roast to set before a chilled and hungry family.

Pot roast variety knows no limit with an imaginative cook and the profusion of seasonings, braising liquids, vegetables and fruits available. Several beef cuts make excellent pot roasts — rolled chuck, rump and sirloin tip as well as 2 to 3-inch thick arm or blade cuts.

Braising, slow cooking in a small amount of liquid, is one of the best methods for cooking pot roasts. After browning meat on all sides, just add seasonings and liquid. Cover pan tightly while the meat slowly simmers to tenderness.

Here are two flavor variations your family might enjoy. For one pot roast dinner, a package of dry vegetable soup mix and frozen peas and carrots is utilized. On another occasion, caraway seeds and vinegar will give a German flavor tang to a rolled rump pot roast.

SOUP-ER POT ROAST

3 to 4-pound arm or blade pot roast
2 tablespoons lard or drippings

1 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1/4 cup water
2 bay leaves
1 package (1 3/8 ounces) dry vegetable soup mix
1 cup water
1 package (10 ounces) frozen peas and carrots
Flour for gravy, if desired
Brown pot roast in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add salt, pepper, 1/4 cup water and bay leaves. Cover tightly and cook slowly one hour. Add soup mix and 1 cup water. Cover and continue cooking 1 1/2 hours. Add peas and carrots. Cook an additional 20 minutes or until meat is tender and peas and carrots are done. Remove meat, peas and carrots to heated platter. Discard bay leaves. Thicken cooking liquid with flour for gravy, if desired. Makes six to eight servings.

BAVARIAN POT ROAST

3 to 4-pound rolled rump pot roast
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 onions, quartered
1 bay leaf
1/4 teaspoon caraway seed
3 tablespoons vinegar
1/2 cup water
Flour for gravy, if desired
Brown pot roast in lard or drippings. Add remaining ingredients, cover tightly and cook over low heat 3 1/2 hours or until tender. Thicken cooking liquid with flour for gravy, if desired.

Forest Hospital menus give world tour

Beef bourguignon, dolmatoes or chicken hong hau are not exactly what one would expect to find on the typical hospital menu.

But, at Forest Hospital, Des Plaines, patients and staff are treated to a special dinner honoring a national or regional cuisine each month.

The intimate cafeteria took on the aura of an Irish pub for St. Patrick's Day and was decorated with palm trees and pom-poms for Indonesian night.

RECENTLY THE theme was Chinese New Year — the Year of the Rabbit. Oriental music wafted through the air along with the scents of such delectable Chinese dishes as hot sour soup, bar-b-que ribs and chicken hong hau. Usually planned and prepared by the hospital's dietary staff, this Chinese dinner was the creation of special guest Frank E. Fong of the Nankin Restaurant in Skokie.

According to hospital spokesmen "It is the hospital's desire to add variety to the daily meals and to introduce patients and staff to new foods."

Approximately 250 patients and staff members have enjoyed the 10 ethnic dinners served at the hospital and are looking forward to the next.

Here is Frank E. Fong's recipe for Chicken Hong Hau.

1 pound cubed chicken, white meat
2 tablespoons dry wine
1 tablespoon fresh ginger
Salt pepper
Marinate chicken in wine, ginger, salt and pepper for 10 minutes. Coat with batter. Deep fry until golden brown.

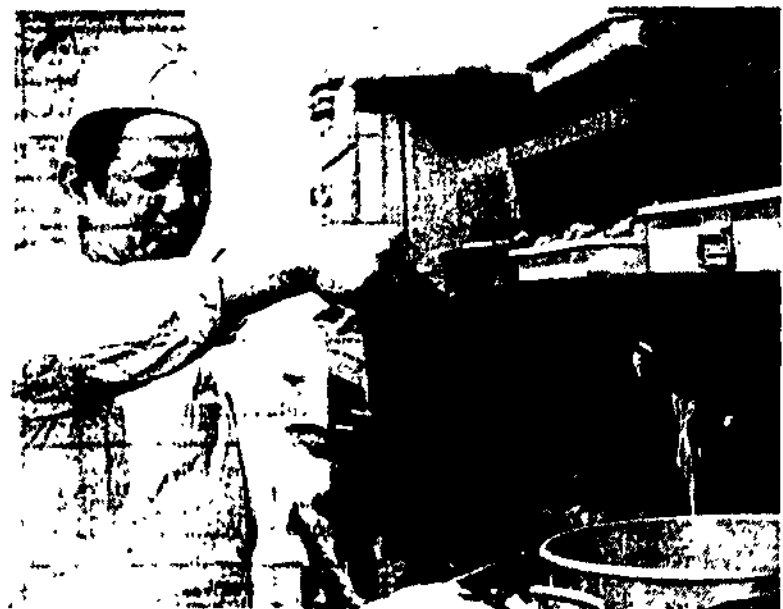

Batter:
4 tablespoons cornstarch
2 tablespoons flour
1 egg
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1 tablespoon peanut oil
1/2 teaspoon Accent

Beat egg. Add rest of ingredients. Stir to blend adding water until slightly thickened. Beat until smooth.

2 ounces mushrooms
2 ounces pea pods
2 ounces water chestnuts
2 ounces bamboo shoots
2 tablespoons cornstarch, dissolved in cold water
1 tablespoon soy sauce
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 to 1 1/2 cups prepared soup stock
1 teaspoon Accent

Saute vegetables in peanut oil. Add soup stock. Cook five minutes. Add chicken. Stir in cornstarch mixture. Add soy sauce and seasonings. Bake at 350 degrees until golden brown. Makes six servings.

Note: Chinese recipes may be altered to taste using less vegetables or seasonings.

HOT SOUR SOUP gets the final test cook for the 10th ethnic dinner night from Frank E. Fong, special guest at Forest Hospital, Des Plaines.

Flavorful potato pudding nutricious meal in a dish

Budget stretching has become high style. Everybody's doing it to get into the swing. It takes a little planning, a few workable tricks and constant vigilance to make the best use of every food.

Besides that, a generous accent of nutrition must be added whenever possible. It can be done with meatless casseroles — satisfying and nutritious when accompanied by a small amount of meat.

Potatoes, a worldwide favorite food, are the basis for this pudding. Mixed with onions, milk, eggs and cheese, they provide a nutritionally important dish. If you're on a meatless day, serve it with broiled tomatoes and a green salad. If meat is part of the menu, accompany the pudding with frankfurters or a meat loaf. It's also a good partner for fish.

SOUTHERN POTATO PUDDING
1/3 cup onion, chopped
1/4 cup green pepper, chopped
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
3 cups frozen hash browns
1/2 cup grated carrot
1 1/2 cups milk
1 1/4 teaspoons salt
2 eggs
1/2 cup grated Cheddar cheese
Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Melt butter in 2-quart saucepan. Add onion and green pepper and cook until onion is tender. Add potatoes and carrot and mix well. Add milk and salt and heat to simmering. Beat eggs with rotary beater. Combine with hot mixture and cheese. Turn into 5 1/2-cup baking dish. Bake in oven for 45 minutes, or just until set. Makes six servings.

Don't skim nutritional value of milk

by AILEEN CLAIRE

"When talk comes around to sound food basics, dry skim milk must be viewed as one of the best foods combining high protein and low calories," according to Dr. Seymour L. Halpern, president of the American College of Nutrition.

"Many adults overlook the importance of milk in their diets," Halpern said in a recent interview, "and have long since abandoned this essential nutrient. They think of it as a nostalgic childhood memory, or at best, as a lightener for their coffee. They don't realize that competent nutritionists recommend two to three daily glasses of milk for all adults."

"However, many ask how they can watch their weight and still get plenty of wholesome nutrition," Halpern noted.

"While it's true that three eight-ounce glasses of whole milk would add many calories to your daily intake, skim milk provides as much and even more nutrients than whole milk and with half the calories! Powdered skim milk is an excellent form of skim milk. It frequently is easier to shop for, often less expensive and more convenient to store than the fluid variety."

"You know," Dr. Halpern continues, "some doctors feel that any child of school age should no longer drink whole milk. Actually the only important element that is taken from whole milk to make it skim is the butter fat. There is increasing evidence that butterfat does nothing more than raise the total blood cholesterol and total blood fats. There are many indications that this can lead in later life to heart disease and stroke."

Commenting on breakfast cereals and milk, he said, "Cereals don't give you complete proteins. If you take a non-sugared cereal and add skim milk to it — powdered or prepared skim milk — you then have a very nutritious breakfast with complete proteins."

In general, he said, the ideal adult diet should include a nutritional range of 40 per cent carbohydrates, 30 per cent proteins and 30 per cent fats.

To give an idea of how calorie-con-

FUDGE BROWNIES

2 eggs
2 envelopes chocolate (powder) calorie controlled dairy product
2/3 ounce cereal
1 small banana
1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
With electric mixer, (or rotary beater) beat all ingredients together except cereal. When batter is smooth, add cereal and beat one minute longer. Pour into 8x8 pan. Bake in 350-degree oven for 25 minutes. Cool. Cut into 16 squares.

CHEESE SOUFFLE

2 eggs, separated
1/4 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Dash of salt
1/2 cup hot non-fat dry milk (liquid)
2 slices Melba thin diet slice bread, crumbled
2 ounces American cheese cubed
Place egg yolks, Worcestershire sauce and salt in blender and blend or use rotary beater. Gradually add hot milk, bread and cheese. Blend until smooth. Beat egg whites until stiff. Fold cheese mixture into egg whites. Pour into a 3-cup casserole and bake in 350-degree oven for 30 minutes or until inserted knife comes out clean.

FISH ITALIENNE

2 tablespoons, non-fat dry milk liquid
2 tablespoons grated Parmesan or American cheese
8 ounces fish fillet or scallops
4 ounces tomato sauce
Combine milk and cheese. Dredge fish in cheese mixture. Spread tomato sauce in shallow baking dish and add fish. Sprinkle with remaining cheese mixture. Bake in 375-degree oven for 1/2 hour or until golden brown.

BAKED TUNA SALAD

1 7-ounce can tuna, drained
1/2 cup water
1/2 cup frozen peas, cooked
1/3 cup non-fat dry milk powder
1 egg
2 tablespoons onion,

chopped
2 tablespoons green pepper, chopped
2 tablespoons pimiento, chopped
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
1/2 teaspoon seasoned salt
Combine all ingredients and place in 1 1/4 quart casserole. Bake in 350-degree oven for 45 minutes.

Allergic to flour?

Rice flour comes from milled rice that is ground. This flour can be substituted for wheat in baking and, since rice is non-allergenic, it's a boon to those allergic to wheat flour products.

Village mulls municipal garbage plan

Wheeling officials are studying the feasibility of a municipal garbage service or contracting with only one scavenger for service.

Village residents now have a choice of four private scavengers. Trustee Albert Lang has proposed a study of alternatives to the present service, saying they might save residents money and give the village more control over scavenger service.

"I've asked the village manager to look into this," Lang said Wednesday. "It's just an idea, but it may be a way of saving money and I'm all for that."

VILLAGE MGR. George Passolt has been directed to study scavenger service in neighboring communities and present a report to the village board.

Passolt Wednesday said he will be determining what cost difference, if any, would result if the village changes its scavenger service.

"I haven't completed the study and don't really know what the board will decide to do about this," he said.

Lang said he has asked Passolt to find out if federal funds would be available to the village to start its own garbage pickup service. "I don't know whether federal funds are available, but it's worth looking into to find out," he said.

IF THE VILLAGE were to start a municipal garbage service it would take residential garbage pickup out of the hands of private scavengers.

If a one-scavenger system is adopted, Lang said, sealed bids would be sought to determine the firm to be awarded the village contract. He said he is not sure if limiting the number of scavenger licenses would result in a reduction in garbage rates.

Under that system, Lang said, the village could collect the needed money through a garbage tax or service charge. This would replace the fee residents now pay the scavenger.

Village Pres. Ted C. Scanlon recently said he is opposed to the village collecting fees for the scavenger. He said scavenger services in the past have requested this of the village because of slow payments by some residents.

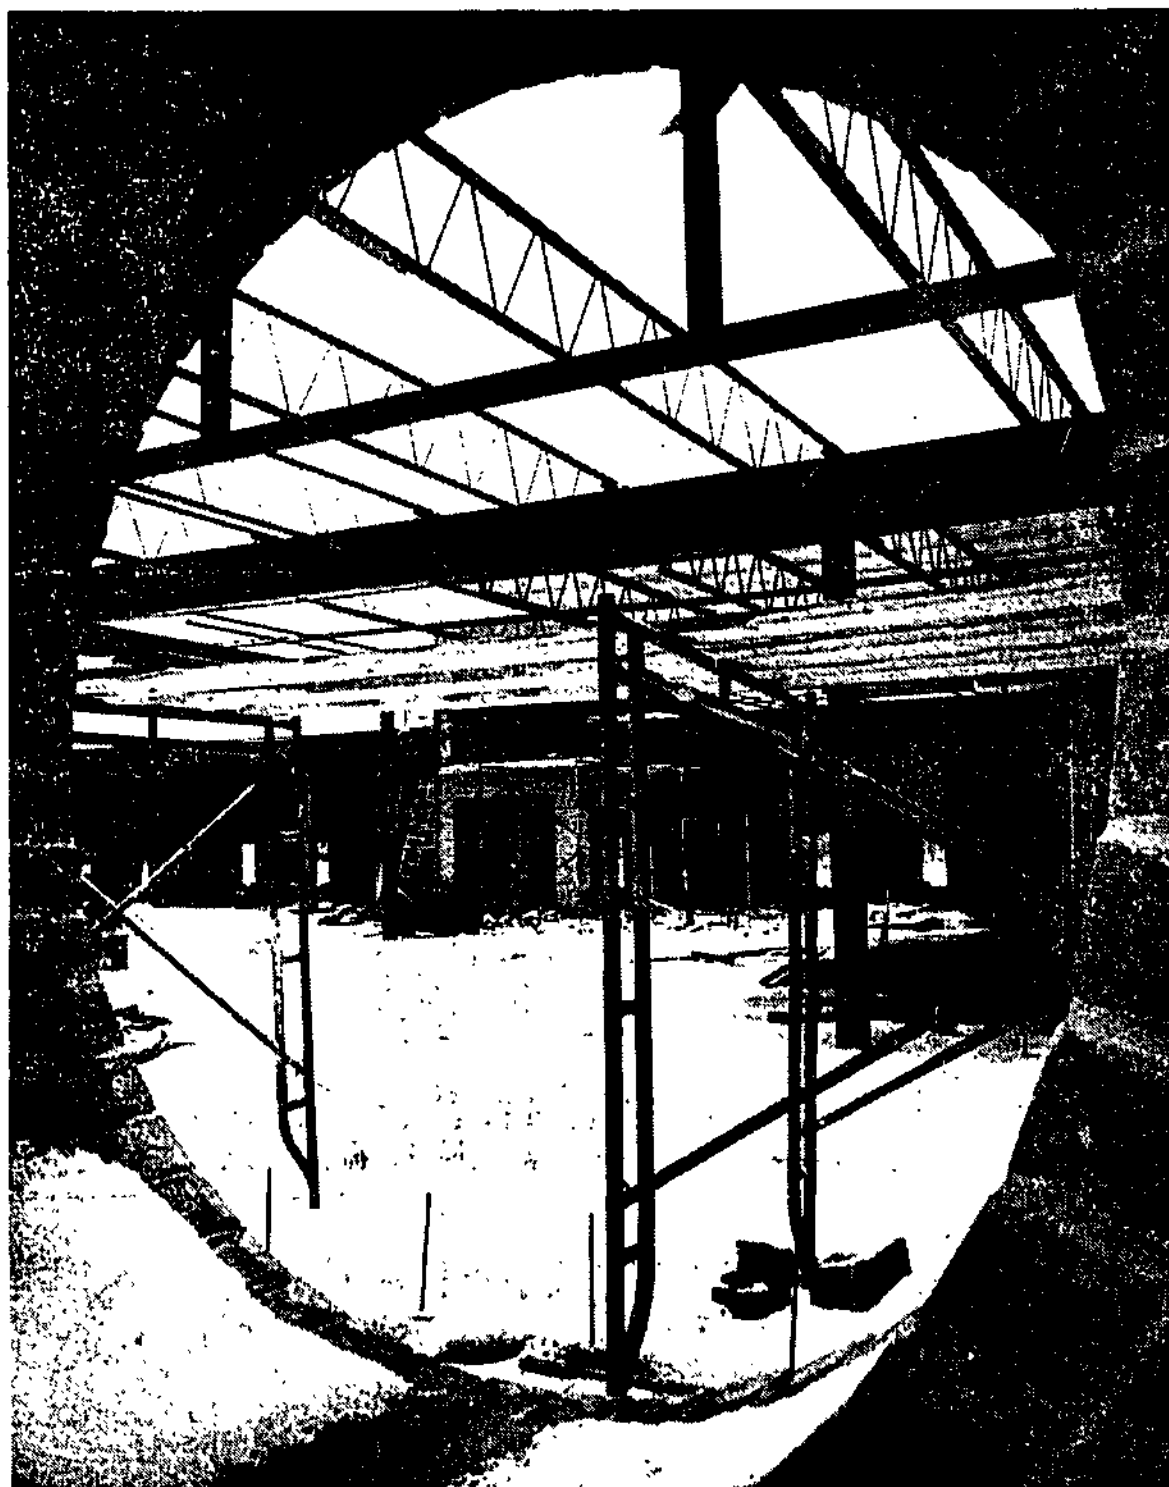

IN BUFFALO GROVE, the village bills residents for garbage pickup by a private scavenger, while Mount Prospect residents pay for the service in their property tax bill. Arlington Heights residents are billed directly by the village-chartered scavenger.

Rolling Meadows is one of the few communities in the area that has a municipal garbage pickup service.

Lang said the recent threat of a lawsuit by a private scavenger that was refused a license in Wheeling, was one of his reasons for requesting that alternate systems be studied. He said if the village starts a municipal service or awards a contract on the basis of a low bid, the possibility of such suits will diminish.

LAST OCTOBER, Top Disposal Service, Elmhurst, was considering filing a suit after the village refused to issue the company a license. The company sought the license because one of its commercial customers recently relocated to Wheeling and it wanted to continue to serve the customer.

The four village scavenger licenses are now held by: Arc Disposal Co. Inc., Rosemont; Wheeling Disposal Inc.; Buffalo Grove Disposal Inc.; and Rylon Disposal Inc., Chicago.

ICC warns Bell to refund $15 million

Illinois Bell Telephone Co. was told Wednesday to show why it should not refund $15 million to customers. The company also was denied an automatic rate increase by the Illinois Commerce Commission.

The ICC said Illinois Bell has earned $15 million more than its 8.5 per cent allowed under a rate increase approved in December 1973.

Hugh A. Latimer, vice president and treasurer of Illinois Bell, said the company is "dismayed" at the order denying the automatic rate increase. "More puzzling is the commission's contention that our earnings are excessive," he added.

BELL OFFICIALS are to appear before the commission March 18 for a hearing in Chicago to determine why the "excessive revenues" should not be refunded to 3 million phone customers in Illinois.

Latimer said any ICC move requiring refunds is "incredible in the light of our skidding earnings, depressed demands for service and continuing inflation eating away at our financial health."

"Admittedly, for the first time in years, our 1974 earnings moved toward the level we need" to ensure quality service, he added, but, "one good year after a series of bleak ones does not spell prosperity."

Latimer said Bell faces a wage-and-benefit bill of more than $355 million during a three-year period, and that expenses rose at twice the rate of earnings last month when compared with January 1974.

ILLINOIS BELL does not need the automatic rate increase because it does not face the fuel tax and environmental safeguard expenses that are beyond the control of other utilities, the ICC said.

The commission also said telephone rates under current procedures are about what they would have been had Bell used its proposed automatic adjustments in recent years.

Circumstances of Wednesday's ICC ruling have prompted Bell to seek an immediate rate increase through the traditional route, Latimer said. "And we will ask for interim rate relief to tide us over until the formal case is concluded," he added.

The March 18 hearing also was scheduled because the ICC said the Illinois General Assembly intended the public be given an opportunity to be heard before a utility imposes a significant rate increase.

New Arlington, Schaumburg stations

Commuter-rail improvements proposed

by STEVE FORSYTH

New commuter-rail stations in Arlington Heights and Schaumburg are part of a $6.8 million commuter rail station improvement and construction program proposed Wednesday by the Illinois Dept. of Transportation.

The Arlington Heights station would replace the present downtown building, but the Schaumburg station would be a completely new stop on The Milwaukee Road west line near a proposed extension of Springinguth Road.

A total of 114 stations in the Chicago area is slated for improvements as part of Walker's proposed accelerated downtown program, which is designed to create jobs. Walker has proposed selling $4.5 billion in bonds for highway, mass transit and public-service facilities to boost the state's economy.

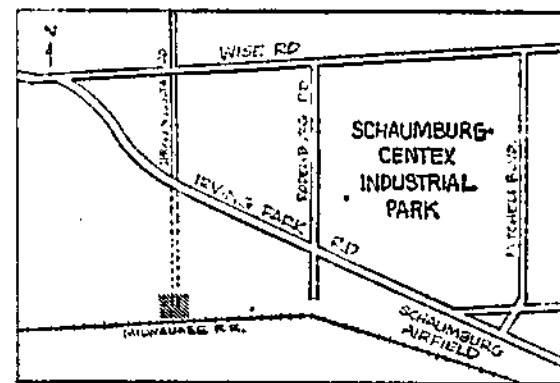

The projects would be funded completely with state money, which would eliminate long delays and federal red tape. Langhorne Bond, transportation secretary said Wednesday, "As soon as the legislature approves the program these projects can be under way in a matter of several weeks."

THE ARLINGTON HEIGHTS station would probably be a brick structure similar to stations built a few years ago in Elmhurst and Villa Park on the west line of Chicago and Northwestern Ry. If similar plans were used, the station would cost about $200,000, and could be completed by the summer of 1976. Bond said all the projects could be completed by that time.

The new building would have a larger waiting area, said H. A. Lense, director of commuter services for North Western. He said it would also have more windows, tile floors and tile walls to deter vandals and reduce maintenance costs. The present building would have to be demolished before starting construction, leaving commuters with no station for a while.

The Milwaukee Road has no details on what its Schaumburg station would look like, Marc Green, director of information services, said. The Milwaukee Road would replace stations at Itasca, Hanover Park, Medinah and five other locations. Station improvements are planned for the Roselle stop.

Bond said money will be given to the railroads to build the stations and make improvements, and the railroads will contract for the work. North Western spokesmen said no architect's drawings have been made for the Arlington Heights station, but they said village officials would be consulted.

CONSTRUCTION OF the Schaumburg station with federal funds would have taken years, said Lois Gelster, executive director of the Northwest Mass Transit District, which includes Schaumburg. The possible site at Springinguth Road could be part of a transportation center proposed by Schaumburg Mayor Robert Atcher.

Atcher hopes to combine air, highway, rail and bus transportation in the center.

Schaumburg officials believe the new station is necessary because of overcrowded parking facilities at the nearby Roselle station, which serves 1,800 to 2,000 passengers a day.

The program includes $3.1 million to replace stations on five railroads and $1.5 million to rehabilitate 55 stations. Plexiglas shelters are planned at 23 stations at a cost of $407,000, and $1.6 million is planned for resurfacing and extension of platforms. The platform improvement program includes the North Western's Cumberland station in Des Plaines.

Another $277,100 is earmarked for lighting and sign improvements at 49 stations, to make the stations safer for passengers in early morning and night hours, Bond said.

The improvement projects were selected from lists submitted to IDOT by each railroad. The North Western is to receive $2 million of the total for its three lines.

THE ARLINGTON HEIGHTS commuter train station could be replaced in 1976 with a building similar to this relatively new station in Elmhurst under a $7 million commuter-station rehabilitation plan proposed by the Dept. of Transportation. Estimated at $200,000, the new building would be part of a $4.5 billion public works program proposed by Gov. Daniel Walker. All projects will be subject to legislative approval of the statewide program.

BARE FEET are the order of the day in several Des Plaines parochial schools this week as more than 1,000 elementary children have their foot health checked. Immanuel Lutheran School students Kelly Sonne, above, and Kim Sonne, below left, walk for screeners while another student has his foot examined by student doctor Tom Godfrey.

Rob Roy purchase to be discussed

River Trails Park District officials tonight will meet with representatives of Kenroy Inc. to discuss possible purchase of part of the Rob Roy Golf Course by the park district if Kenroy develops the property under county zoning.

Park Director Marvin Weiss said he expects most of the discussion to be conducted in closed-door session.

Kenroy officials are interested in an agreement similar to one worked out when they applied for zoning and annexation to Mount Prospect. Under that agreement, the park district was to purchase half the property if it could pass a $1.2 million general-obligation bond referendum and market an additional $1 million in revenue bonds.

Mount Prospect, however, rejected the annexation and zoning petition. Roy Gottlieb, chairman of the Kenroy board, said if the park district is not interested in a similar agreement for county zoning, his firm will seek zoning to develop the entire 200-acre parcel with 4,500 units. If the park district approves the agreement, Gottlieb said his firm probably will seek zoning for only 2,350 units.

The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. at the River Trails Park District offices, 1313 N. Burning Bush Ln.

Schlaflly to debate Hayter on ERA

Phyllis Schlaflly, national chairman of the Stop ERA Committee, will debate the proposed Equal Rights Amendment tonight with Village Pres. Virginia Hayter of Hoffman Estates.

The debate, sponsored by the Palatine Township Republican Club, will begin at 8 p.m. at the American Legion Hall, 122 W. Palatine Rd., Palatine. It is open to the public.

Two lock employees in freezer, take $500

Two robbers escaped with $500 Tuesday night from the Burger King restaurant, 1540 E. Northwest Hwy., Palatine, leaving four employees locked in a walk-in freezer.

Joel J. Fabrikant, restaurant manager, told police that two men wearing ski masks came into the restaurant at closing time. The robbers threatened the employees with a shotgun and a pistol, ordering them into the back room. The gunmen cut the telephone wires, locked the doors and shut off the lights before fleeing.

The employees were in the freezer for about a half hour before they were discovered.

C&NW offers prairie land parks lease

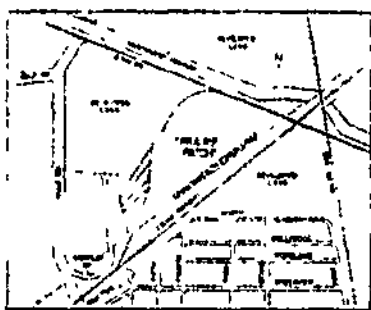

by LUISA GINETTI

The Chicago and North Western Ry. has proposed a lease agreement that would allow preservation of a 30-acre tract of virgin prairie land in Des Plaines.

In a letter to U.S. Rep. Abner J. Mikva, D-10th, I. Robert Ballin, vice president of materials and real estate for the railroad, said the North Western will lease the land to Des Plaines Park District for $1 per year if the park district agrees to pay the cost of enclosing the area with an 8-foot chain-link fence and lockable gate.

Ballin said this plan will require negotiations with Wieboldt Stores Inc. for access rights to the company's warehouse property, which borders the prairie patch south of Northwest Highway. This agreement would allow the railroad to develop a pedestrian path between the prairie and Seeger Road.

THE LETTER also says the only location for public parking for the area would be on Wieboldt property and some type of agreement in this area will also have to be worked out.

The only other stipulation imposed by the railroad proposal is that the lease agreement can be canceled by the park district or the North Western with 30 days notice.

Robert Kunkel, park district director, Wednesday said he is pleased with the railroad's offer but is troubled by the 30-day notice clause.

"We would like to talk about that question before we go ahead with anything because fencing for the area will require a lot of money, and we'd hate to invest that kind of sum on something that could be ended in 30 days," Kunkel said.

KUNKEL SAID Ballin's letter will be presented to the park district board at its meeting next month before any talks with Wieboldt or the railroad begin. He added that he is pleased with the railroad's new attitude on the matter.

"It's encouraging because at least the doors are open again," Kunkel said. Ballin's letter makes clear that the proposal to make the land available to the public applies only as long as the railroad does not require the property for its operations.

"While we do not contemplate any immediate need for the prairie patch property, it must be made clear to the park district and to the public that, if the property becomes necessary to be used for operating purposes, the lease will

Violation of Open Meeting Act?

City panel, chamber meet in session closed to public

by STEVE BROWN

The Des Plaines City Council's license and inspection committee may have violated the Illinois Open Meeting Act Feb. 13 by meeting in closed session with members of the Chamber of Commerce.

Aldermen Charles Bolek, 3rd, chairman of the committee, George Olen, 2nd, and Thomas Koplos, 1st, attended a breakfast meeting at the Seven Eagles Restaurant with about 25 local businessmen to discuss changes in local business-license fees which brought complaints from businessmen.

The meeting was called by the Chamber of Commerce and not the committee. Illinois Atty. Gen. William Scott last year issued an opinion which said such gatherings are covered by the law.

Neither the chamber nor the city notified the press or public of the meetings. The open-meeting law requires notification of all meetings of public bodies, including city council committees.

Scott's opinion said that if members of an official body attend a meeting at the invitation of another organization and public business is discussed, provisions of the law should be followed.

"While this case does not give a comprehensive definition of meeting, it is clear that it does extend to informal sessions or conferences designed for the discussion of the public business. Thus in response to your specific question, a gathering need not be prearranged and set as to time, nor need be at an official meeting place, to come within the purview of the act," Scott said.

City Atty. Charles Hug said he was aware of Scott's opinion, but said he did not believe the gathering came under the provisions of the law.

"They were invited as individuals and it was coincidental that all three members of the committee attended the meetings," Hug said. Hug, City Clerk Eleanor Rohrbach, Comptroller Duane Blietz and Licensing Officer Robert Lattendorf also attended the meeting. Mayor Herbert H. Belirel was invited but did not attend.

C. W. KAITSCHUCK, chamber director, said there was no effort made to hide anything about the meeting. He said there was no notice of the meeting given.

ICC warns Bell to refund $15 million

Illinois Bell Telephone Co. was told Wednesday to show why it should not refund $15 million to customers. The company also was denied an automatic rate increase by the Illinois Commerce Commission.

The ICC said Illinois Bell has earned $15 million more than its 8.5 per cent allowed under a rate increase approved in December 1973.

Hugh A. Latimer, vice president and treasurer of Illinois Bell, said the company is "dismayed" at the order denying the automatic rate increase. "More puzzling is the commission's contention that our earnings are excessive," he added.

BELL OFFICIALS are to appear before the commission March 18 for a hearing in Chicago to determine why the "excessive revenues" should not be refunded to 3 million phone customers in Illinois.

Latimer said any ICC move requiring refunds is "incredible in the light of our skidding earnings, depressed demands for service and continuing inflation eating away at our financial health."

"Admittedly, for the first time in years, our 1974 earnings moved toward the level we need" to ensure quality service, he added, but "one good year after a series of bleak ones does not spell prosperity."

Latimer said Bell faces a wage-and-benefit bill of more than $35 million during a three-year period, and that expenses rose at twice the rate of earnings last month when compared with January 1974.

ILLINOIS BELL does not need the automatic rate increase because it does not face the fuel tax and environmental safeguard expenses that are beyond the control of other utilities, the ICC said.

The commission also said telephone rates under current procedures are about what they would have been had Bell used its proposed automatic adjustments in recent years.

Circumstances of Wednesday's ICC ruling have prompted Bell to seek an immediate rate increase through the traditional route, Latimer said. "And we will ask for interim rate relief to tide us over until the formal case is concluded," he added.

The March 18 hearing also was scheduled because the ICC said the Illinois General Assembly intended the public be given an opportunity to be heard before a utility imposes a significant rate increase.

New Arlington, Schaumburg stations

Commuter-rail improvements proposed

by STEVE FORSYTH

New commuter-train stations in Arlington Heights and Schaumburg are part of a $6.8 million commuter rail station improvement and construction program proposed Wednesday by the Illinois Dept. of Transportation.

The Arlington Heights station would replace the present downtown building, but the Schaumburg station would be a completely new stop on The Milwaukee Road west line near a proposed extension of Springguth Road.

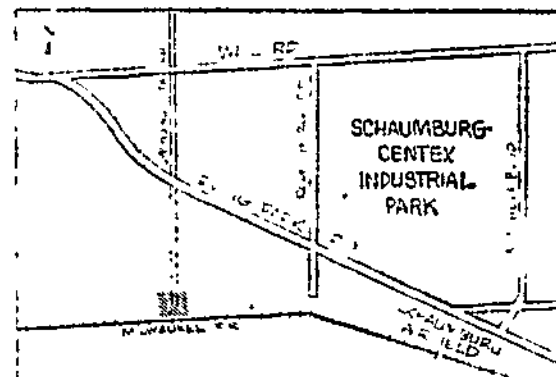

A total of 114 stations in the Chicago area is slated for improvements as part of Walker's proposed accelerated building program, which is designed to create jobs. Walker has proposed selling $4.5 billion in bonds for highway, mass transit and public-service facilities to boost the state's economy.

The projects would be funded completely with state money, which would eliminate long delays and federal red tape. Langhorne Bond, transportation secretary said Wednesday, "As soon as the legislature approves the program these projects can be under way in a matter of several weeks."

THE ARLINGTON HEIGHTS station would probably be a brick structure similar to stations built a few years ago in Elmhurst and Villa Park on the west line of Chicago and Northwestern Ry. If similar plans were used, the station would cost about $200,000, and could be completed by the summer of 1976. Bond said all the projects could be completed by that time.

The new building would have a larger waiting area, said H. A. Lenske, director of commuter services for North Western. He said it would also have more windows, tile floors and tile walls to deter vandals and reduce maintenance costs. The present building would have to be demolished before starting construction, leaving commuters with no station for a while.

The Milwaukee Road has no details on what its Schaumburg station would look like, Marc Green, director of information services, said. The Milwaukee Road would replace stations at Itasca, Hanover Park, Medinah and five other locations. Station improvements are planned for the Roselle stop. Bond said money will be given to the railroads to build the stations and make improvements, and the railroads will contract for the work. North Western spokesmen said no architect's drawings have been made for the Arlington Heights station, but they said village officials would be consulted.

CONSTRUCTION OF the Schaumburg station with federal funds would have taken years, said Lois Geister, executive director of the Northwest Mass Transit District, which includes Schaumburg. The possible site at Springguth Road could be part of a transportation center proposed by Schaumburg Mayor Robert Atcher.

Atcher hopes to combine air, highway, rail and bus transportation in the center.

Schaumburg officials believe the new station is necessary because of overcrowded parking facilities at the nearby Roselle station, which serves 1,800 to 2,000 passengers a day.

The program includes $3.1 million to replace stations on five railroads and $1.5 million to rehabilitate 55 stations. Plexiglas shelters are planned at 23 stations at a cost of $407,000, and $1.6 million is planned for resurfacing and extension of platforms. The platform improvement program includes the North Western's Cumberland station in Des Plaines.

Another $277,100 is earmarked for lighting and sign improvements at 49 stations, to make the stations safer for passengers in early morning and night hours, Bond said.

The improvement projects were selected from lists submitted by IDOT by each railroad. The North Western is to receive $2 million of the total for its three lines.

THE ARLINGTON HEIGHTS commuter train station could be replaced in 1976 with a building similar to this relatively new station in Elmhurst under a $7 million commuter-station rehabilitation plan proposed by the Dept. of Transportation. Estimated at $200,000, the new building would be part of a $4.5 billion public works program proposed by Gov. Daniel Walker. All projects will be subject to legislative approval of the statewide program.

BARE FEET are the order of the day in several Des Plaines parochial schools this week as more than 1,000 elementary children have their foot health checked. Immanuel Lutheran School students Kelly Senne, above, and Kim Senne, below left, walk for screeners while another student has his foot examined by student doctor Tom Godfrey.

Scouting news

Cub Scout Pack 60 held its Blue and Gold Dinner Feb. 16 at St. Stephen's Hanley Hall.

The opening ceremony included colors posted by Cubmaster Paul Sherkey, Assistant Cubmaster George Becker and the den mothers. A candlelight ceremony was performed by 12 parents to honor Scouting's birthday.

Entertainment was provided by Don Forbes and his helpers Rosemary Forbes and Nancy Ragusin.

The highlight of the afternoon was the presentation of advancement and awards by Tom Clements.

Den 1: Paul Friedman, Bear badge, gold arrow and silver arrow; Tom Yehl, Wolf badge, gold arrow and three silver arrows; Mike Yehl, Bear badge, gold arrow, three silver arrows and one year pin; Mike Heraty, one-year pin and Bear badge.

Den 2: Robert Nolte and Mike Thompson, silver arrows.

Den 4: Paul Murphy, one-year pin and three silver arrows; Gary Foley, one-year pin and two yellow beads; Mike Sherkey, silver arrow; Ronnie Frischmann, Wolf badge and gold arrow; Ronnie Raupp, Wolf badge, gold arrow; David Foley and David Topolinski, two yellow beads.

Pack 60's Webelos, led by Tim Foley received the following awards: Ray Raupp, showman, athlete, forester, naturalist, citizen and sportsman; David Becker, showman, athlete, forester, naturalist, citizen, sportsman; John Ragusin, forester, naturalist, craftsman and Arrow of Light; Ralph Pelinski, showman, athlete, forester, naturalist and citizen; Paul Koren, forester, athlete and citizen.

In the absence of the Webelos' leader, David Becker, senior Webelos, accepted Mark Forbes, Tom Clements and Mike Heraty into Webelos.

Plaques were presented to Mike Thompson, Dave Samborski and Mrs.

Lorraine Forbes for their dedication of time and service. Also mentioned for their service were: Mrs. Avila Becker, den leader coach; and Mrs. Glenda Raupp, awards chairman.

en to either the press or the public.

"Ed Bock (the current chamber president) invited about 25 representatives of industry and business to the meeting to ask questions," Kaltschuck said.

Bolek, Olen and Koplos could not be reached for comment Wednesday.

The session was held after the chamber received many questions about the new license system, which will require almost every commercial operation in the city to obtain a license.

IN A LETTER sent to all Chamber of Commerce members reviewing the meeting, Bock said the chamber still is concerned with the business-license situation.

"The concern remains with your chamber, as well as with many of our members, that the city is taking unfair advantage of the very people (businesses) that provide employment, significant portions of real estate taxes, collect huge sums of sales tax dollars and generally support the city," Bock said.

Besides the complaints over the licenses, some businessmen have expressed concerns over the possible institution of new taxes.

City officials have considered such a proposal several times, but no formal action ever was taken.

In explaining the new license fees, Bolek told the group increasing costs of government services have required the city to levy the license fees on all businesses.

Races loom in 3 of 7 school districts

Contested elections shaped up in three of the seven school districts serving Des Plaines Wednesday, the first day of filing for the April 12 school board elections.

Unopposed caucus-endorsed candidates filed petitions in Des Plaines Dist. 62 and Maine Township High School Dist. 207, and candidates also were unopposed in High School Dist. 214 and Elk Grove Township Dist. 59, which serve Des Plaines residents living in Elk Grove Township. Contests also developed for Oakton Community College, East Maine Dist. 61 and River Trails Dist. 26.

For the Oakton Community College Board of Trustees, four candidates filed for two 3-year terms on the board. They are incumbent Vislan Medak, 51, of 1820 N. Kostner Ave., Lincolnwood, Alvin Marks, 30, of 9024 Grace, Niles; Leo Prince, 25, of 6321 Trumbull, Skokie, and Thomas Rueckert, 34, of 410 Huber Ln., Glenview. All but Marks had previously announced their candidacies.

Marks, vice president of Weiss Tire Co. in Wheeling, said he decided to run for the board because, "Some of the things I've seen at Oakton haven't been the greatest." He said he hopes to work for more programs at the college to train people for the "blue collar trades" and added that the college should have a second campus in the eastern part of the Oakton district when it moves to its permanent campus in Des Plaines.

Mrs. Medak, a tutor for children with learning disabilities, has served on the Oakton board since 1973. Prince is a teacher at Howard Junior High School in Wilmette and former reporter for the Skokie News. Rueckert is an investigator for the State of Illinois.

In East Maine Dist. 63, two caucus-endorsed candidates and an independent filed for two vacancies on the board. Caucus-endorsed candidates are incumbent Jerry Abern, 9110 Church St., and Philip Deckowitz, 9000 Terrace Pl.

ABERN, A GUIDANCE counselor at Nichol's Middle School, Evanston, was appointed to the board in September 1968 and elected to the board in April 1969. Deckowitz is a manager of Computer Systems Group.

The third candidate, Howard Lessin, 2644 W. Harrison, Glenview, is a guidance counselor for the Chicago Board of Education. He failed to receive caucus endorsement.

In Des Plaines Dist. 62, two caucus-endorsed candidates filed for two vacancies on the board. They are James B. Blue, 1771 Sherwood Rd., and Ann Schillmoeller, 209 Cornell Ave.

Blue is a pilot with United Airlines and Mrs. Schillmoeller is a former teacher and member of the American Assn. of University Women (AAUW).

CANDIDATES FILING for two vacancies on the High School Dist. 207 board are William J. Schaeffe, 1982 Birch St., and Charlotte Storer, 1684 Wicke St.

Both candidates are seeking 3-year terms and both are caucus endorsed. Schaeffe is an attorney and Mrs. Storer is a member of the League of Women Voters and AAUW.

In River Trails Dist. 26, four caucus-endorsed candidates filed for three positions on the board. Petitions were filed by incumbent Leora Rosen and newcomers Richard C. Foster, Ed Pugliese and Peggy Golden.

Mrs. Rosen, 1805 Apache Ln., Mount

Prospect, was elected to the board in 1972. She is a former high school biology teacher and a member of the Parkview Homeowners Assn.

PUGLIESE, 1832 Sitka Ln., Mount Prospect, is a teacher of driver's education and physical education at Niles East High School.

Foster, 936 N. Wheeling Rd., Mount Prospect, is a staff coordinator for Bankers Life and Casualty Co.

Mrs. Golden, 631 Maple Ct., Mount Prospect, is president of the Bond School PTA. She has been a member of the caucus for two years.

In High School Dist. 214, one candidate filed for two vacancies on the board. Eugene Artemenko, 431 Millers Rd., Des Plaines, has been on the board for five years.

IN ELK GROVE Township Dist. 59, only one candidate filed for three vacancies on the board — incumbent Gerald Smiley. Smiley, of 1155 S. Cheltenham Rd., Elk Grove Village, is board president. He is seeking a one-year term. There are still two 3-year terms to be filled.

Filing for candidates will remain open through March 21. Candidates for boards must be 21 years old and a resident of the district for which they are running.

Bugs bugging city; big kill planned

Des Plaines officials hope to leave at least one thing behind when they start moving into the new six-story city hall building next month — bugs.

Exterminators began working earlier this week to make sure the cockroaches which have plagued the temporary city offices at 1524 Miner St. for the past 19 months do not follow the city officials to their new headquarters.

Mayor Herbert Behrel said the offices have been sprayed to kill the roaches. He also indicated that all material to be moved will be thoroughly checked before being packed.

One city employee indicated Wednesday that the roaches have been a problem, and only half jokingly noted the bugs have carried away copies of the city code book during the night.

"We will be shaking everything before we move," said City Clerk Eleanor Rohrbach, who noted that some office employees have been shaking their skirts for some months to avoid taking any of the critters home with them.

She also noted the city purchased a 2½-pound aerosol bomb to be used to fumigate before the move takes place.

have to be canceled," the letter states. LOCAL RESIDENTS have been campaigning for preservation of the land for about a year. The railroad in August turned down a request to turn the land over to a local agency but agreed last fall to reconsider the idea of letting the land serve as a public preserve.

Railroad officials have expressed concern about safety and security in the area because the land is surrounded by several rail lines.

Supporters of the project say the prairie should be preserved because it contains many plants and grasses once unique to Illinois.

Correction

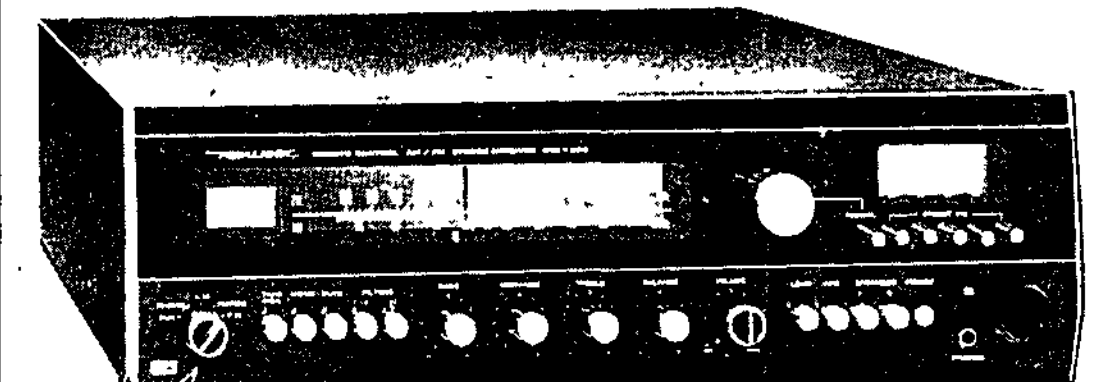

Senior citizens will pay 25 cents to ride buses operated by the North Suburban Mass Transit District.

The Herald incorrectly reported the figure in Wednesday's edition.

Senior citizens can apply for identification cards which make them eligible for the discount at city offices, 1524 Miner St., Des Plaines.

41 Centex houses lack outside work

OK given to occupy unfinished home sites

by LUISA GINETTI

Owners of 41 houses under construction by Centex Homes Corp. west of Ill. Rte. 31 near Meacham Road in Elk Grove Village will be permitted to move in even though some outside work has not been completed.

The village board Tuesday night agreed to issue temporary occupancy permits in a 4 to 3 decision with Village Pres. Charles Zettick casting the deciding vote and trustees George Spees, Nanci Vanderweel and Theodore Staddler opposing the move.

Centex officials requested the action to allow families to move into the homes, which had been promised to be completed by now but which still require some outside work.

YET TO BE COMPLETED at the houses is yard work, driveway paving and final grading. Centex officials said the work will be done as soon as weather permits and estimated completion to be by late March or early April.

Spees said he was opposed to granting the temporary permits because when this has been done in the past, the builder has been slow to complete the work.

"This is a problem created by the builder," Spees said. "He builds homes and promises them and then doesn't complete them on schedule and asks the village to get him out of trouble."

SPEES SAID the action set up "special rules for expediency." He added there is no guarantee in such cases that the work yet to be done will be completed on time.

"The result is people living in a mess," Spees said, "with muddy streets where streets exist, flooding and a general large amount of debris because of construction trucks in the area. This usually has led to this board having to deal with the problems later and we have always gotten into trouble when we have granted special occupancy permits."

Spees said if the temporary permits were not granted, the builder would move faster to complete the work. "The incentive to the builder is greatly diluted if people are allowed to move into the homes," he said.

MRS. VANDERWEEL said she was concerned that people allowed to move into the homes now would end up complaining about unfinished work on their homes.

"I feel sorry for those people but it is not the fault of this board and we find ourselves continuously having to bail them out," Mrs. Vanderweel said. She said she wants rough grading completed before residents are allowed to occupy the homes. Centex officials said this has been completed and the homes should not flood.

Staddler agreed with the two trustees. "If people are already in the homes there is nothing to force Centex to finish the work," he said.

TRUSTEE RONALD Chernick called the matter a "ticklish situation" and said the board should not deny people the right to move into their homes.

"We can't say to people who have purchased houses they can't move in because of three unfinished things," Chernick said. He said, however, the village should keep a check on the area to make sure work is being done on the homes and stop issuing the permits if Centex fails to maintain a proper completion timetable.

Village Mgr. Charles Willis said Centex also must complete sewer work in the area to comply with Metropolitan Sanitary District rules before permanent occupancy permits can be issued by the village.

Willis said the village will not issue all 41 temporary permits immediately because the homes are in various stages of completion. He said five temporary permits are ready to be issued now and the rest will be issued as the builder shows cause that the homes are ready for occupancy.

ICC warns Bell to refund $15 million

Illinois Bell Telephone Co. was told Wednesday to show why it should not refund $15 million to customers. The company also was denied an automatic rate increase by the Illinois Commerce Commission.

The ICC said Illinois Bell has earned $15 million more than its 8.5 per cent allowed under a rate increase approved in December 1973.

Hugh A. Latimer, vice president and treasurer of Illinois Bell, said the company is "dismayed" at the order denying the automatic rate increase. "More puzzling is the commission's contention that our earnings are excessive," he added.

BELL OFFICIALS are to appear before the commission March 18 for a hearing in Chicago to determine why the "excessive revenues" should not be refunded to 3 million phone customers in Illinois.

Latimer said any ICC move requiring refunds is "incredible in the light of our skidding earnings, depressed demands for service and continuing inflation eating away at our financial health."

"Admittedly, for the first time in years, our 1974 earnings moved toward the level we need" to ensure quality service, he added, but, "one good year after a series of bleak ones does not spell prosperity."

Latimer said Bell faces a wage-and-benefit bill of more than $35 million during a three-year period, and that expenses rose at twice the rate of earnings last month when compared with January 1974.

ILLINOIS BELL does not need the automatic rate increase because it does not face the fuel tax and environmental safeguard expenses that are beyond the control of other utilities, the ICC said.

The commission also said telephone rates under current procedures are about what they would have been had Bell used its proposed automatic adjustments in recent years.

Circumstances of Wednesday's ICC ruling have prompted Bell to seek an immediate rate increase through the traditional route, Latimer said. "And we will ask for interim rate relief to tide us over until the formal case is concluded," he added.

The March 18 hearing also was scheduled because the ICC said the Illinois General Assembly intended the public be given an opportunity to be heard before a utility imposes a significant rate increase.

Several school candidates get on ballot first day

Filing opened Wednesday for April 12 school board elections, and several candidates took advantage of the first day of filing to get their names on the ballot.

Here is a rundown on how local races are shaping up:

Two 3-year seats also will be up for election. Jean Cashman, recently named to the board, is circulating nominating petitions, but did not file Wednesday. Incumbent Albert Domanico said he will not be a candidate for reelection to the (Continued on Page 5)

New Arlington, Schaumburg stations

by STEVE FORSYTH

New commuter-rail stations in Arlington Heights and Schaumburg are part of a $6.8 million commuter rail station improvement and construction program proposed Wednesday by the Illinois Dept. of Transportation.

The Arlington Heights station would replace the present downtown building, but the Schaumburg station would be a completely new stop on the Milwaukee Road west line near a proposed extension of Springinguth Road.

A total of 114 stations in the Chicago area is slated for improvements as part of Walker's proposed accelerated building program, which is designed to create jobs. Walker has proposed selling $4.5 billion in bonds for highway, mass transit and public-service facilities to boost the state's economy.

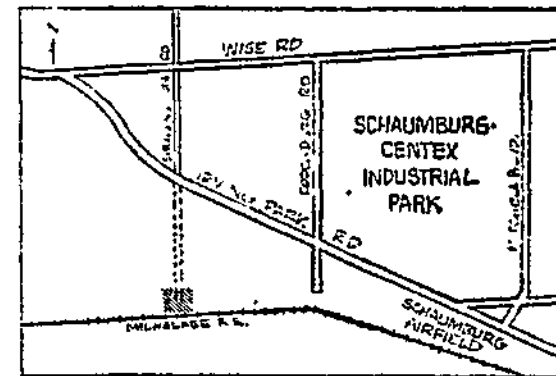

The projects would be funded completely with state money, which would eliminate long delays and federal red tape. Langhorne Bond, transportation secretary said Wednesday, "As soon as the legislature approves the program these projects can be under way in a matter of several weeks."

THE ARLINGTON HEIGHTS station would probably be a brick structure similar to stations built a few years ago in Elmhurst and Villa Park on the west line of Chicago and Northwestern Ry. If similar plans were used, the station would cost about $200,000, and could be completed by the summer of 1976. Bond said all the projects could be completed by that time.

The new building would have a larger waiting area, said H. A. Lense, director of commuter services for North Western. He said it would also have more windows, tile floors and tile walls to deter vandals and reduce maintenance costs. The present building would have to be demolished before starting construction, leaving commuters with no station for a while.

The Milwaukee Road has no details on what its Schaumburg station would look like, Marc Green, director of information services, said. The Milwaukee Road would replace stations at Itasca, Hanover Park, Medinah and five other locations. Station improvements are planned for the Roselle stop.

Bond said money will be given to the railroads to build the stations and make improvements, and the railroads will contract for the work. North Western spokesmen said no architect's drawings have been made for the Arlington Heights station, but they said village officials would be consulted.

CONSTRUCTION of the Schaumburg station with federal funds would have taken years, said Lois Geister, executive director of the Northwest Mass Transit District, which includes Schaumburg. The possible site at Springinguth Road could be part of a transportation center proposed by Schaumburg Mayor Robert Atcher.

Atcher hopes to combine air, highway, rail and bus transportation in the center.

Schaumburg officials believe the new station is necessary because of overcrowded parking facilities at the nearby Roselle station, which serves 1,800 to 2,000 passengers a day.

The program includes $3.1 million to replace stations on five railroads and $1.5 million to rehabilitate 55 stations. Pictorial shelters are planned at 23 stations at a cost of $407,000, and $1.6 million is planned for resurfacing and extension of platforms. The platform improvement program includes the North Western's Cumberland station in Des Plaines.

Another $277,100 is earmarked for lighting and sign improvements at 49 stations, to make the stations safer for passengers in early morning and night hours, Bond said.

The improvement projects were selected from lists submitted to IDOT by each railroad. The North Western is to receive $2 million of the total for its three lines.

THE ARLINGTON HEIGHTS commuter train station could be replaced in 1976 with a building similar to this relatively new station in Elmhurst under a $7 million commuter-station rehabilitation plan proposed by the Dept. of Transportation. Estimated at $200,000, the new building would be part of a $4.5 billion public works program proposed by Gov. Daniel Walker. All projects will be subject to legislative approval of the statewide program.

BARE FEET are the order of the day in several Des Plaines parochial schools this week as more than 1,000 elementary children have their foot health checked. Immanuel Lutheran School students Kelly Senne, above, and Kim Senno, below left, walk for screeners while another student has his foot examined by student doctor Tom Godfryd.

Driver found hiding after truck crash

A Schaumburg man, 42, tried to flee the scene of a one-car accident Tuesday near Golf and Wolf roads, police said, but was arrested after he was found hiding under the bridge at Weller Creek.

Police said witnesses saw a truck driven by John Haedike, 300 Higgins Rd., Schaumburg, strike a traffic light on the southwest corner of Golf and Wolf roads and continue through the intersection and strike a utility pole about 30 feet east of Wolf on the south side of Seegers Road.

Police said Haedike left the truck and fled south along Wolf Road to Weller Creek, where police arrested him.

Haedike was cited for driving under the influence of alcohol, damaging state property and leaving the scene of an accident. He is scheduled to appear March 20 in the Des Plaines branch of Circuit Court.

Township seeks to expedite food stamps

by STIRLING MORITA

Schaumburg Township officials are working with the Illinois Dept. of Public Aid to allow the township to process food-stamp applications in an effort to relieve the backlog of cases in the Northwest suburban area.

Vernon Laubenstein, township supervisor, said he was told by James L. Trainor, director of the state public aid department, that if the township could meet certain standards, Trainor would allow the township to conduct food-stamp interviews.

Virginia Johnson, Palatine Township caseworker, said she also would look into regaining authority for the township to conduct interviews.

THE STATE STRIPPED the two townships of food stamp certification powers Jan. 1 because of a guideline that food stamps could not be authorized by townships that do not receive state funds for general assistance.

If the townships were granted interviewing authority, waits for food stamps could be cut by as much as four weeks. Persons attempting to get interviews at the Northwest Opportunity Center in Rolling Meadows, where area residents must apply, have been told they would have to wait at least four weeks. Previously, when the township could authorize food stamps, applicants could be interviewed the same day by D. Edith Hovious, township caseworker.

Laubenstein said he did not know what criterion had to be met, but said some of it would involve the professional background of Mrs. Hovious. He said he was happy at learning the news from Trainor and said he believes the director was attempting to solve a serious situation. Township welfare coffers have been drained because persons waiting for interviews must go to the township for immediate financial help to purchase food.

However, if the interview permission were granted, the township would not have the authority to send the applications straight to Springfield, but would have to submit them through the County Dept. of Public Aid, Laubenstein said.

WHEN APPLICATIONS are submitted through county offices, the state would then have some control over the authorization process, he said. "It's just another route to get to the same objective."

But four-to six-week waits for food stamps after certification have been experienced by applicants.

Laubenstein added that Trainor offered an alternative of having food-stamp workers circulate to township offices, but Laubenstein said he preferred that the township do the interviewing for the convenience of township residents.

Two lock employees in freezer, take $500

Two robbers escaped with $500 Tuesday night from the Burger King restaurant, 1540 E. Northwest Hwy., Palatine, leaving four employees locked in a walk-in freezer.

Joel J. Fabrikant, restaurant manager, told police that two men wearing ski masks came into the restaurant at closing time. The robbers threatened the employees with a shotgun and a pistol, ordering them into the back room. The gunmen cut the telephone wires, locked the doors and shut off the lights before fleeing.

The employees were in the freezer for about a half hour before they were discovered.

Village board wrapup

Dial-a-ride service extended 6 months

The Elk Grove Village dial-a-ride bus service will continue for another six months. The village board Tuesday voted to approve an extension of its contract with the Davidsmeyer Bus Co. to provide the service.

The fare will remain 35 cents although the subsidy cost to the village will increase because of a 7.7 per cent over-all increase in the contract proposal offered by the company. The contract calls for the per mile cost to increase by 3 cents and the hourly driver's rate to increase by 35 cents.

The village subsidizes the dial-a-ride service for about 82 per cent of its cost.

THE BOARD ALSO voted to extend its contract 6 months with Davidsmeyer for the commuter bus service to the Chicago and North Western Ry. station in Arlington Heights.

Fare increases for users of this service were approved by the board as recommended by the transportation committee. Monthly subscription rates for the commuter service will increase from $20 to $25 while the per ride cost will increase from $1 to $1.50.

The fare increases are expected to offset the contract cost increases in per mile and hourly driver's rate which jumped by the same 3-cent and 35-cent figures.

Under the previous contract the village subsidized the commuter service by about 35 per cent of its costs. The increased cost coupled with the fare increase will mean the village subsidy for the service will be cut to about 17 per cent if ridership remains the same.

TRUSTEE THEODORE Stoddler voted against approving the 6-month contract extension and fare increase for the commuter service because he said he believes this service should pay for itself and not have to rely on village funds.

Streetlight contract let

The board approved a contract with Commonwealth Edison Co. calling for the installation of 18 streetlights in the industrial park at a cost of $23,513 and a monthly energy bill of $182.78. The installation cost will be reimbursed to the village by the developer of the industrial park.

DuPage vehicle tax opposed

The board approved a resolution opposing DuPage County's attempt to enact a vehicle tax. The county is seeking to impose the tax and increase its share of other taxes as well.

The resolution states the county action is an attempt to infringe on the rights and duties of other political bodies within the county and the village is opposed to it.

Student to aid village

The village will take part in Harper College's work study program by hiring a student to assist in doing data processing and keypunch work for the village. The program is run through a federal grant which makes it possible for students to work while in school with the village required to pay only 30 per cent of a normal salary or about $1 per hour.

438-acre annexation set

Approval was granted to annex 438 acres at Busso and Landmeier roads. The land is known as the Landmeier property, named for its former owner.

Post office work to start by summer?

U.S. Postal Service authorities hope to begin construction of a post office in Elk Grove Village this summer.

A central site for the post office has been chosen and postal administrators have had the property appraised, said Walter Dyer, public information officer of the central region of the Postal Service. The site is not being disclosed because of land negotiations.

Dyer said he expects negotiations with the owner of the property to get under way soon and be completed within the next few months. Construction would be started immediately after the deal is closed, he said, and probably take about a year to finish.

PLANNED AS a full-service office, the post office will be a one-story building with 13,125 square feet of floor space. The office will be under the administrative control of the Arlington Heights Post Office.

The Elk Grove Assn. of Industry and Commerce began calling for a new post office in 1973 because of what the association's executive vice president, Stanley Klyber, described as "a critical need for space."

Klyber said he believes the present post office in the Grove Shopping Center on Arlington Heights Road is too small for the ever-increasing mail load.

FIGURES SUPPLIED to him by the post office indicate the office in the shopping center processes about 250,000 pieces of mail daily, Klyber said.

"We're very pleased that construction of the new post office is going to get started soon," Klyber said. "After two years of working on it, you might say we'd be glad to turn the first shovel."

Dyer said there are no plans to retain the shopping center post office as a branch postal facility after the post office is completed. However, local postal employees will be transferred to the new office and it may be necessary to hire additional personnel.

Spring bike-safety course planned

An experimental bicycle-safety training course will be set up at Queen of the Rosary School in Elk Grove Village this spring as part of a program that later may be extended to other Elk Grove Township communities.

Elk Grove Parks Supt. Jack Claes is chairman of a committee of village and township representatives formed last month to develop a plan for bicycle-safety education.

The trial project in Elk Grove Village, scheduled to begin in late May, will be a combined program of safety instruction in the classroom and on the training course to be laid out in the school parking lot.

ALTHOUGH Claes said plans are not yet definite, some Queen of the Rosary students along with pupils from a nearby Dist. 59 elementary school probably will be involved in the program. It will most likely be aimed, he said, at students in kindergarten through fifth grade.

The classroom instruction will include lessons on traffic rules, riding bicycles safely and keeping a bicycle in good working order. Lessons will be supplemented by practice on the training course.

"We want to have a program that includes the whole cycle of bike safety," Claes said. "We've seen a lot of bike programs of different kinds and we'll probably use things from several of them."

Details for the pilot program are to be worked out at the next meeting of the committee, scheduled for March 25 at the Elk Grove Township Hall, 2400 S. Arlington Heights Rd.

Depending on the success of the pilot program, the intent is to create a more extensive bicycle-safety program for use by schools and other groups in all township communities. The township has set aside $10,000 in funds to underwrite the cost of the program.

Dist. 59 board but is considering running for the High School Dist. 214 board.

ONLY ONE CANDIDATE filed in High School Dist. 214, where two seats are up for election. Eugene Artemenko, 431 Millers Rd., Des Plaines, an incumbent, filed for reelection.

Two other possible candidates, Domiano, 7 Grange Pl., Elk Grove Village, and incumbent Arthur Aronson, 2818 N. Schoenbeck Rd., Arlington Heights, have nominating petitions out but did not file Wednesday.

Two incumbents have filed for the four vacant seats on the Schaumburg Township Dist. 54 Board of Education. They are Arlene Czajkowski, 727 Crest Ave., Roselle, and Dr. Edgar Feldman, 128 Emerson St., Schaumburg.

Mrs. Czajkowski was elected to the board in 1972 and Feldman, a general surgeon, was appointed to the board to fill a vacancy last October. Each filed for three-year terms. There are two other one-year terms open.

DIST. 54 BOARD Pres. Gordon Thoren has said he will probably not seek reelection this year. The candidacy of board member Edward Bedard, who was also appointed to the board last October, is still undecided.

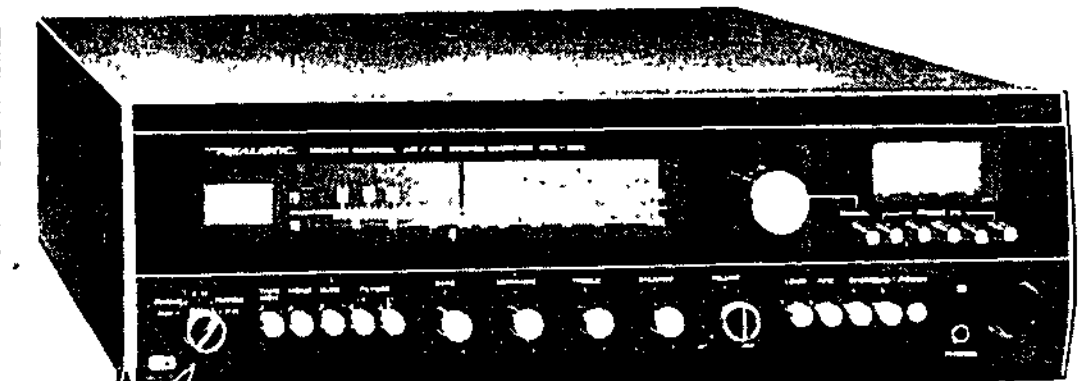

In High School Dist. 211, two incumbents filed for three seats open on the board. They are: Anna Countryman, 233 E. Norman Dr., Palatine, and William Stenstrom, 128 Maple Ct., Palatine. Both were elected to the board in 1972.

Another incumbent, Glenn Hargrave, did not file Wednesday but said he does plan to run for reelection. Filings close March 21.

Hospital will repay $32,800 from builders

Rush-Presbyterian-St. Luke's Medical Center will return to the Village of Schaumburg $32,800 in contributions from developers for its now-defunct branch hospital, a hospital spokesman said Wednesday.

"Whatever we have received from developers will be paid back to Schaumburg, not the developers, because that's the agreement," said Donald Yoder, medical center treasurer.

Village Administrator John Coste Wednesday said "no plans tentative or otherwise" have been made for money possibly reverting to the village from the medical center.

"We just learned yesterday (Tuesday) about cancellation of the hospital plans, but I'm sure the village board will make a decision as to how the money might be used in the near future," Coste said.

Yoder said the center will retain an additional $31,329 in corporate and "other non-developer" donations.

Cancellation of branch hospitals proposed in Schaumburg and Park Forest South was announced Tuesday by the medical center because of the current tight economy and skyrocketing costs of construction since the projects were announced nearly three years ago.

The collections represent a portion of the $4 million Schaumburg raised as its one-third community portion of construction costs for the 160-bed branch hospital, originally estimated at $12 million.

ACCORDING TO medical center personnel, the cost of hospital construction has risen to more than $25 million. Hospital officials also say they doubt the ability of either community to raise its proportionate share of the increased community cost. They have, however, said branch hospital consideration will be reopened if either community can give ironclad assurance it can pay one-third the construction cost.

Yoder said developer donations, solicited by the village as "voluntary" contributions in return for apartment zoning are in a restricted account reserved for construction. He emphasized that planning costs have not been withdrawn from the restricted accounts.

TWO YEARS AGO, Dunbar Builders was the first developer to agree to a $100-per-unit hospital fund contribution when zoning was granted for 1,716 condominium apartments near Plum Grove and Schaumburg roads. Contributions were to be made on occupancy of each unit.

The developers hospital donation was in lieu of a contribution to Schaumburg Township Dist. 54, and raised controversy between village officials, parents and school officials. Though all developers who have received apartment or townhouse zoning since then have pledged $100-per-unit contributions, only Mallard West, a complex at Roselle Road and Wenhersfield Way, and Lexington Green, a townhouse project on Meacham Road property formerly owned by Village Pres. Robert O. Atcher of Schaumburg and Chicago financier Jack

A LIFE-SIZED plastic horse helps Frost Junior High School teacher Bonnie Conner teach students about the tools of the trade used by cowboys in the 1800s. Miss Conner is teaching a unit on the early West showing students the difference between real and stereotyped cowboys.

'Western Sampler' debunks fantasy

Junior High pupils learning 'Wild West' pretty tame

Frost Junior High School students are learning the difference between the fantasy portrayed in television Westerns and the reality of the hard life faced by cowboys in the country's earlier days.

In the unit, "Western Sampler," fifth graders at Frost are finding that John Wayne is not your typical 1860s cowboy.

Instead, the cowboys who cared for the massive herds of cattle on the Western plains were rather small men who rarely had a chance to bathe and seldom wore a gun.

"I want them to take a look at what life was really like," said Bonnie Conner, who has taught the unit for the past five years. "They are usually amazed to find out that things weren't the way they thought they were."

This week Miss Conner borrowed a life-sized stuffed horse from Arlington Park Race Track, complete with saddle and bridle, to show the students the tools of the cowboy's trade. She explained each piece of equipment the cowboy used and how he took care of it.

In past years the youngsters in her class visited a horse farm in Dundee for a demonstration on shoeing and toured a modern horse ranch during the calving season.

"I think it's important that they know cowboys didn't carry a gun to shoot the bad guys," Miss Conner said, "and that the horn on the saddle isn't something you took to get someone out of your way."

Schlafly to debate Hayter on ERA

Phyllis Schlafly, national chairman of the Stop ERA Committee, will debate the proposed Equal Rights Amendment tonight with Village Pres. Virginia Hayter of Hoffman Estates.

ICC warns Bell to refund $15 million

Illinois Bell Telephone Co. was told Wednesday to show why it should not refund $15 million to customers. The company also was denied an automatic rate increase by the Illinois Commerce Commission.

The ICC said Illinois Bell has earned $15 million more than its 8.5 per cent allowed under a rate increase approved in December 1973.

Hugh A. Latimer, vice president and treasurer of Illinois Bell, said the company is "dismayed" at the order denying the automatic rate increase. "More puzzling is the commission's contention that our earnings are excessive," he added.

BELL OFFICIALS are to appear before the commission March 18 for a hearing in Chicago to determine why the "excessive revenues" should not be refunded to 3 million phone customers in Illinois.

Latimer said any ICC move requiring refunds is "incredible in the light of our skidding earnings, depressed demands for service and continuing inflation eating away at our financial health."

"Admittedly, for the first time in years, our 1974 earnings moved toward the level we need" to ensure quality service, he added, but, "one good year after a series of bleak ones does not spell prosperity."

Latimer said Bell faces a wage-and-benefit bill of more than $355 million during a three-year period, and that expenses rose at twice the rate of earnings last month when compared with January 1974.

ILLINOIS BELL does not need the automatic rate increase because it does not face the fuel tax and environmental safeguard expenses that are beyond the control of other utilities, the ICC said.

The commission also said telephone rates under current procedures are about what they would have been had Bell used its proposed automatic adjustments in recent years.

Circumstances of Wednesday's ICC ruling have prompted Bell to seek an immediate rate increase through the traditional route, Latimer said. "And we will ask for interim rate relief to tide us over until the formal case is concluded," he added.

The March 18 hearing also was scheduled because the ICC said the Illinois General Assembly intended the public be given an opportunity to be heard before a utility imposes a significant rate increase.

New Arlington, Schaumburg stations

Commuter-rail improvements proposed

by STEVE FOISYTH

New commuter-train stations in Arlington Heights and Schaumburg are part of a $6.8 million commuter rail station improvement and construction program proposed Wednesday by the Illinois Dept. of Transportation.

The Arlington Heights station would replace the present downtown building, but the Schaumburg station would be a completely new stop on the Milwaukee Road west line near a proposed extension of Springinguth Road.

A total of 114 stations in the Chicago area is slated for improvements as part of Walker's proposed accelerated building program, which is designed to create jobs. Walker has proposed selling $4.5 billion in bonds for highway, mass transit and public-service facilities to boost the state's economy.

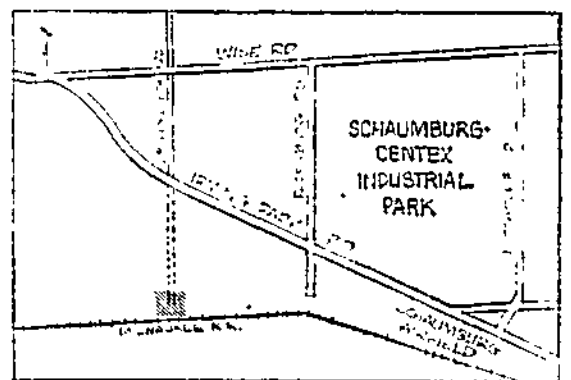

The projects would be funded completely with state money, which would eliminate long delays and federal red tape. Langhorne Bond, transportation secretary said Wednesday. "As soon as the legislature approves the program these projects can be under way in a matter of several weeks."

THE ARLINGTON HEIGHTS station would probably be a brick structure similar to stations built a few years ago in Elmhurst and Villa Park on the west line of Chicago and Northwestern Ry. If similar plans were used, the station would cost about $200,000, and could be completed by the summer of 1976. Bond said all the projects could be completed by that time.

The new building would have a larger waiting area, said H. A. Lenske, director of commuter services for North Western. He said it would also have more windows, tile floors and tile walls to deter vandals and reduce maintenance costs. The present building would have to be demolished before starting construction, leaving commuters with no station for a while.

The Milwaukee Road has no details on what its Schaumburg station would look like, Marc Green, director of information services, said. The Milwaukee Road would replace stations at Itasca, Hanover Park, Medinah and five other locations. Station improvements are planned for the Roselle stop.

Bond said money will be given to the railroads to build the stations and make improvements, and the railroads will con-

THE ARLINGTON HEIGHTS commuter train station could be replaced in 1976 with a building similar to this relatively new station in Elmhurst under a $7 million commuter-station rehabilitation plan proposed by the Dept. of Transportation. Estimated at $200,000, the new building would be part of a $4.5 billion public works program proposed by Gov. Daniel Walker. All projects will be subject to legislative approval of the statewide program.

Bids may be awarded late this year

Post office work to start early in '76

Construction for a post office planned for a 9.9-acre site northeast of Illinois Boulevard and Schaumburg Road probably will not start until early next year, a U.S. Postal Service spokesman said Wednesday. Carol Sipes, manager of analysis and design for the central region, said the postal service still must hire an architect for the 42,000-square-foot Schaumburg facility. He said construction bids probably could not be awarded until late this year.

Sipes said construction will take 9 to 12 months. Cost estimates are up to $1.8 million, he said. Previous estimates were $1.5 million.

Sipes said some time would have to be spent with village officials because "I'm sure the village wants to be in on the design of the building."

The village board Tuesday night sold the site to the postal service for $1. The 9.9 acres is part of a 19.3-acre parcel donated by a developer. The other portion of the property would be deeded to the Schaumburg Park District.

2 incumbents indicate they'll run for board as filing opens

Two incumbents took advantage of the first day of filing Wednesday to get their names on ballots for the Schaumburg Township Dist. 54 Board of Education.

Two other candidates filed for reelection to the High School Dist. 211 Board of Education.

Four seats are open on the Dist. 54 board in the April 12 school board election. Two are for three-year terms and two are for one-year terms.

Arlene Czajkowski, 727 Crest Ave., Roselle, and Dr. Edgar Feldman, 128 Emerson Dr., Schaumburg, filed for three-year terms. Mrs. Czajkowski was elected to the board in 1972 and Feldman, a general surgeon, was appointed to a vacancy in October.

Dist. 54 Board Pres. Gordon Thoren has said he probably will not seek reelection this year. The candidacy of Board member Edward Bedard, who also was appointed to the board last October, still is undecided.

IN DIST. 211, three 3-year terms are open. Incumbents Anna Countryman, 233 E. Norman Dr., Palatine, and William Stenstrom, 128 Maple Ct., Palatine, filed for reelection Wednesday. Both were elected to the board in 1972. Incumbent Glenn Hargrave has not filed but said he plans to run for reelection.

Three candidates have filed for two seats on the Palatine-Rolling Meadows Dist. 15 Board of Education. Incumbents Joel Meyer and Otto Ellering and newcomer Walter Kendall III filed for three-year terms.

Kendall, 205 Cedarwood Ct., Palatine Township, has four children, three attending Sandborn and Lincoln schools. He is an attorney for the Illinois Dept. of Public Aid.

Meyer, 2406 George St., Rolling Meadows, has served on the Dist. 15 board since he was elected in 1957 as a write-in candidate. He is assistant dean of the engineering school at Northwestern University's Technological Institute.

Ellering, 927 Marsha Dr., Palatine, is completing his ninth year on the Dist. 15 board. He is an engineer for Westinghouse Corp.

The last day for filing nominating petitions is March 21.

Unused eyeglasses sought by Lions Club

Schaumburg Lions Club is asking local residents to bring unused eyeglasses to one of six collection points during the week of March 2-8, proclaimed "Lions Recognition Week" by Gov. Dan Walker and Village Pres. Robert O. Atcher.

Donated eyeglasses will be sent to various foreign countries for distribution as part of Lions Club's sight conservation project.

They may be dropped off at Jewel Food Stores, Weathersfield Commons and 1321 Golf Rd., as well as Dominick's Fine Foods, 20 E. Golf, Better Vision Opticians, Woodfield Shopping Center, Town Square Pharmacy, 311 Town Square Shopping Center and My Optic Shop, 1738 Wise Rd.

After March 8, Better Vision Opticians, Woodfield, will serve a permanent collection point for eyeglasses being donated to the Schaumburg Lions Club's project.

Wayne Bielinski and Lee Willert serve as co-chairmen for the project. Information can be obtained by calling 529-7269.

Decoupage demonstration

The art of decoupage, making wall plaques from wood and paper cutouts, will be the subject of a free demonstration March 13 at the Schaumburg Township Public Library, 32 W. Library Ln., Schaumburg.

Starting at 11 a.m., Cathy Lenzini will show examples of projects that can be made at home.

New Wilke Road lets you get away from it all

by JOE SWICKARD

"Look down that lonesome road," could be the theme song of New Wilke Road between Algonquin and Golf roads in Rolling Meadows.

LITTLE-USED Wilke Road extension is circled. The $248,000 road is just part of a $1 million project to improve Wilke Road north to Kirchhoff Road.

The road, opened in November, is a four-lane oasis of solitude in the midst of the bumper-to-bumper traffic on the two roads that bound it to the north and south.

During the day, the road is almost without traffic. The rush-hour volumes increase, but do not approach the hundreds of cars and trucks that pack nearby roads at the same time.

Construction of the extension, delayed last summer by the cement truckdrivers' strike, is part of an over-all plan for widening Wilke Road as far north as Kirchhoff Road. The price of the southern extension was placed at $248,072. The price tag for the entire improvement project is marked at $1 million.

Why aren't people using the road?

REASONS GIVEN for its lack of traffic are the road's newness, its lack of identification and the undeveloped land flanking it. A County Highway Dept. official expressed surprise when told of the low volume of traffic and promised to "check it."

Mayer Roland Meyer of Rolling Meadows said the road is not being used because most of the motorists are unaware of it. He said the road was open for three weeks before people realized it.

Meyer said the road now is primarily used by employees of nearby Western Electric Co. and Chemplex Co. plants to avoid the heavier traffic on other routes. Besides the unfamiliarity, he also blamed lack of identification of the road for its low usage. He said people can drive right by it before they know it.

"Right now it's pretty hard to find on the east side of Golf Road," he said. The mayor said he has driven beyond it without meaning to, and then had to double back.

Meyer said he expected the situation to change when the land on both sides of the road is developed. He said hearings are now under way for projects including apartments, as well as commercial and retail operations.

The apartments and businesses will generate additional traffic, he said. He estimated that if there were no unforeseen roadblocks, ground could be broken in that area by summer and some of the operations open for business by fall.

MEYER ALSO SAID that once the northern improvements are completed, the entire Wilke Road system would be more widely known and more traveled.

Meyer said the road cuts the "running time" of the city fire department in answering alarms. He said the 90 seconds saved by using the road could save lives and property in an emergency. He said this was a major benefit of the road today.

Richard Kanak, head of the County Highway Dept., said the county would investigate the situation to learn why people are not using the road now. He said a traffic survey of the area would be made within a week.

Despite the low usage today, Meyer said the road was a good investment for the future. "It wasn't going to get any cheaper" if the work had been postponed, he said.

Township seeks to speed food-stamp requests

by STIRLING MORITA

Schaumburg Township officials are working with the Illinois Dept. of Public Aid to allow the township to process food-stamp applications in an effort to relieve the backlog of cases in the Northwest suburban area.

Vernon Laubenstein, township supervisor, said he was told by James L. Trainor, director of the state public aid department, that if the township could meet certain standards, Trainor would allow the township to conduct food-stamp interviews.

Virginia Johnson, Palatine Township caseworker, said she also would look into regaining authority for the township to conduct interviews.

THE STATE STRIPPED the two townships of food stamp certification powers Jan. 1 because of a guideline that food stamps could not be authorized by townships that do not receive state funds for general assistance.

If the townships were granted interviewing authority, waits for food stamps could be cut by as much as four weeks.

March 3 closing for south end of Spring Mill Dr.

Hazardous pavement has forced the closing of the south end of Spring Mill Drive.

Hoffman Estates village trustees voted this week to close the road as of March 3 for an indefinite period, probably until spring when repairs can be made.

Village Mgr. George Longmeyer requested the move to avoid possible serious accidents along the road. Longmeyer said patching has failed to hold along the new road and that reconstruction will likely be necessary.

The road is still under control of the Spring Mill townhouse development, so responsibility will rest with the developer, Longmeyer said.

He added the southern intersection of Spring Mill at Alcoa Street, Berkeley Lane and Bode Road are particularly bad, and the road will be blocked there. Access in and out of the street will still be open on the north end.

Signs posting the closure will be placed as soon as possible, officials said.

Persons attempting to get interviews at the Northwest Opportunity Center in Rolling Meadows, where area residents must apply, have been told they would have to wait at least four weeks. Previously, when the township could authorize food stamps, applicants could be interviewed the same day by D. Edith Hovious, township caseworker.

Laubenstein said he did not know what criterion had to be met, but said some of it would involve the professional background of Mrs. Hovious. He said he was happy at learning the news from Trainor and said he believes the director was attempting to solve a serious situation. Township welfare coffers have been drained because persons waiting for interviews must go to the township for immediate financial help to purchase food.

However, if the interview permission were granted, the township would not have the authority to send the applications straight to Springfield, but would have to submit them through the County Dept. of Public Aid, Laubenstein said.

WHEN APPLICATIONS are submitted through county offices, the state would then have some control over the authorization process, he said. "It's just another route to get to the same objective."

But four-to six-week waits for food stamps after certification have been experienced by applicants.

Women's cage team in Chicago tourney

The Schaumburg Shamrocks take to the basketball court at 4 p.m. Saturday in the first round of the state women's basketball tournament at Roberto Clemente High School, Chicago.

The Schaumburg Park District-sponsored team will play the winner of the Chicago Debs-Champaign Roadrunners game. The state finals, sponsored by the Central Amateur Athletic Union, will be held the following weekend.

The tournament winner will go to the regional tourney to be conducted March 14-16 in Cleveland, Ohio. The regional champion then will move into national competition.

The Shamrocks won the regional last year and went to the national tourney in New Mexico, but were ousted in the first round.

GOP aide Hoffman named to township board

Glenn Hoffman, the Republican Organization of Schaumburg Township campaign manager for the Hoffman Estates village election Wednesday night was appointed to the township board.

Hoffman, 154 Bradley Ln., Hoffman Estates, was chosen from a field of four candidates seeking appointment to fill an auditor's post left vacant by the resignation of Daniel Stowe.

Hoffman, a Maine Township North High school teacher, was one of two persons recommended by the ROOST organization.

All auditors on the board were elected on ROOST slates.

IN OTHER BUSINESS, Vernon Laubenstein, township supervisor, said the county will be returning about $15,000 in tax money to the township Saturday. The money had been withheld by the county to cover reimbursement in tax protest cases.

The town fund portion was $10,487, the road and bridge allotment $4,226 and general assistance $398.

Laubenstein also said the federal government would be using the township's 1973 population figure of 76,474 in calculating the new allotment of federal revenue-sharing funds. He has said he was hopeful this would mean more revenue-sharing funds to the township because of the enormous growth in the community. The federal government had been using the population figure of 50,000 determined in the 1970 census.

LARRY WALKER, director of youth services for the township, told the board the state would be requiring that agencies involved in drug education and programs would have to be licensed soon by the Illinois Dangerous Drugs Commission.

He said that although no standards have yet been set down by the agency which is under the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission, his office is formalizing policies and programs. He said the licensing requirement should go through in June.

Walker said federal money is coming into the state for drug abuse education and standards need to be set up. Several area agencies work in the drug counseling and education field, he said.

First 1975 blood drive nets 274 pints

Schaumburg's first community blood drive of 1975 netted 274 pints, said Mary Nagy, chairman of the village blood committee.

Mrs. Nagy said 190 pints of blood were collected Feb. 19 at St. Marcelline's Social Center with the remaining donations coming Feb. 20 at International Village apartment complex.

Though Mrs. Nagy said she was "extremely pleased" with the turnout, she said the community must produce a total of 1,200 pints of blood this year to remain in the Red Cross Blood Replacement Program.

Under the program, all residents' blood needs are insured provided a minimum of 4 per cent of the population donates blood annually. The program was adopted in Schaumburg in 1972.

The next community blood drive will be April 16 and 17 from 4 to 9 p.m. at St. Marcelline's Social Center, 820 S. Spring-insguth Rd.

Appointments may be made by contacting the village health department, 894-4500, or Mrs. Nagy, 529-1245.

Police form FOP chapter with city OK

by TONI GINETTI

The Rolling Meadows Police Dept. has formed a chapter of the Fraternal Order of Police to provide improved benefits for city policemen.

The chapter, Lodge 15, has recruited 14 of the city's 30 sworn policemen. Several other policemen have taken applications to join the organization, Sgt. Charles Poellien, president of the chapter, said Wednesday.

The FOP, a fraternal police order with more than 150,000 members in 44 states, is not a union but does act as a bargaining mediator for some departments.

Poellien said there are no plans to use the FOP to seek salary negotiations with the city this year.

CITY OFFICIALS have reacted favorably to the policemen's action, with both Police Chief Lewis R. Case and Mayor Roland J. Meyer saying they have no objections to formation of the local chapter.

"I have no objections," Case said. "I have always been a member and I'm still a member of Lodge 8 (in Oak Park where Case served on the force for 27 years)."

"It's just like an administrative aid," Case said. "It's not a union. It helps keep the officers apprised of what their brothers in law enforcement are doing."

MEYER SAID HE discussed the matter with Case earlier and sees no reason not to support the chapter. He added he received an application to join the organization as an associate member, although he has not yet acted on the application.

"I see no reason why they should not join," Meyer said. "I think it's a good thing for the patrolmen and I have no objection to it."

"It is not a union and they don't get involved in that kind of thing, as I understand it, except if they are asked to act as mediators," he said.

Both Meyer and Case said the FOP is in no way similar to the Combined Counties Police Assn. whose brief involvement in the city's police department created a heated controversy three years ago.

At that time charges that some members of the CCPA were intimidated by Case to quit the organization erupted into a major dispute between Meyer, Case, aldermen and some policemen. The controversy cooled when complaining officers chose not to formally air their grievances to the city council. The CCPA chapter in the city subsequently died.

POELLIE SAID THE department's FOP chapter officers plan to meet with Meyer soon to discuss the organization. "He told us he has an open door policy and will be glad to meet with us," he said.

Poellien, a 15-year veteran with the department, also stressed the FOP has no intentions of ever calling for strike action.

"There definitely will be no 'blue flu' or strikes or work slowdowns as long as

ICC warns Bell to refund $15 million

Illinois Bell Telephone Co. was told Wednesday to show why it should not refund $15 million to customers. The company also was denied an automatic rate increase by the Illinois Commerce Commission.

The ICC said Illinois Bell has earned $15 million more than its 8.5 per cent allowed under a rate increase approved in December 1973.

Hugh A. Latimer, vice president and treasurer of Illinois Bell, said the company is "dismayed" at the order denying the automatic rate increase. "More puzzling is the commission's contention that our earnings are excessive," he added.

BELL OFFICIALS are to appear before the commission March 18 for a hearing in Chicago to determine why the "excessive revenues" should not be refunded to 3 million phone customers in Illinois.

Latimer said any ICC move requiring refunds is "incredible in the light of our skidding earnings, depressed demands for service and continuing inflation eating away at our financial health."

"Admittedly, for the first time in years, our 1974 earnings moved toward the level we need" to ensure quality service, he added, but, "one good year after a series of bleak ones does not spell prosperity."

Latimer said Bell faces a wage-and-benefit bill of more than $35 million during a three-year period, and that expenses rose at twice the rate of earnings last month when compared with January 1974.

ILLINOIS BELL does not need the automatic rate increase because it does not face the fuel tax and environmental safeguard expenses that are beyond the control of other utilities, the ICC said.

The commission also said telephone rates under current procedures are about what they would have been had Bell used its proposed automatic adjustments in recent years.

Circumstances of Wednesday's ICC ruling have prompted Bell to seek an immediate rate increase through the traditional route, Latimer said. "And we will ask for interim rate relief to tide us over until the formal case is concluded," he added.

The March 18 hearing also was scheduled because the ICC said the Illinois General Assembly intended the public be given an opportunity to be heard before a utility imposes a significant rate increase.

New Arlington, Schaumburg stations

Commuter-rail improvements proposed

by STEVE FORSYTH

New commuter-train stations in Arlington Heights and Schaumburg are part of a $6.8 million commuter rail station improvement and construction program proposed Wednesday by the Illinois Dept. of Transportation.

The Arlington Heights station would replace the present downtown building, but the Schaumburg station would be a completely new stop on the Milwaukee Road west line near a proposed extension of Springinguth Road.

A total of 114 stations in the Chicago area is slated for improvements as part of Walker's accelerated building program, which is designed to create jobs. Walker has proposed selling $4.5 billion in bonds for highway, mass transit and public-service facilities to boost the state's economy.

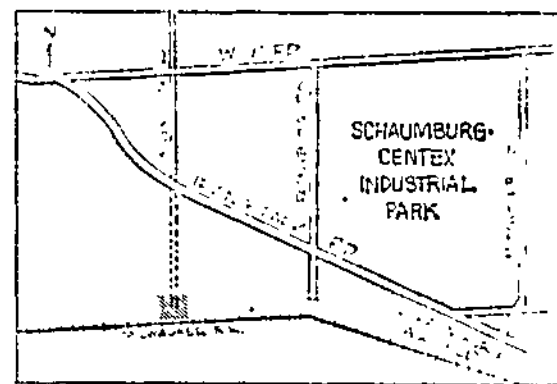

The projects would be funded completely with state money, which would eliminate long delays and federal red tape. Langhorne Bond, transportation secretary said Wednesday, "As soon as the legislature approves the program these projects can be under way in a matter of several weeks."

THE ARLINGTON HEIGHTS station would probably be a brick structure similar to stations built a few years ago in Elmhurst and Villa Park on the west line of Chicago and Northwestern Ry. If similar plans were used, the station would cost about $200,000, and could be completed by the summer of 1976. Bond said all the projects could be completed by that time.

The new building would have a larger waiting area, said H. A. Lenske, director of commuter services for North Western. He said it would also have more windows, tile floors and tile walls to deter vandals and reduce maintenance costs. The present building would have to be demolished before starting construction, leaving commuters with no station for a while.

The Milwaukee Road has no details on what its Schaumburg station would look like, Marc Green, director of information services, said. The Milwaukee Road would replace stations at Itasca, Hanover Park, Medinah and five other locations. Station improvements are planned for the Roselle stop.

Bond said money will be given to the railroads to build the stations and make improvements, and the railroads will contract for the work. North Western spokesmen said no architect's drawings have been made for the Arlington Heights station, but they said village officials would be consulted.

CONSTRUCTION OF the Schaumburg station with federal funds would have taken years, said Lois Geister, executive director of the Northwest Mass Transit District, which includes Schaumburg. The possible site at Springinguth Road could be part of a transportation center proposed by Schaumburg Mayor Robert Ateher.

Ateher hopes to combine air, highway, rail and bus transportation in the center.

Schaumburg officials believe the new station is necessary because of overcrowded parking facilities at the nearby Roselle station, which serves 1,800 to 2,000 passengers a day.

The program includes $3.1 million to replace stations on five railroads and $1.5 million to rehabilitate 55 stations. Plexiglas shelters are planned at 23 stations at a cost of $407,000, and $1.6 million is planned for resurfacing and extension of platforms. The platform improvement program includes the North Western's Cumberland station in Des Plaines.

Another $277,100 is earmarked for lighting and sign improvements at 49 stations, to make the stations safer for passengers in early morning and night hours, Bond said.

The improvement projects were selected from lists submitted by each railroad. The North Western is to receive $2 million of the total for its three lines.

THE ARLINGTON HEIGHTS commuter train station could be replaced in 1976 with a building similar to this relatively new station in Elmhurst under a $7 million commuter-station rehabilitation plan proposed by the Dept. of Transportation. Estimated at $200,000, the new building would be part of a $4.5 billion public works program proposed by Gov. Daniel Walker. All projects will be subject to legislative approval of the statewide program.

More signs of easing inflation...

Sugar, clothing prices going down

by United Press International

A major retailer Wednesday announced a sharp reduction in prices for men's clothing, and industry spokesmen predicted further rollbacks on all apparel.

In another sign of easing inflation, major refiners reduced wholesale sugar prices. It was the sixth cut in sugar prices in three months. Utah-Idaho Sugar Co. reduced its price for grocery sugar to 36.7 cents a pound.

An official for Amstar, the nation's largest sugar company, said raw sugar prices have been declining steadily for several weeks because of a significant drop in world demand. "The speed of the decline has stepped up in the last couple of days," he said.

J. C. Penney Co., the nation's second largest general merchandise chain behind Sears, rolled back retail prices on an extensive list of men's clothing by as much as 25 per cent.

Last month, Penney reduced prices on most of its home sewing fabrics.

Official of the National Association of Retail Merchants representing 30,000 retailers, confirmed that there is a clear trend toward lower clothing prices.

"Prices are easing," she said. "We have heard from the field that prices are coming down. It's in the air."

A spokesman for the American Textile Manufacturers Institute said wholesale textile prices have been dropping steadily since August but are just beginning to be reflected in retail clothing prices.

The drop in price was in part a result of the economic slump and slack consumer demand.

In other developments:

• President Ford said in Hollywood, Fla., the anti-recession tax cut he requested might not be enacted until June — and a newly revealed schism between House and Senate leaders seeking a unified Democratic program supported his prediction. Ford said in a news conference the tax cut he had hoped for by mid-March now looks unlikely before June, but he promised to "keep the pressure on."

Even as he spoke, Congressional energy experts split over the need for higher federal gasoline taxes, pressing positions that ranged from that of rejection of any increase to consideration of a hike pushing the tax as high as 5 cents a gallon by 1980.

The conflict threatened the success of efforts by a Democratic task force to draft an alternative to President Ford's national energy plan.

• The Ford administration informed Congress Wednesday next year's estimated deficit has grown by $1.8 billion in 23 days. Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey said the White House was still "moderately understating the deficit." Employment-boosting steps to combat recession pushed the new deficit estimate for the year beginning July 1 to $33.7 billion. On Feb. 3, when he submitted his budget to Congress, President Ford estimated the deficit at $31.9 billion.

• Chairman George H. Mahon of the House Appropriations Committee said he expected to slash the $604.7 billion defense budget by at least $5 billion because of the "climate" in the country. Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger retorted, "I would advise the committee to look at a comparison of the Soviet and American defense spending before cutting a predetermined amount."

A 391,000-POUND rolling salute to the nation's bicentennial headed west from Chicago Wednesday as Santa Fe Railway's specially painted locomotive towed the world's fastest freight train. The 3,600-horsepower locomotive is red, white and blue with the great seal of the United States adorning its starred and striped sides. The locomotive operates between Chicago and Los Angeles.

Rocky rebuked during filibuster action

Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller was bitterly rebuked by conservatives Wednesday when he sought to "speed up" action in the Senate's filibuster battle. Rockefeller apologized in an ugly confrontation, GOP conservatives for ordering a vote when Sen. James B. Allen, Ala., was shouting for recognition. The rebukes came as Senate reformers stepped up their drive to bring up for consideration their proposed change in the filibuster rule.

Sen. Frank Church said Wednesday the Senate's investigation of the U.S. intelligence community will get under way only after receiving results of the presidential inquiry into the CIA and all other pertinent documents. Moving with deliberate caution, Church announced after the Senate committee's third organizational meeting: "We want to gather all information available before we start work."

Heavily armed guerrillas kidnaped the honorary American consul from his home in Cordoba, Argentina Wednesday night, a private news agency reported. The kidnap victim was identified as John Patrick Egan, 65, a retired American diplomat serving as honorary consul following the kidnaping of U.S. Consul Alfredo Laun in Cordoba last year. Kidnapers left pamphlets identifying themselves as members of the Montoneros leftist Peronist guerrilla group.

Daley, 'the Boss,' looks to four more years

By United Press International

Richard J. Daley was encoined more firmly than ever before in City Hall Wednesday, ready for his sixth term as mayor. There was nobody in sight to give him a serious test in the April 1 mayoralty election.

With awesome clout, the 72-year-old mayor overpowered three Democratic challengers in Tuesday's primary, proving with 58 per cent of the vote that the majority of the party's voters subscribed to his campaign motto that he is "good for Chicago."

He took the day off from his City Hall office Wednesday.

Daley, who has run Chicago for 20 years, beat his closest rival, reformist alderman William S. Singer, 34, by nearly 2 to 1. It was a particularly sweet win for Daley because Singer led the band of challengers who ousted the mayor's Chicago delegation from the 1972 Democratic National Convention.

State Sen. Richard H. Newhouse Jr., 50, the first black to make a viable bid to become mayor of the nation's second city, and Edward V. Hanrahan, 53, a "law and order" candidate and former Cook County state's attorney, trailed far behind.

Daley loyalists surged to victory in council races, winning 35 of the 50 seats, and are sure to garner more in runoff elections. Besides retaining seats in traditional machine areas, Daley Democrats made strong inroads into independent territory.

They forced Singer's chosen successor into a runoff and came within a few percentage points of defeating liberal Alderman Dick Simpson. Only one independent, black Alderman William Cousins, scored a clear victory over Daley forces.

Mrs. Elsie Johnson, 67, a 50-year resident of Chicago, said "I got out of a sick bed and voted. I did because he (Daley) is the man for Chicago. He's done a lot of good for Chicago. There are a lot of bad things going on in Chicago but there is in all big cities."

U.S. planes jet food to Phnom Penh

SAIGON (UPI) — The United States began a Berlin-style food airlift to besieged Phnom Penh shortly after dawn Thursday, sending three jet plane loads of rice to the Cambodian capital.

$21.3 billion tax cut bill set for House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A $21.3 billion tax cut bill was cleared Wednesday for a House vote that will include a decision on wiping out a tax break for oil producers.

The House Rules Committee responded to a mandate from the House's Democratic caucus in sending the tax measure to the floor under a procedure permitting only certain amendments, including one to end the oil depletion allowance.

The tax measure was expected to come to the floor Thursday.

Besides the oil depletion elimination, other amendments include one to retain the allowance for producers of 3,000 barrels a day or less; two other technical amendments affecting such producers, and one retaining the depletion allowance for 10 years for producers who work the undeveloped North Slope of Alaska.

Within two or three days, when the airlift is fully underway, about 500 tons of rice per day will fly from Saigon to Phnom Penh. The city consumes about 540 tons a day. Phnom Penh, totally cut off from the outside by road and water for the past four weeks, is dependent on the U.S. airlift to survive.

In Cambodia, two Communist rockets hit Phnom Penh's Pochentong international airport even as supplies were being unloaded from a DC-8 "stretched" commercial cargo plane. Military sources said there was no damage and no one was hurt in the shelling.

Rebel troops overran a key government position on the Mekong river, tightening their grip on the Cambodian capital on the eve of the American-sponsored airlift, military sources said.

The sources said Communist troops overran the outpost at Pearn Reang Tuesday for the second time this year. It is located six miles south of Neak Luong, the last government port city on the river, 35 miles southeast of Phnom Penh.

Government navy and air force reinforcements were sent to relieve the beleaguered troops but were beaten back, the sources said. Communist troops sank one navy boat and hit several others. The fate of the defenders was not known.

In Washington, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he is "sick and tired" of seeing Cambodians "slaughtered" with American weapons and hopes Congress will not bow to pressure from President Ford for more military aid to that nation.

Mansfield told reporters that Tuesday's warnings from Ford and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger that Cambodia would fall within weeks without the additional $222 million in aid was "an old story, repeated many times."

Ford, meanwhile, said at a Hollywood, Fla., news conference that the Cambodian situation is "very critical."

Move to force ascending presidential vote opposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration strongly opposed Wednesday a proposed constitutional amendment that would prevent future presidents from ascending to the White House without being elected by the people, as did Gerald R. Ford.

The subcommittee is holding hearings on a proposal by Sen. John Pastore, D-R.I., to amend the Constitution to require that Congress call a special presidential election when any appointed vice president becomes president, as did Ford on the resignation of President Richard

M. Nixon. The constitutional amendments subcommittee also heard from historian Arthur Schlesinger Jr., who suggested abolishing the vice presidencies and filling any presidential vacancies by a special election. Cabinet officials, according to ranking, would serve as acting president in the interim.

He said that the amendment would provide an inadequate amount of time to hold a "normal" nominating and campaign process and "create a transition period in which the executive branch and the government are enfeebled."

Meyer said the road cuts the "running time" of the city fire department in answering alarms. He said the 90 seconds saved by using the road could save lives and property in an emergency. He said this was a major benefit of the road today.

Richard Kanak, head of the County Highway Dept., said the county would investigate the situation to learn why people are not using the road now. He said a traffic survey of the area would be made within a week.

Despite the low usage today, Meyer said the road was a good investment for the future. "It wasn't going to get any cheaper" if the work had been postponed, he said.

Township seeks to expedite food-stamp applications

by STIRLING MORITA

Schaumburg Township officials are working with the Illinois Dept. of Public Aid to allow the township to process food-stamp applications in an effort to relieve the backlog of cases in the Northwest suburban area.

Vernon Laubenstein, township supervisor, said he was told by James L. Trainor, director of the state public aid department, that if the township could meet certain standards, Trainor would allow the township to conduct food-stamp interviews.

Virginia Johnson, Palatine Township caseworker, said she also would look into regaining authority for the township to conduct interviews.

THE STATE STRIPPED the two townships of food stamp certification powers Jan. 1 because of a guideline that food stamps could not be authorized by townships that do not receive state funds for general assistance.

If the townships were granted interviewing authority, waits for food stamps could be cut by as much as four weeks. Persons attempting to get interviews at the Northwest Opportunity Center in Rolling Meadows, where area residents must apply, have been told they would have to wait at least four weeks. Previously, when the township could authorize food stamps, applicants could be interviewed the same day by D. Edith Hovious, township caseworker.

Laubenstein said he did not know what criterion had to be met, but said some of it would involve the professional background of Mrs. Hovious. He said he was happy at learning the news from Trainor and said he believes the director was attempting to solve a serious situation. Township welfare coffers have been drained because persons waiting for interviews must go to the township for immediate financial help to purchase food.

However, if the interview permission were granted, the township would not have the authority to send the applications straight to Springfield, but would have to submit them through the County Dept. of Public Aid, Laubenstein said.

WHEN APPLICATIONS are submitted through county offices, the state would then have some control over the authorization process, he said. "It's just another route to get to the same objective." But four-to-six-week waits for food stamps after certification have been experienced by applicants.

$25,000 approved to pay for senior citizens center

The Palatine Township Board of Auditors has approved a $25,000 budget this year for the Township Council on the Aged, and plans to supplement that with funds for a bus for senior citizens.

The $25,000 will pay for the operation of the Palatine Senior Citizens Center, 248 S. Brockway St., Palatine. The salaries of the center's director and assistant director are included in the appropriation.

Township officials said they will allocate additional funds later in the year to purchase a 12-passenger bus. The board also plans to issue funds for the maintenance of the bus and the hiring of a professional bus driver for one year.

HOWARD OLSON, township supervisor, said the council is getting estimates from area bus companies and car dealers on the cost of a bus, its upkeep and the cost of a driver.

The council currently offers the elderly 25-cent bus rides Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays for five hours each day. The council rents the bus from the Davidsmeyer Bus Co., Elk Grove Village.

The council has considered buying a bus to run full-time for the elderly because senior citizens have "no other way to get around the town," said Ray Hassenstab, a council member.

The Township Council on the Aged has received $24,000 from the township board since it was established in October 1973. The council initially received $14,000 and was allocated an additional $10,000 at the annual town meeting last April.

ICC to rehear plea for 16.6% water hike

by JOANN VAN WYE

The Illinois Commerce Commission agreed Wednesday to rehear a request from Ferndale Heights Utility Co. for a 16.6 per cent increase in water rates.

The rehearing was requested by Ferndale Heights officials after the ICC ruling on Jan. 16 denying the water-rate increase and approving the sewer increase with certain guidelines. Ferndale Heights officials contend the ICC made errors in calculations and the water-rate increase should be approved.

Ferndale Heights, which serves 2,000 customers in Palatine Township is proposing an increase in the minimum quarterly water bill from $16.20 to $18.85. It was granted an increase in the quarterly sewer bill from $12 to $14.

The rehearing will be scheduled within the next two weeks, an ICC spokesman said. The spokesman said a decision is usually rendered shortly after the rehearing because only new evidence or evidence not previously considered is entered.

THE LAST PREVIOUS rate request Ferndale Heights received was three years ago.

The pending utility rate increase has been one of the main considerations of residents of Heatherlea, English Valley and Pepper Tree Farms subdivisions in their annexation talks with Palatine officials.

The village officials contend the residents would save money on their utility bills if they annexed to the village which would offset any increase in taxes.

The average utility bill for residents of the three subdivisions is now $176.64 annually and would increase to $206.44 if the ICC approves the 16.5 per cent rate hike.

The village has an option to purchase the section of Ferndale Heights encompassing the three subdivisions pending the outcome of the annexation discussions. If the homeowners decide to annex to the village, the village would purchase the utility company and offer residents water and sewer service for less than they are currently paying and still pay off the bonds for the purchase, village officials say.

Homeowners in the three subdivisions are expected to meet next month to decide if they want to annex to the village. The homeowners can annex to the village by submitting petitions requesting annexation signed by more than 50 per cent of the residents of the subdivisions to the village board.

Village officials have said they would not initiate the annexation although they would like to see the three subdivisions in the village.

ICC warns Bell to refund $15 million

Illinois Bell Telephone Co. was told Wednesday to show why it should not refund $15 million to customers. The company also was denied an automatic rate increase by the Illinois Commerce Commission.

The ICC said Illinois Bell has earned $15 million more than its 8.5 per cent allowed under a rate increase approved in December 1973.

Hugh A. Latimer, vice president and treasurer of Illinois Bell, said the company is "dismayed" at the order denying the automatic rate increase. "More puzzling is the commission's contention that our earnings are excessive," he added.

BELL OFFICIALS are to appear before the commission March 18 for a hearing in Chicago to determine why the "excessive revenues" should not be refunded to 3 million phone customers in Illinois.

Latimer said any ICC move requiring refunds is "incredible in the light of our skidding earnings, depressed demands for service and continuing inflation eating away at our financial health."

"Admittedly, for the first time in years, our 1974 earnings moved toward the level we need" to ensure quality service, he added, but, "one good year after a series of bleak ones does not spell prosperity."

Latimer said Bell faces a wage-and-benefit bill of more than $355 million during a three-year period, and that expenses rose at twice the rate of earnings last month when compared with January 1974.

ILLINOIS BELL does not need the automatic rate increase because it does not face the fuel tax and environmental safeguard expenses that are beyond the control of other utilities, the ICC said.

The commission also said telephone rates under current procedures are about what they would have been had Bell used its proposed automatic adjustments in recent years.

Circumstances of Wednesday's ICC ruling have prompted Bell to seek an immediate rate increase through the traditional route, Latimer said. "And we will ask for interim rate relief to tide us over until the formal case is concluded," he added.

The March 18 hearing also was scheduled because the ICC said the Illinois General Assembly intended the public be given an opportunity to be heard before a utility imposes a significant rate increase.

New Arlington, Schaumburg stations

Commuter-rail improvements proposed

THE ARLINGTON HEIGHTS commuter train station could be replaced in 1976 with a building similar to this relatively new station in Elmhurst under a $7 million commuter-station rehabilitation plan proposed by the Dept. of Transportation. Estimated at $200,000, the new

by STEVE FORSYTH

New commuter-train stations in Arlington Heights and Schaumburg are part of a $6.8 million commuter rail station improvement and construction program proposed Wednesday by the Illinois Dept. of Transportation.

The Arlington Heights station would replace the present downtown building, but the Schaumburg station would be a completely new stop on the Milwaukee Road west line near a proposed extension of Springinguth Road.

A total of 114 stations in the Chicago area is slated for improvements as part of Walker's proposed accelerated building program, which is designed to create jobs. Walker has proposed selling $4.5 billion in bonds for highway, mass transit and public-service facilities to boost the state's economy.

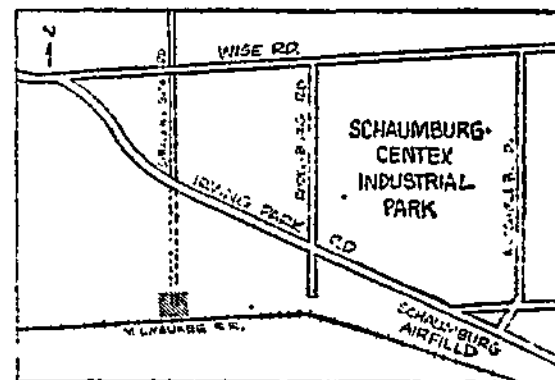

The projects would be funded completely with state money, which would eliminate long delays and federal red tape. Langhorne Bond, transportation secretary said Wednesday, "As soon as the legislature approves the program these projects can be under way in a matter of several weeks."

THE ARLINGTON HEIGHTS station would probably be a brick structure similar to stations built a few years ago in Elmhurst and Villa Park on the west line of Chicago and Northwestern Ry. If similar plans were used, the station would cost about $200,000, and could be completed by the summer of 1976. Bond said all the projects could be completed by that time.

The new building would have a larger waiting area, said H. A. Lenske, director of commuter services for North Western. He said it would also have more windows, tile floors and tile walls to deter vandals and reduce maintenance costs. The present building would have to be demolished before starting construction, leaving commuters with no station for a while.

The Milwaukee Road has no details on what its Schaumburg station would look like, Marc Green, director of information services, said. The Milwaukee Road would replace stations at Itasca, Hanover Park, Medinah and five other locations. Station improvements are planned for the Roselle stop.

Bond said money will be given to the railroads to build the stations and make improvements, and the railroads will contract for the work. North Western spokesmen said no architect's drawings have been made for the Arlington Heights station, but they said village officials would be consulted.

CONSTRUCTION OF the Schaumburg station with federal funds would have taken years, said Lois Geister, executive director of the Northwest Mass Transit District, which includes Schaumburg. The possible site at Springinguth Road could be part of a transportation center proposed by Schaumburg Mayor Robert Atcher.

Atcher hopes to combine air, highway, rail and bus transportation in the center.

Schaumburg officials believe the new station is necessary because of overcrowded parking facilities at the nearby Roselle station, which serves 1,800 to 2,000 passengers a day.

The program includes $3.1 million to replace stations on five railroads and $1.5 million to rehabilitate 55 stations. Plexiglas shelters are planned at 23 stations at a cost of $407,000, and $1.6 million is planned for resurfacing and extension of platforms. The platform improvement program includes the North Western's Cumberland station in Des Plaines.

Another $277,100 is earmarked for lighting and sign improvements at 49 stations, to make the stations safer for passengers in early morning and night hours, Bond said.

The improvement projects were selected from lists submitted to IDOT by each railroad. The North Western is to receive $2 million of the total for its three lines.

Township seeks to expedite food-stamp applications

by STIRLING MORITA

Schaumburg Township officials are working with the Illinois Dept. of Public Aid to allow the township to process food-stamp applications in an effort to relieve the backlog of cases in the Northwest suburban area.

Vernon Laubenstein, township supervisor, said he was told by James L. Trainor, director of the state public aid department, that if the township could meet certain standards, Trainor would allow the township to conduct food-stamp interviews.

Virginia Johnson, Palatine Township caseworker, said she also would look into regaining authority for the township to conduct interviews.

THE STATE STRIPPED the two townships of food stamp certification powers Jan. 1 because of a guideline that food stamps could not be authorized by townships that do not receive state funds for general assistance.

If the townships were granted interviewing authority, waits for food stamps could be cut by as much as four weeks. Persons attempting to get interviews at the Northwest Opportunity Center in Rolling Meadows, where area residents must apply, have been told they would have to wait at least four weeks. Previously, when the township could authorize food stamps, applicants could be interviewed the same day by D. Edith Hovious, township caseworker.

Laubenstein said he did not know what criterion had to be met, but said some of it would involve the professional background of Mrs. Hovious. He said he was happy at learning the news from Trainor and said he believes the director was attempting to solve a serious situation. Township welfare coffers have been drained because persons waiting for interviews must go to the township for immediate financial help to purchase food.

However, if the interview permission were granted, the township would not have the authority to send the applications straight to Springfield, but would have to submit them through the County Dept. of Public Aid, Laubenstein said.

WHEN APPLICATIONS are submitted through county offices, the state would then have some control over the authorization process, he said. "It's just another route to get to the same objective." But four-to six-week waits for food stamps after certification have been experienced by applicants.

Unemployment topic of Democratic Party

The "job crunch" will be the subject of a panel discussion at a meeting of the Democratic Party of Palatine Township at 8 p.m. today.

Included on the panel will be Stephen Adelman, an attorney; Virginia Johnson, Palatine Township public assistance worker; Bruce Newton, director of the Northwest Opportunity Center; and Christopher Nugent, administrator of the Illinois Bureau of Employment Security.

State Rep. Richard A. Mugallan, Palatine Township Democratic committeeman, said "the information made available at this discussion is not only for those who are unemployed but also for those people in the community such as homeowners' association presidents and church pastors who may be consulted as sources of information for those who have been laid off."

The public is invited to the meeting at the Palatine Township Hall, 37 N. Plum Grove Rd., Palatine.

Firemen get raise

Palatine's volunteer firemen will get more money for answering fire calls in the future.

The Palatine Village Board has approved a new pay schedule under which firemen will be paid $10 for the first hour they work and $6 for each additional hour. Firemen currently are paid a flat fee of $10 for each fire call.

Bugs bugging city; big kill planned

Des Plaines officials hope to leave at least one thing behind when they start moving into the new six-story city hall building next month — bugs.

Exterminators began working earlier this week to make sure the cockroaches which have plagued the temporary city offices at 1324 Miner St. for the past 19 months do not follow the city officials to their new headquarters.

Mayor Herbert Behrel said the offices have been sprayed to kill the roaches. He also indicated that all material to be moved will be thoroughly checked before being packed.

One city employee indicated Wednesday that the roaches have been a problem, and only half jokingly noted the bugs have carried away copies of the city code book during the night.

"We will be shaking everything before we move," said City Clerk Eleanor Rohrbach, who noted that some office employees have been shaking their skirts for some months to avoid taking any of the critters home with them.

She also noted the city purchased a 2½-pound aerosol bomb to be used to fumigate before the move takes place.

Filing opens for school board elections; 5 running

Three candidates took advantage of the first day of filing Wednesday to get their names on the April 12 ballot for the Palatine-Rolling Meadows Dist. 15 Board of Education.

Two other candidates filed for reelection to the High School Dist. 211 Board of Education.

Incumbents Joel Meyer and Otto Ellerling and newcomer Walter Kendall III, filed for a three-year term on the Dist. 15 board Wednesday, the first day for filing nominating petitions.

Kendall, 205 Cedarwood Ct., Palatine Township, has four children, three attending Sanborn and Lincoln schools. He is an attorney for the Illinois Dept. of Public Aid.

Meyer, 2406 George St., Rolling Meadows, has served on the Dist. 15 board since he was elected in 1957 as a write-in candidate. He is assistant dean of the engineering school at Northwestern University's Technological Institute.

Ellerling, 927 Marsha Dr., Palatine, is completing his ninth year on the Dist. 15 board. He is an engineer for Westinghouse Corp.

Two incumbents filed Wednesday for three 3-year terms on the Dist. 211 board.

Come in Car 54, you're at the wrong bank

Streets surrounding the new Mount Prospect State Bank building in downtown Mount Prospect were cordoned off Wednesday after police received word that a helicopter would be used to install an air-conditioning unit at the bank.

The air-conditioner, however, was installed at the new National Savings building on Ill. Rte. 83 north of Algonquin Road, 2 1/2 miles away.

Building Director Buell B. Dutton said village employees spent some time waiting for the helicopter before learning they were at the wrong bank. He said by the time correct information reached him, the air-conditioning unit was already installed at National Savings.

Dutton said the air-conditioning unit is a special kind that can be installed only with the use of a helicopter.

Caucus endorses 3 for school board

by JUDY JOBBITT

The Mount Prospect Dist. 57 Caucus endorsed three candidates Wednesday night for the April 12 school board election.

Delores Corr, William Donovan and David Grobe were endorsed for the two 3-year terms on the board.

Board members William Holloway and Michael Ward have announced they will not seek reelection.

Mrs. Corr, 216 N. Main St., said the school board must continue to look at declining enrollment in the district and establish long-range plans to prevent deficit spending.

"It is a continual problem the board is now aware of but one we must stay on top of," she said. "We must shape the future and the only way to do it is by looking ahead."

Mrs. Corr, a former elementary school teacher, is an editorial assistant at Borg Warner Corp. She has served on the St. Raymond Parish Council and on the school PTA. She has three children, with two currently attending Dist. 57 schools.

Donovan, 9 N. Owen St., served for 8

Four candidates have filed for two positions open in the Wheeling-Buffalo Grove Dist. 21 April school board election.

Incumbent Susan Rose was the first to file Wednesday, the first day of filing. Mrs. Rose, 174 Timber Hill Rd., Buffalo Grove, was appointed to the board in August. She also was endorsed by the Dist. 21 caucus.

Lillian Stiller, 603 S. Wayne Pl., Wheeling, is running for her fourth term on the board and was endorsed by the caucus.

ALLAN BLATTNER, 802 W. Burr Oak Dr., Arlington Heights, and James DeNoma, 544 White Pine Rd., Buffalo Grove also filed Wednesday. Blattner was the third candidate endorsed by the Dist. 21 caucus. DeNoma, who was not endorsed, is a guidance counselor at Rolling Meadows High School.

No one has filed nominating petitions for the two 3-year terms open on the Mount Prospect Dist. 57 school board. Board members William Holloway and Michael Ward have announced they will not seek reelection.

The Dist. 57 caucus met Wednesday night to endorse candidates. Filings are expected following caucus endorsements, said J. C. Busenhardt, business manager.

ICC warns Bell to refund $15 million

Illinois Bell Telephone Co. was told Wednesday to show why it should not refund $15 million to customers. The company also was denied an automatic rate increase by the Illinois Commerce Commission.

The ICC said Illinois Bell has earned $15 million more than its 8.5 per cent allowed under a rate increase approved in December 1973.

Hugh A. Latimer, vice president and treasurer of Illinois Bell, said the company is "dismayed" at the order denying the automatic rate increase. "More puzzling is the commission's contention that our earnings are excessive," he added.

BELL OFFICIALS are to appear before the commission March 18 for a hearing in Chicago to determine why the "excessive revenues" should not be refunded to 3 million phone customers in Illinois.

Latimer said any ICC move requiring refunds is "incredible in the light of our skidding earnings, depressed demands for service and continuing inflation eating away at our financial health."

"Admittedly, for the first time in years, our 1974 earnings moved toward the level we need" to ensure quality service, he added, but, "one good year after a series of bleak ones does not spell prosperity."

Latimer said Bell faces a wage-and-benefit bill of more than $355 million during a three-year period, and that expenses rose at twice the rate of earnings last month when compared with January 1974.

ILLINOIS BELL does not need the automatic rate increase because it does not face the fuel tax and environmental safeguard expenses that are beyond the control of other utilities, the ICC said.

The commission also said telephone rates under current procedures are about what they would have been had Bell used its proposed automatic adjustments in recent years.

Circumstances of Wednesday's ICC ruling have prompted Bell to seek an immediate rate increase through the traditional route, Latimer said. "And we will ask for interim rate relief to tide us over until the formal case is concluded," he added.

The March 18 hearing also was scheduled because the ICC said the Illinois General Assembly intended the public be given an opportunity to be heard before a utility imposes a significant rate increase.

Ticketholders barred from title game

by JOE SWICKARD

As many as 100 fans, many of them holding tickets, were turned away from Wednesday night's Mid Suburban League championship basketball game between Arlington and Prospect high schools.

The game, attended by an estimated 3,500 to 4,000 persons at Prospect High School, was oversold and fire department officials ordered the doors shut an hour before the varsity game began. The order was issued by Lt. Lester Woollett of the Mount Prospect Fire Dept.

Both adults with tickets purchased in advance and students with activity cards were refused admittance by school officials stationed at the doors.

A MOUNT PROSPECT policeman at the school said the game was not oversold, but rather that the "gym is over capacitated."

School officials could not be reached for an explanation. One walked away, refusing to comment further, after saying no one else was being allowed inside the building.

Students, unable to get inside, braved 20-degree weather and stiff winds to follow the action by peeking through the doors at the scoreboard. About 15 students kept the vigil and said as many as 100 persons had been turned back at the door.

The students, from Prospect, said they had activity cards which normally allow them to attend all regular season home athletic events.

MRS. JAMES SANDERS, of Arlington Heights, was one of those with a ticket who was unable to enter the gym.

"I cannot believe they would turn away somebody with a ticket . . . This is the biggest ripoff I've ever heard of," she said.

Mrs. Sanders said she wanted to watch her daughter, a senior at Prospect High School, perform at halftime with the Rhythmettes, a girls' precision dance group.

"How can they oversell the stadium? Why wasn't this handled with dignity?"

Spectators were not the only ones blocked at the doors. Some reporters, photographers and radio crews assigned to cover the game related trouble getting into the gym. One reporter had to follow the game by listening to it on his car radio in the parking lot.

Scouts for other high schools reportedly were among those refused entrance to the contest.

New Arlington, Schaumburg stations

Commuter-rail improvements proposed

by STEVE FOISYTH

New commuter-train stations in Arlington Heights and Schaumburg are part of a $6.8 million commuter rail station improvement and construction program proposed Wednesday by the Illinois Dept. of Transportation.

The Arlington Heights station would replace the present downtown building, but the Schaumburg station would be a completely new stop on The Milwaukee Road west line near a proposed extension of Springinguth Road.

A total of 114 stations in the Chicago area is slated for improvements as part of Walker's proposed accelerated building program, which is designed to create jobs. Walker has proposed selling $4.5 billion in bonds for highway, mass transit and public-service facilities to boost the state's economy.

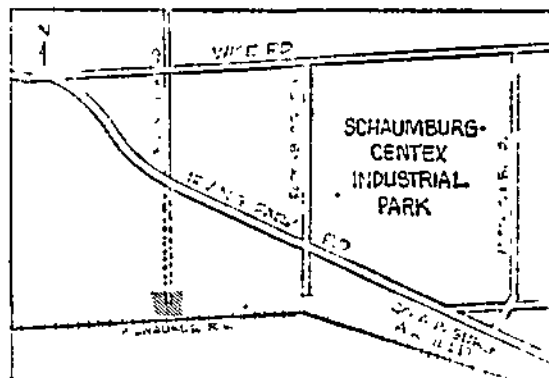

The projects would be funded completely with state money, which would eliminate long delays and federal red tape. Langhorne Bond, transportation secretary said Wednesday, "As soon as the legislature approves the program these projects can be under way in a matter of several weeks."

THE ARLINGTON HEIGHTS station would probably be a brick structure similar to stations built a few years ago in Elmhurst and Villa Park on the west line of Chicago and Northwestern Ry. If similar plans were used, the station would cost about $200,000, and could be completed by the summer of 1976. Bond said all the projects could be completed by that time.

The new building would have a larger waiting area, said H. A. Lense, director of commuter services for North Western. He said it would also have more windows, tile floors and tile walls to deter vandals and reduce maintenance costs. The present building would have to be demolished before starting construction, leaving commuters with no station for a while.

The Milwaukee Road has no details on what its Schaumburg station would look like, Marc Green, director of information services, said. The Milwaukee Road would replace stations at Itasca, Hanover Park, Medinah and five other locations. Station improvements are planned for the Roselle stop.

Bond said money will be given to the railroads to build the stations and make improvements, and the railroads will con-

Wells, 300 N. Elm St., Prospect Heights, was appointed last fall.

Four candidates endorsed by the River Trails Dist. 26 caucus filed for three positions open in the Dist. 26 election.

Incumbent Leora Rosen, 1805 Apache Ln., Mount Prospect, is seeking her second term on the board. She is a former high school biology teacher and was a member of the Parkview Homeowners Assn.

NEWCOMERS Richard C. Foster, Ed Pugliese and Peggy Golden also filed.

Pugliese, 1832 Sitka Ln., Mount Prospect is a driver's education and physical education teacher at Niles East High School. Foster, 936 N. Wheeling Rd., Mount Prospect, is a staff coordinator for Bankers Life and Casualty Co. and served as a classroom volunteer at Euclid School. Mrs. Golden, 631 Maple Ct., Mount Prospect, is president of the Bond School PTA and has served on the Dist. 26 caucus.

Incumbent Lloyd Demel was endorsed by the caucus but did not file Wednesday.

spending and agreed with the board's decision to close Gregory School next year. Donovan said he would try to avoid deficit spending by "closing down areas that would least affect the students."

When asked if he would bend district guidelines to meet current enrollment and financial problems, he said "If it is a matter of serious problems, guidelines are to be bent. The board should do what is best for the children's education within the capability of the taxpayer to pay for it."

Grobe, 605 W. Henry St., is an industrial arts teacher at Maine West High School. He has a son at Lincoln Junior High School and a daughter at Fairview School.

HE ALSO HAS served on the Maine Township Teachers Assn. negotiation team but dropped from the teachers' association when it affiliated with the National Education Assn.

"A community's reputation is based on the quality of the education system," he said. "People are attracted to a community for its education system and leave for the same reason. I believe the total education offered children in this district is an excellent one."

He said he believes teachers should be involved in administrative decisions but have no right to strike.

Grobe said "because of the current crisis in the district, it is perfectly right to change guidelines as long as they remain reasonable" concerning possibility of increasing the number of students per classroom. He also said the board must work within a budget according to priorities to avoid deficit spending.

are also two 3-year terms open on the board.

Incumbent Eugene Artemenko, 431 Millers Rd., Des Plaines, filed for one of two High School Dist. 214 seats up for election. Artemenko was appointed to the board in 1971 and was elected to a three-year term in 1972.

Two other possible candidates took out nominating petitions but did not file. They are incumbent Arthur Aronson, 2818 N. Schoenbeck Rd., Arlington Heights, and Albert Domanico, 7 Grange Pl., Elk Grove Village.

Officials to seek third alternative for S-curve

Mount Prospect officials plan to develop a third alternative for improving the S-curve on S. Elmhurst Road based on objections raised by a dozen residents at a public hearing on the project.

"We are going to review the information and input we got last (Tuesday) night through the firm we have retained to do the study," said Trustee Kenneth V. Scholten, member of the fire and police commission.

Scholten Wednesday said the village will then have to promote that alternative to the state in order to get governmental funding for the project.

"THE OVERRIDING complaint was the width of the street," Scholten said, noting under the two proposed alternatives the roadway would be widened by nine feet. This would allow four full 12-foot-wide lanes to be constructed through the area, but would result in the loss of 23 to 30 trees along the parkway.

The plans were drawn up as a result of requests two years ago by some area residents that something be done to provide school-aged children with a safe road crossing in the S-curve area. The engineering firm of M & E/Alstot, March and Guillou prepared the two alternative plans.

Scholten said that a second hearing on the road improvements will be scheduled as soon as another plan is developed. "It will depend upon how fast Alstot, March and Guillou can come up with another plan," he said.

UNDER THE FIRST two alternatives, the village would not have to purchase any additional land. Trees removed for the road widening would be replaced along the relocated parkway, and the slope of the roadway would be simplified to reduce the number of accidents.

Scholten said he did not know if the state would approve a plan for a substantially narrower roadway. "It depends upon how much narrower," he said. "We have to think about safety not only for the motorists but for the pedestrians and the people who live there."

The first alternative called for a traffic light and crossing at Elmhurst Avenue and Lincoln Street and a second traffic light at Lincoln and Main streets.

The second alternative calls for only one light at Sha-Bonee Trail and Elmhurst Road with a flashing pedestrian light at Lincoln and Pine streets.

$2,000 in jewelry reported taken in theft

Burglars took $175 cash and $2,000 worth of jewelry Wednesday night from the Edmund Kurdzief residence, 1405 S. Fern Dr., Mount Prospect police said.

The burglar apparently used a wrench or similar instrument to force open a rear upstairs door, police said. The burglary was reported just before 10:30 p.m.

Closed session on possible Rob Roy deal

River Trails Park District officials tonight will meet with representatives of Kenroy Inc. to discuss possible purchase of part of the Rob Roy Golf Course by the park district if Kenroy develops the property under county zoning.

Park Director Marvin Weiss said he expects most of the discussion to be conducted in closed-door session.

Kenroy officials are interested in an agreement similar to one worked out when they applied for zoning and annexation to Mount Prospect. Under that agreement, the park district was to purchase half the property if it could pass a $1.2 million general-obligation bond referendum and market an additional $1 million in revenue bonds.

Mount Prospect, however, rejected the annexation and zoning petition. Roy Gottlieb, chairman of the Kenroy board, said if the park district is not interested in a similar agreement for county zoning, his firm will seek zoning to develop the entire 200-acre parcel with 4,500 units. If the park district approves the agreement, Gottlieb said his firm probably will seek zoning for only 2,350 units.

The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. at the River Trails Park District offices, 1313 N. Burning Bush Ln.

HIGH SCHOOL DIST. 214 students can draw their designs for the Mount Prospect water tower in red, white and blue and submit this form to their art teachers for the art league's Bicentennial design contest. Deadline is April 19. Entries should include the artist's name, age, address, school and phone number.

Mount Prospect will soon be flying the official Bicentennial flag in front of the village hall.

Village Mgr. Robert J. Eppley said he recently got word that Mount Prospect has been approved as a Bicentennial community. This means the village will get a special flag and residents will be has been approved as a Bicentennial plus.

The village also is gearing up for the Bicentennial celebration with the start of four design contests. The contests offer cash prizes and are being sponsored by the Mount Prospect Art League in cooperation with the village's Bicentennial Commission. Entry blanks are available at the village hall, 112 E. Northwest Hwy., and at local banks, the library and at savings and loan associations.

STUDENTS IN High School Dist. 214 are eligible to enter the "Design Our Water Tower Contest." A drawing of the water tower is on the official entry blank, and students entering the contest must color the drawing with a simple red, white and blue design. Entries should be returned to the students' art teachers.

Residents 18 and older can enter the vehicle sticker design contest or the logo design contest. The designs must use the national Bicentennial logo, which appears on the entry form.

A fourth contest, also open to residents 18 and older, is for the design of an official coin.

In all but the water tower design contest, entries must be 8 1/2 by 11 inches and mounted on an 18-by-24-inch poster board. All entries must be identified with the artist's name, address, telephone number and an entry blank.

The first prize in each contest is $125, with the second place winner getting $50 and an honorable mention prize of $25. The deadline for entering is April 19, and prizes will be presented June 3.

OTHER PLANNED Bicentennial activities include an old-fashioned family Fourth of July picnic and an all-faith outdoor service July 4, 1976; an ecumenical choir; historical biographies compiled by the public library; an avenue of flags for the parade route of the Fourth of July Parade; a new time capsule by the historical society; new village plantings by various groups; and plaques for village landmarks by the historical society.

The village Bicentennial Commission meets from 10 a.m. to noon the first Saturday of each month at the village hall.

From the library

Ella Kazan's novel "The Understudy" and Rex Harrison's autobiography "Rex" head the list of 170 new books added to the collection at the Mount Prospect Public Library, 14 E. Busse Ave.

Biography titles added include "Elizabeth I" by Paul Johnson, "Patrick Henry" by Richard Beeman, "Aldous Huxley" by Sybil Bedford, "Minding the Store" by Stanley Marcus and "Jacqueline" by Ron Galella.

Jewelry, art auction

The Mount Prospect Rotary Club will sponsor an American Indian Jewelry and art auction Sunday at Old Orchard Country Club, near Rand Road and Euclid Avenue, Mount Prospect.

Preview begins at noon and the auction will be at 2 p.m.

Admission is $1. There will be coffee, cookies and cash bar.

Bugs bugging city; big kill planned

Des Plaines officials hope to leave at least one thing behind when they start moving into the new six-story city hall building next month — bugs.

Exterminators began working earlier this week to make sure the cockroaches which have plagued the temporary city offices at 1524 Miner St. for the past 19 months do not follow the city officials to their new headquarters.

Mayor Herbert Behrel said the offices have been sprayed to kill the roaches. He also indicated that all material to be moved will be thoroughly checked before being packed.

One city employee indicated Wednesday that the roaches have been a problem, and only half jokingly noted the bugs have carried away copies of the city code book during the night.

"We will be shaking everything before we move," said City Clerk Eleanor Rohrbach, who noted that some office employees have been shaking their skirts for some months to avoid taking any of the critters home with them.

She also noted the city purchased a 2 1/2-pound aerosol bomb to be used to fumigate before the move takes place.

Home security systems could clog cop phones

Mount Prospect officials are looking for ways to regulate home-security alarm systems, which are a burden on the police-emergency telephone lines.

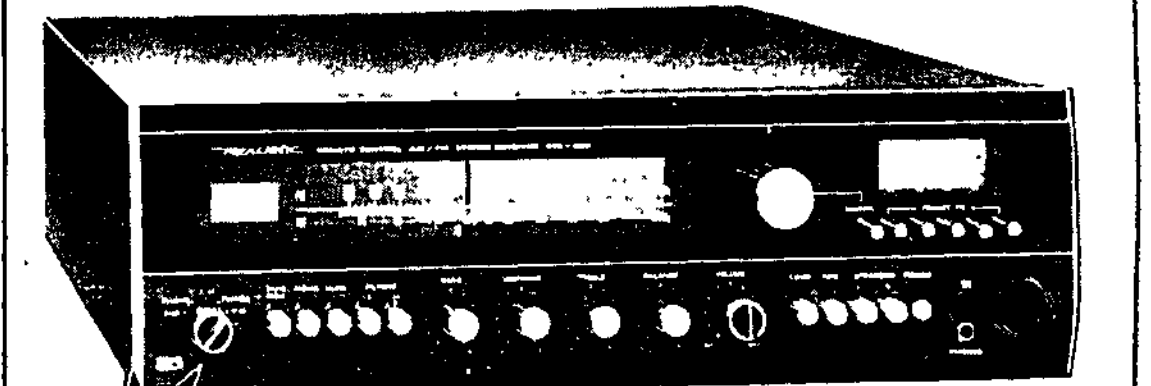

The village board sent the matter to the fire and police committee after Police Chief Ralph J. Doney requested some type of village regulation of the alarm systems.

Doney said he feared the residential burglar-alarm systems will clog the four open police-emergency telephone lines as more and more homeowners have them installed. He said several dozen systems are being used in the area.

The systems operate by sending a recorded message on the police department emergency telephone line as soon as the alarm is tripped. Doney said that the alarms are often tripped accidentally, noting that an alarm at one home has gone off 10 times in the past two months.

The matter will be taken up by the fire and police committee meeting next month.

Park referendum: we support two of three parts

Voters in Arlington Heights Saturday will be asked to go to the polls and approve a three-part park referendum giving the park district authority to raise property taxes for park programs, maintenance and construction.

It is a bold request by the park board in these extraordinary times that we must temper our support of the local parks and recommend to the voters that two of the three issues of the referendum be approved.

The state of community parks is indeed a gauge of a community's spirit and attractiveness, as the park's citizens' committee has said. We think there is ample reason to approve a corporate tax increase to bring park maintenance up to a reasonable standard and make such necessary improvements as repaving walkways.

Similarly, we endorse the measure on the ballot that would spend money for park programs. The park board has cut its programs to a very low level; we see no reason why that board should not be trusted with additional tax monies to restore some programs and continue others.

The third issue on the ballot, in part, authorizes the park district to erect a storage garage — and it is here that we must draw the line. We are reluctant to say the park district should not have adequate storage facilities to house its own equipment, but we think the parks themselves and programs for children and adults must come before a new garage.

In addition, the village is planning a $1 million public works garage and it seems an ideal opportunity for the two taxing bodies to broaden intergovernmental cooperation. We think the village and the park administration should look deeper for ways to cooperate. A maintenance facility that may not be ideal for either the parks or the village is preferable to continued government spending.

We are not convinced cooperation is the best solution.

Challenges caucus candidates Independent to run in schools election

An independent will challenge caucus-backed candidates in the Arlington Heights Dist. 23 school board election April 12.

Barbara Vincenzo, 2014 E. Fremont St., filed nominating petitions Wednesday, the first day of filing, along with four candidates backed by the Dist. 25 caucus. There are four open seats on the Dist. 25 board.

Mrs. Vincenzo, who has been active in civic and school affairs for many years, received strong support when she appeared before the caucus, but did not win its backing in the final vote.

The four caucus-endorsed candidates also filed nominating petitions. They are: Bruce Chelberg, 18 N. Wilshire; Nicholas Raino, 436 S. Lincoln Ln.; Richard Soby, 1014 E. Jules St.; and Donald Gibbins, 507 W. Cedar.

Soby and Raino are incumbents and were backed by the caucus for two- and three-year terms, respectively. Chelberg was named to the board in November to succeed Richard Schiott, who resigned. Chelberg won caucus backing for the other three-year term.

Gibbins, a newcomer who won caucus backing, will run against Mrs. Vincenzo. Both filed for the vacant one-year term. The other three candidates are running unopposed at this time. Candidates can file petitions until March 21.

MRS. VINCENZO is only the sixth candidate to run without caucus backing since the caucus was formed in 1954. All non-caucus candidates have lost.

She received strong support from the caucus before the group decided to endorse Gibbins for the one-year seat. Mrs.

Vincenzo also was unsuccessful in getting caucus support last year.

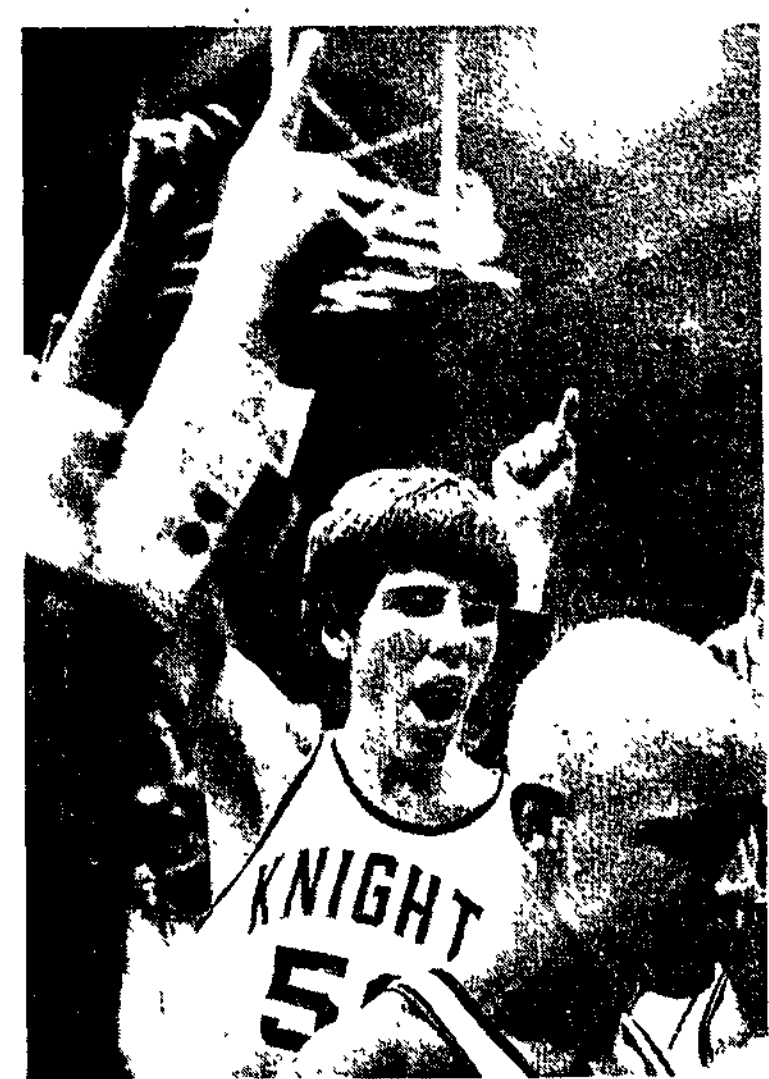

In High School Dist. 214, where two seats are up for election, Eugene Artemenko, 431 Millers Rd., Des Plaines, an incumbent, filed for reelection Wednesday.

Two other possible candidates have nominating petitions out, but did not file. They are incumbent Arthur Aronson, 2818 N. Schoenbeck Rd., Arlington Heights, and Albert Domanico, 7 Grange Pl., Elk Grove Village.

IN WHEELING-BUFFALO Grove Dist. 21, four candidates filed for two open seats. They are: Susan Rose, 174 Timber Hill, Buffalo Grove; Lillian Stiller, 605 S. Wayne Pl., Wheeling; James DeNoma, 544 White Pine Rd., Buffalo Grove; and Allan Blattner, 802 W. Burr Oak Dr., Arlington Heights. Mrs. Rose and Mrs. Stiller are caucus-endorsed incumbents. Newcomer Blattner received caucus backing while DeNoma did not.

In Prospect Heights Dist. 23, both incumbents filed. They are: Carl Poch, 504 Mayfair Rd., Arlington Heights; and Deanna Wells, 300 N. Elm St., Prospect Heights.

Board Pres. Gerald Smiley of Elk Grove Township Dist. 59 filed for the one-year term vacant on the board. Two vacant three-year terms also are to be filled.

Ticketholders barred from title cage game

As many as 100 fans, many of them holding tickets, were turned away from Wednesday night's Mid Suburban League championship basketball game between Arlington and Prospect high schools.

The game, attended by an estimated 3,500 to 4,000 persons at Prospect High School, was oversold and fire department officials ordered the doors shut an hour before the varsity game began. The order was issued by Lt. Lester Woollett of the Mount Prospect Fire Dept.

Both adults with tickets purchased in advance and students with activity cards were refused admittance by school officials stationed at the doors.

A MOUNT PROSPECT policeman at the school said the game was not oversold, but rather that the "gym is over capacitated."

School officials could not be reached for an explanation. One walked away, refusing to comment further, after saying no one else was being allowed inside the building.

Students, unable to get inside, braved 20-degree weather and stiff winds to follow the action by peeking through the doors at the scoreboard. About 15 students kept the vigil and said as many as 100 persons had been turned back at the door.

The students, from Prospect, said they had activity cards which normally allow them to attend all regular season home athletic events.

MRS. JAMES SANDERS, of Arlington Heights, was one of those with a ticket who was unable to enter the gym.

"I cannot believe they would turn away somebody with a ticket. This is the biggest ripoff I've ever heard of," she said.

New Arlington, Schaumburg stations Commuter-rail improvements proposed

THE ARLINGTON HEIGHTS commuter train station could be replaced in 1976 with a building similar to this relatively new station in Elmhurst under a $7 million commuter-station rehabilitation plan proposed by the Dept. of Transportation. Estimated at $200,000, the new

by STEVE FORSYTH

New commuter-train stations in Arlington Heights and Schaumburg are part of a $6.8 million commuter rail station improvement and construction program proposed Wednesday by the Illinois Dept. of Transportation.

The Arlington Heights station would replace the present downtown building, but the Schaumburg station would be a completely new stop on the Milwaukee Road west line near a proposed extension of Springinguth Road.

A total of 114 stations in the Chicago area is slated for improvements as part of Walker's proposed accelerated building program, which is designed to create jobs. Walker has proposed selling $4.5 billion in bonds for highway, mass transit and public-service facilities to boost the state's economy.

The projects would be funded completely with state money, which would eliminate long delays and federal red tape. Langhorne Bond, transportation secretary said Wednesday, "As soon as the legislature approves the program these projects can be under way in a matter of several weeks."

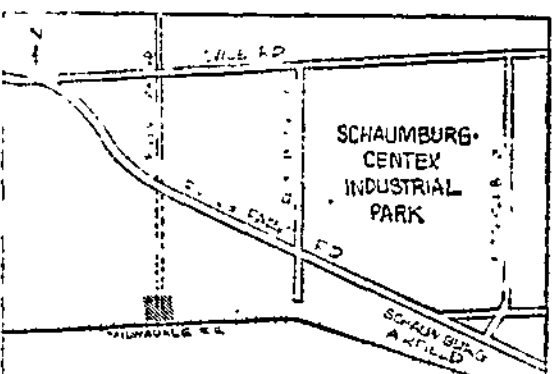

THE ARLINGTON HEIGHTS station would probably be a brick structure similar to stations built a few years ago in Elmhurst and Villa Park on the west line of Chicago and Northwestern Ry. If similar plans were used, the station would cost about $200,000, and could be completed by the summer of 1976. Bond said all the projects could be completed by that time.

The new building would have a larger waiting area, said H. A. Lense, director of commuter services for North Western. He said it would also have more windows, tile floors and tile walls to deter vandals and reduce maintenance costs. The present building would have to be demolished before starting construction, leaving commuters with no station for a while.

The Milwaukee Road has no details on what its Schaumburg station would look like, Marc Green, director of information services, said. The Milwaukee Road would replace stations at Itasca, Hanover Park, Medinah and five other locations. Station improvements are planned for the Roseville stop.

Bond said money will be given to the railroads to build the

THE PROPOSED SITE of a new commuter station on the Milwaukee Road west line in Schaumburg would require extension of Springinguth Road to the tracks.

Historical society wants to save station

The executive director of the Arlington Heights Historical Society said Wednesday the village should try to preserve the 83-year-old downtown railroad station.

"Speaking for myself, I sure would be for saving the station because of its historical significance," Virgil Horath said. "I don't know where the devil we'd put it, but I'd sure like to preserve it."

The present station was built in 1892, just after the newly organized Chicago and North Western Ry. took over the bankrupt Chicago, St. Paul and Fond du Lac R.R. Although the building was remodeled in 1954, it is much the same as it was in 1892.

Horath would like to see the station moved and restored, and displayed with a restored locomotive "to give the kids an idea of what a real train station was like."

The Wilmette Historical Society plans to spend $40,000 to restore a downtown station built in 1873. The building has been moved from its original site and is being refurbished at another downtown location.

Rate increase vetoed

ICC warns Bell: refund $15 million to customers

Illinois Bell Telephone Co. was told Wednesday to show why it should not refund $15 million to customers. The company also was denied an automatic rate increase by the Illinois Commerce Commission.

The ICC said Illinois Bell has earned $15 million more than its 8.5 per cent allowed under a rate increase approved in December 1973.

Hugh A. Latimer, vice president and treasurer of Illinois Bell, said the company is "dismayed" at the order denying the automatic rate increase. "More puzzling is the commission's contention that our earnings are excessive," he added.

BELL OFFICIALS are to appear before the commission March 18 for a hearing in Chicago to determine why the "excessive revenues" should not be refunded to 3 million phone customers in Illinois.

"Admittedly, for the first time in years, our 1974 earnings moved toward the level we need" to ensure quality service, he added, but, "one good year after a series of bleak ones does not spell prosperity."

Latimer said Bell faces a wage-and-benefit bill of more than $355 million during a three-year period, and that expenses rose at twice the rate of earnings last month when compared with January 1974.

ILLINOIS-BELL does not need the automatic rate increase because it does not face the fuel tax and environmental safeguard expenses that are beyond the control of other utilities, the ICC said.

The commission also said telephone rates under current procedures are about what they would have been had Bell used its proposed automatic adjustments in recent years.

Circumstances of Wednesday's ICC ruling have prompted Bell to seek an immediate rate increase through the traditional route, Latimer said. "And we will ask for interim rate relief to tide us over until the formal case is concluded," he added.

The March 18 hearing also was scheduled because the ICC said the Illinois General Assembly intended the public be given an opportunity to be heard before a utility imposes a significant rate increase.

Obituaries

Ethel M. Nolan

Miss Ethel M. Nolan, 53, of Arlington Heights, formerly of Chicago, died Wednesday morning in Westlake Community Hospital, Melrose Park. Born in Chicago, April 22, 1921, she was employed as a supervisor for Illinois Bell Telephone Co., with many years of service.

Visitation is today from 6 to 10 p.m. in Kolbus Funeral Home, 6837 W. Higgins Ave., Chicago, and Friday from 2 to 10 p.m.

A funeral Mass of the Resurrection will be offered at 10 a.m. Saturday in St. Edna Catholic Church, 2323 N. Arlington Heights Rd., Arlington Heights. Burial will be in Queen of Heaven Cemetery, Hillside.

She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Madeline (the late James) Nolan of Arlington Heights; a sister, Mrs. Rita (Stewart) Johnson of Arlington Heights, and three nieces.
